Note: <888> 09/30/12 Sunday 2:40 A.M. I ordered MENs L.L. BEAN field Jacket BARN Coat flannel lined XXL | eBay for $59.99 and $15 shipping for $74.99 total. CIO

Note: <888> 09/30/12 Sunday 2:00 A.M. I have one of these Upland Field Coat with Gore-Tex: Hunting Jackets | Free Shipping at L.L.Bean that I bought for $89 as a clearance item about six years ago in XXL tall. At $249, they have gone up in price. I use to walk around New York City in the old days with a jacket like this vtg 50s high quality DUCK CANVAS HUNTING FIELD JACKET talon pocket zip L | eBay , but it is not available in my size right now. CIO

Note: <888> 09/30/12 Sunday 1:00 A.M. I noticed today in the seafood counter at the Stop and Shop that they were selling 8 ounce containers of lobster salad for $30. Considering up in Maine, they are selling whole live lobsters for $4 a pound, there is a big mark up on lobsters between Maine and Greenwich, Connecticut. Also while I was at T.J.Maxx - Designer & Brand Name Clothing, Accessories and Home Decor at the Maine Mall this past Tuesday, they had Preppy Men's Clothing, Women's Clothing and Men's Silk Ties - Vineyard Vines red rain jackets regularly $300 for $100. They even had one in XXL, but with arthritis, I do not walk much in the rain. There is nice T.J. Maxx up on Route 7 in Wilton, Connecticut just north of the Wal-Mart shopping center. There is a Marshalls - brand name and designer fashion for the entire family near www.costco.com in Port Chester, New York, and another one at the Ridgeway shopping center in Stamford, Connecticut. I never visit White Plains, New York which is nearby, since although they have a lot of the First Class stores in the country at their first class malls, there is way too much traffic there for me to feel comfortable to drive over there. Besides, I would not be able to afford to buy anything anyway. CIO

Note: <888> 09/30/12 Sunday 12:35 A.M. I got email today from a user who is some place where it will be a 103 degrees Fahrenheit this Monday, but the user did not tell me where he was at. While walking lower Greenwich Avenue today, I noticed that on lower Greenwich Avenue on the west side, one of the long time businesses, "The Pizza Post" has closed. Also just to the south of them in the new building just north of the Belgium bakery, there is a new Art Gallery with an exhibit this month on "Horses". Also I was told by a local observer that the new coffee shop across from CVS called "CFCF" is paying $20,000 a month rent, so they have to sell a lot of coffee and pastries and sandwiches to pay the rent. They apparently had some zoning problems about seating and the front door that they still have to fix from their original zoning application. They also have another coffee shop in New York City with another name. They have a professional coffee roasting machine on the premises, so it is freshly roasted coffee they serve. CIO

Note: <888> 09/29/12 Saturday 11:55 P.M. The Windows 8 ninety day demo on the IBM ThinkCentre only has 45 days left to go. However, although I have it up and running, nobody is rushing to see me demonstrate it, so I guess they are all still hooked Windows XP. Windows 8 does start up and work quite fast though, and it is suppose to available on October 29, 2012, and will also be offered as an upgrade for a $40 download from Microsoft through January 2013. However, my beta machines are inexpensive machines, and I will not be putting it on them, since I never use the beta machines except to test beta operating systems. However, the beta machines are a lot faster than my primary work computer and the FIC server that I do use a lot. CIO

Note: <888> 09/29/12 Saturday 9:50 P.M. I drank a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. On the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the mahogany bureau in the living room, when I installed the Windows 8 ninety day demo a month ago on a second partition, it brought up product activation on the primary Windows 7 partition on the primary partition with 30 days to go which expired recently. I restored the Windows 7 Complete PC backup to its existing location with out repartitioning the hard drive, so Windows 7 and Windows 8 are both on the IBM ThinkCentre, but the boot manager for Windows 8 was not. I used the Windows 7 DVD to repair the Windows 8 boot manager, but it would not work but was recognized. I tried using the Windows 8 ninety day demo DVD to repair the Windows 8 boot manager, but under "repair" and "advanced" there was no option to repair the boot manager. I then used the earlier Windows 8 Consumer Preview DVD, and under "repair" "advance" there is an option to repair the Windows 8 boot manager which worked. Thus I have both Windows 7 and Windows 8 ninety day demo on the IBM ThinkCentre with Windows 7 activated and Windows 8 with 60 days to go on the configured demo. CIO

I stopped by the Greenwich Cigar store, and I played a "Quick Cash" scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I chatted with a friend on my wireless telephone. I ran into another local walker, so we walked up Greenwich Avenue. We went to CVS. I bought a CVS 7 ounce extra moisturizing sensitive skin shave cream for $2.29 and a 50 yard Johnson and Johnson Cleanburst Dental Floss for $1.99 and .27 tax for $4.55 total. We then walked across the street. The new "CFCF" coffee shop is now opened, and today they are offering free gourmet coffee and pastries, but I did not have one, since I do not drink liquids when I am out walking. The other walker did. We sat out nearby in the little vest pocket park. We then walked down Greenwich Avenue. I said goodbye to the other walker. I then sat out for a while. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I then drove over to the Stop and Shop. I bought two 14.5 ounce Maria Callender beef pot pies for $2.50 each and two 14.5 ounce Maria Callender chicken pot pies for $2.50 each, a quart jar of Vlassic dill pickles for $2, two 48 ounce Quaker Old Fashioned oatmeals for $4.99 each, two 8.5 ounce Kettle salt and vinegar potato chips for $2.50 each, a Gold's horseradish 10 ounce for $1.50 and a two tablet 1.7 ounce each Automatic Bowl Fresh for $2.99 and .19 tax for $29.66 total. Note: <888> 09/28/12 Friday 11:50 P.M. Why it is not busy at www.starbucks.com downtown on Greenwich Avenue at night Greenwich Gas Prices – Find Greenwich, Connecticut Gas Stations and Cheap Gas in CT at Automobile Magazine . Of course there are some urban people and young people whom do not use cars downtown, so they are pretty much oblivious to the higher prices of gasoline. I remember the Arab oil embargo starting back in 1973, and it was quite convenient to get around, if one could find a gasoline with fuel to sell. Of course back then gasoline was less than 50 cents a gallon and $5 would fill up your fuel tank. New York did not start to recover the Arab oil embargo until the Bank of Tokyo-Mitsubishi UFJ opened up an office in 1978 on the northeast corner of 57th street and Park Avenue in Manhattan, and they were paying everyone in cash, so they would not have to pay taxes. Basically, one learned to keep busy as best one could doing odd jobs and not spending much money. Of course back then we did not have Cable Television, so we mostly watched the three prime television networks, so we did not really know too much compared today with all of the media we have. Of course back in Jolly Old England, they have always had fuel shortages, so the masses used more economical transportation and a lot of their cars were very fuel efficient. The British have never had any need of my services over in England, so I have never been there to add my two cents of wisdom and insight. I mostly know what I know about England from watching vintage British media, so I am not too up to date on the British if they ever became modern. I think the Pubs in England have to close at 11 P.M. at night, so they are not a late night group of people. They do have Casinos and Clubs that stay open later for the Carriage Trade. More than likely if any British ever show up here, they will probably want a beer, but I think they drink their beer at room temperature. From what I know it is also colder over there, but they are used to it. In Manhattan, it is no longer tobacco friendly. On my last trip in February over four years ago, I did noticed that across the street and just south of the Waldorf Astoria on Park Avenue, there were metal tables and chairs outside on a patio on the north side of the Welcome to Deutsche Bank USA on the southwest corner, so the Germans are tobacco friendly. Note: <888> 09/28/12 Friday 6:05 P.M. The McAfee update on the firewall security on the FIC server, now prevents me from transferring files from my primary work computer through the network to the FIC server. Note: <888> 09/28/12 Friday 3:35 P.M. I had two telephone calls from computer people this morning. I finally woke up at 2 P.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a 12 ounce glass of watered down punch, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed.

On the primary work computer setup with the Netgear storage device, this past morning I had tried fixing it by restoring the backup from January 19, 2012, but it would not work either, but it also would not install the Windows updates, so I restored the backup from

August 28, 2012 which the Netgear Storage device would not work with either. The Netgear Storage device worked with the primary work computer when I first got back home this past Wednesday evening. All I can think is that my McAfee firewall when it updates itself blocks the Netgear storage device with its recent updates. I have the Netgear storage device disabled right now on the primary work computer. I can try to reinstall it, but it should have worked when I restored the backups. Since it works with the other computers, I technically could transfer files from the primary work computer over my network to the FIC server and then store them on the Netgear Storage device which works with the FIC server. CIO

Note: <888> 09/28/12 Friday 7:35 A.M. The main problem I have been having with the primary work computer this morning and yesterday is that I can not get the Netgear Storage device to work with it, although it works with the other computers on the network. I will now shut down the primary work computer, and I will go to bed soon. CIO

Note: <888> 09/26/12 Wednesday 9:25 P.M. Yesterday after the last note, I packed and loaded the Audi. I then took a nap from 2:30 P.M. to 4 P.M.. I went for a drive with a relative along Kennebunk beach, and while sitting out at the west end of the east beach, we chatted with another relative. We then returned to my relatives' house. I ate cranberry and bacon and horseradish dip with crackers and watered down orange juice while watch television. We then drove over the Amtrak train station in Wells, Maine to pick up a relative. On Route 9 by the bridge just south of the Rachel Carson sanctuary, there is only one lane of traffic alternating with the red and green lights displayed due to construction at that location. Also on U.S.1 in Wells, Maine from the Maine Diner west to the Fire Station, it is still under construction for road resurfacing. We picked up my relative at 6:45 P.M.. We then drove back to Kennebunkport. I rinsed the dirt off my relatives' car from the construction dirt we drove through. For dinner, I had seven barbecued spare ribs, two ears of sweet corn on the cob with butter, steamed broccoli crowns with butter, the last piece of four berry pie, and a glass of watered down orange juice. I cleaned up the kitchen. I went to bed at 8:30 P.M., and I woke up at 6:30 A.M. this morning. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with Splenda sweetener and milk and a sliced banana, a English muffin with butter, coffee with milk and Splenda sweetener, watered down orange juice and vitamins and supplements. I showered, and I cleaned up. I stripped my bed, and I started the washer to wash the linens and bath towel and bath mat. I packed the rest of my items. I said good bye to the www.nytimes.com delivery person. I also made turkey and Swiss cheese sandwich on Pita bread with Hellmann's mayonnaise to take with me. I washed the garage ashtrays. I said good by to my relatives. I left the house at 8:05 A.M.. I drove through Kennebunkport and north on Route 9 to Kennebunk. I got on I-95 south in Kennebunk paying a dollar toll. I paid a $2 toll at the end of the Maine Turnpike and another $2 toll at the New Hampshire turnpike. I stopped at the Massachusetts welcome center. I got on I-495 west, and I stopped at the Lowell rest area. I got on I-290 west, and I got off at the second Massachusetts turnpike exit after Worcester. I stopped at the Charlton rest area, and I ate my sandwich. I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone. I bought $26.01 of self service premium Gulf gasoline at $4.259 a gallon for 6.106 gallons at odometer reading of 71242 miles for 148.3 miles driving since September 11, 2012 for 22.288 miles per gallon in mostly highway driving today. I then got off the Massachusetts turnpike at the Sturbridge exit, and I paid a 50 cent toll. I got on I-84 West, and I stopped the Connecticut Welcome center. I then got on I-91 south to I-15 Wilbur Cross Parkway west. I stopped at the North Haven rest area. I then stopped at the New Canaan rest area. I got off the Merritt Parkway at the North Street exit in Greenwich, and I drove into downtown Greenwich, and I went to the Chase Bank at 19 West Putnam Avenue for about a six hour trip total. I then went to the Putnam Shell at 401 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $19.01 of self service premium gasoline for $4.719 a gallon for 4.029 gallons for 130.9 miles driving since the previous fill up for 32.490 miles per gallon in mostly highway traffic. I then went by the Valley Road Post Office, and I picked up my mail. I also bought twenty 45 cent forever U.S.A. flag stamps for $9 total. I chatted with a neighbor. I then returned back to my apartment for 264 miles driving from my relatives' house in Maine. I unloaded the Audi. I started the apartments utilities. I chatted with a relative. I unpacked. I sorted through my mail. I had fruit flies in the kitchen from two old Vidalia onions and two bulbs of garlic that I left out. I threw them away, and I sprayed Glade air spray to get rid of the fruit flies. I was told by the building custodian they are installing insulation in the false ceilings in the apartments and along with new ceiling tiles. I will have to discuss it with the Greenwich Housing Authority due to my apartments configuration. Obviously I am not able to move too much stuff for them to do the job. My viewpoint is to leave well enough alone. I worry that insulation in the ceiling might actually make the apartment warmer in the summer, when I use more electricity for cooling than in the winter for heat. They will not be around to doing it until next week anyway. I chatted with two relatives and two friends. I threw out the garbage, and I chatted with a neighbor. I started the FIC server. I chatted with a relative. I ate a 14 ounce Boston Market sirloin tips dinner with eggs noodles and a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale. Earlier I drank to 12 ounce glass of Sprite. I do not drink fluids while I am traveling, so I get dehydrated. CIO

Note: <888> 09/25/12 Tuesday 12:40 P.M. I went out with relatives, and we went by Port Lobster for a relative to pick up a lobster roll. We then took Route 9 East to U.S.1 east to Biddeford, Maine, and we paid a dollar toll and we got on I-95 north to exit 46 for the Maine Jet Port. We dropped a relative off at the Maine Jet Port. We then drove over to Maine Mall Road, and we went to T.J. Maxx. My relative bought me two Ralph Lauren 2XL flannel plaid shirts on in red plaid and one in blue plaid for $25 each, a six pack of Docker crew socks for $10 and a Ralph Lauren green striped polo shirt in 2XL with other colors for $25. My relative also bought some other items. We then drove down to Scarborough, Maine, and we paid a dollar toll, and we got on I-95 south to Biddeford, Maine and we took U.S. 1 south and route 9 south into Kennebunkport, Maine. We stopped at Patten's berry farm, and we got two ears of sweet corn on the cob for 50 cents each. We then went by the Kennebunkport post office. We then returned to my relatives' house. The shirts fit just fine. CIO

Note: <888> 09/24/12 Monday 3:35 P.M. I went out with a relative, and we went by the Kennebunkport post office. We then drove along the Kennebunk beach as far west as Mother's beach, and then I sat out briefly on the west end of the east Kennebunk beach. The four story condominium there "The Naraganset" blocks the wind from the west and the westerly evening sun. I noticed they have removed the Port-O-Potties from Kennebunk beach, so at this time of year, the conveniences are no longer there, if you have to relieve oneself. I guess one could always go in the ocean. I also saw a recreational vehicle from Washington State. I guess they drove out to escape the forest fire smoke in Washington State. We then drove through the construction in downtown Kennebunkport and along the Kennebunkport beach waterfront. The beach breakwater in front of the Colony Hotel The Colony Hotel - Kennebunkport, Maine and Delray Beach, Florida is suppose to be good for fishing. I noticed Kennebunkport Maine Homes For Sale Real Estate Listings Kennebunk Beach Maine has sold the vacant lot across the street from Walker's Point. On the street behind the Cape Arundel Inn near Walker's Point, they also have a large new home for sale. We returned to my relatives' house. I will now take a nap. CIO

Note: <888> 09/24/12 Monday 1:50 P.M. Only 138 pages have been printed out on the HP LaserJet 1018 starter cartridge which is good for a thousand sheets, so it is good for the indefinite future in the bunk room of the family house in Kennebunkport, Maine. I emptied the three basement dehumidifiers.

I a ham, turkey, Swiss cheese, and sliced Campari tomatoes on pita bread with Hellmann's mayonnaise and Lay's salt and vinegar potato chips and a glass of watered down orange juice. CIO

Note: <888> 09/24/12 Monday 12:45 P.M. I vacuumed the carpets and rugs upstairs and downstairs. I used the electric leaf blower to clean out the garage floor and driveway. My relative did not need the Electrolux vacuum system I sent up a couple of months ago, so they gave it to another relative whom needed it. A relative just finished using my laptop computer. The HP LaserJet 1018 that I left up here a few years ago only has a started toner cartridge in it good for a thousand sheets, so it might need replacing. In the bunk room there is also a Epson Stylus Photo R200, but I am not sure about its ink cartridges status. CIO

Note: <888> 09/16/12 Sunday 2:35 P.M. I went out with a relative to Kennebunk. We went to the Ace Hardware store. We got a long plastic drain hair remover for $3 and a 40 pound bag of time release lawn lime for $4.50. We then went to Hannaford's and got more groceries. We then returned to my relatives' house. For lunch I had a ham, turkey, and Swiss cheese sandwich on Pita bread with Hellmann's mayonnaise and Lays salt and vinegar potato chips and a glass of watered down orange juice. Tomorrow if I have the energy, I will spread lime on the lawn with the Scott's spreader. We are having two dinner guests tonight. I will now take a nap. CIO

I cleaned up the kitchen. CIO

Note: <888> 09/15/12 Saturday 6:20 P.M. I woke up at 5 P.M.. I drove with my relatives along the Kennebunk beach. We sat out for a while at the west end of the east beach. Starting tomorrow September 16, 2012; anyone from around the world can park along the Kennebunk beach without a beach parking permit, so we should have a lot of visitors in the area. The state of Maine only has about 20 miles of sandy beach, so a lot of people seek out the sandy beaches for enjoyment. We returned to my relatives' house. CIO

Note: <888> 09/15/12 Saturday 3:00 P.M. I went out with relatives, and we went by the Kennebunkport post office, and we got forever stamps. We then drove along the Kennebunkport shoreline to Cape Porpoise and north to Biddeford Pool. We went to Pool Lobster in Biddeford Pool Buy Live Maine Lobsters | Shipped Overnight & Fresh Pool Lobster Co. , on their last day of the season for their seasonal store, their items were 30% off. A relative bought me an extra large Biddeford Pool denim shirt for $28. We drove along the waterfront of Biddeford Pool, and then we returned along the waterfront to Kennebunkport. We went to Port Lobster Kennebunkport, Maine and my relative go some lobster rolls for $9.99 each. They are out of Maine picked crab for the season, and they do not know if they will be able to get any from Canada. We then returned to my relatives' house. I ate two sandwiches of pita bread with Hellmann's mayonnaise and ham, turkey, Swiss cheese, and sliced tomatoes. I also ate some salt and vinegar potato ships with a glass of watered down orange juice. I will now take a nap. CIO

While my relatives were at CVS, I walked across the street to www.mcdonalds.com , and I bought three chick filet sandwiches for a dollar each and .21 tax for $3.21 total. The pedestrian traffic light at that location does not work properly, because when it says it is safe to cross the street, there is automobile traffic still coming from the side streets. I ate the sandwiches outside of CVS. We then went to Hannaford's grocery store, and we got some provisions. There is no longer a barber shop in Kennebunkport, but there is a barber shop just west of Hannaford's at the small shopping plaza there. We then went to the Kennebunkport police station, and we donated some recycle bottles and cans to the Kiwanis recycle bin there. Prime Minister of Canada

Believe it or not the last paying job I had in my life after working for many years as a dishwasher in Nantucket, I worked doing day labor for Ian Greenshield in Nantucket who was a local maintenance person. He looked like Sean Connery, and he had been Jackie Onassis' private body guard in Stowe, Vermont. He had me do a day job in November 1983 painting the white trim on Admiral Halsey's house on the Polpis Road out in Nantucket. Ian was a French Canadian, and his son lived in Fort Lauderdale and his father sat around the old hotel in Montreal. His family own Greenshield Investments which is now a part of the Welcome to RBC. Many years ago, I saw him walking on the beach in Kennebunk. He probably knows other Canadians. CIO

Note: <888> 09/13/12 Thursday 4:20 P.M. I went out with relatives, and we dropped one relative off at an appointment. I then went with another relative to the Kennebunk beach, and we walked out to the breakwater and enjoyed the view. We then drove along the Kennebunk beach west to the end, and then we drove north to Route 9 and east back towards Kennebunkport. We stopped by Snug Harbor Farm :: Plants for Connoisseurs :: Kennebunk, Maine, and my relative bought four ears of sweet corn on the cob and three white baby eggplants for $6 total. We then drove through the construction in downtown Kennebunkport where they are putting in brick sidewalks. They are also going to restore the draw bridge sometime in near future. We went to the Kennebunkport post office. We went to Port Lobster, and my relative got two lobster rolls to eat. My relative is on the waiting list for picked crab meat tomorrow, if they get some in. We then went back to my relative's house. We then went back to pick up my relative at the appointment. We then returned to my relatives' house. I ate the left over reheated Willow Tree chicken pot pie with potato chips and a glass of watered down punch. I vacuumed the floors of my relative's car. CIO

They are not getting crab meat until tomorrow at noon. We then returned to my relatives' house and we put the filet of haddock in the refrigerator. We then went to the Kennebunkport post office. We then drove northeast on Route 9 to U.S.1 east to Biddeford, Maine. We got on I-95 North by Wal-Mart. We paid a $1 toll. We got off at Scarborough, Maine, and we drove north on U.S. 1 to www.samsclub.com. My relative returned a bad tasting melon for $3 cash return. My relative stocked up on food and also got me a ham, turkey, and cheese sandwich on a bread roll for $3. We at filled up the fuel tank of my relative's car for $51 of self service premium gasoline for $4.219 a gallon at the gasoline pumps at Sam's. We then drove north on U.S. 1 to the Portland, Maine jet port. We parked in short term parking, and I ate the sandwich. I picked up my arriving relative at 4:01 P.M.. We then picked up the luggage. On small jets, one has to pick up the luggage right away or they stash it away for security purposes instead of letting it just sit on the conveyor belt. We paid a $2 parking fee for less than an hour. We then drove back down I-95 South for a dollar toll to Biddeford, Maine and south on U.S.1 to Route 9 south into Kennebunkport to my relatives' house. We unpacked the car and put away the food. She showed my relative the changes. I cleaned four ears of sweet corn on the cob. All quiet on the Northern front.

Note: <888> 09/07/12 Friday 11:35 P.M. I went to the Stop and Shop. I bought a six pack of Stop and Shop English muffins for $1.49, and I splurged and I bought a decent size roast beef and cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll for $4.49 for $5.98 total. I then went to the heart of greater downtown Greenwich Avenue, and I sat out by the veterans monument observing the usual activity at Starbucks eating the roast beef sandwich. Not too much was going on downtown, and I did not have the energy to walk Greenwich Avenue, so I returned back home. I drank a 12 ounce glass of diet www.coke.com . CIO

Global Volcanism Program: Postdoctoral Fellowship / Visiting Senior Scientist

This is a second and final call for applications for a postdoctoral fellowship / visiting senior scientist position in the broad field of volcanology. The position is in the Department of Mineral Sciences, National Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution and is sponsored by the Global Volcanism Program (www.volcano.si.edu). We anticipate making our award decision in early October.

Competitive candidates will address problems in volcanology important on a global scale and/or volcanic systematics on regional/global scales from geochemical, petrological and/or physical volcanological perspectives. The department is home to the National Rock and Ore Collections as well as extensive preparatory and analytical equipment including experimental petrology labs, EMPA, FEG SEM, FTIR, XRD, cathodoluminescence, and wet chemistry (<http://mineralsciences.si.edu/facilities.htm>). The Global Volcanism Program maintains a database of physical characteristics of more than 9000 eruptions. To apply, please email a project proposal (5 page maximum including all figures, tables, and references), CV, dates of proposed tenure, and names of at least two references familiar with your work to Elizabeth Cottrell (cottrelle@si.edu). The position is for one year and renewable (for postdocs, not senior scientists) for a second year pending progress. The stipend is $53,000/yr + $3,000 for health insurance. Research funds are not directly allocated for this position. There are, however, no fees for use of Smithsonian analytical facilities. Drs. Cottrell and Andrews will cover expenses that arise during collaborative research. This is an annual, running, competition; however, we anticipate making our next award decision in October of 2012. If you have applied previously, we still have your application under consideration.

For further information, contact Elizabeth Cottrell or Benjamin Andrews. The Smithsonian Institution is an equal opportunity employer.

top of Greenwich Avenue, and I got some parking change. I stopped by CVS, and I toured the store. They were setting up for the Greenwich Avenue Street Fashion show that began at 6:00 P.M.. I chatted with someone from Korea and Dubai. I did not go to the Fashion Show, but I sat outside near Starbucks chatting with a local walker. There were a lot of people walking around with the Fashion show going on up the street. I noticed on my way to town that at Mercedes Benz of Greenwich used cars, they have this Mini Cooper Used MINI at Mercedes-Benz of Greenwich Serving Bridgeport-Stamford-Norwalk, CT . After chatting with the local walker, I gave up my prime parking place at 7:15 P.M. to a person in need of a parking place. Note: <888> 09/05/12 Wednesday 12:05 P.M. Note: <888> 09/05/12 Wednesday 11:40 A.M. I only worked at Polaroid in the summer and at Christmas Time while I was there. I also was restoring an old 1951 Mercedes 300B sedan which took quite a bit of my time in the summer and my money also. I sometimes after work in Cambridge would drive back into Cambridge at night and have a Heineken at the Club Casablanca off Harvard Square or visit a friend that lived on Beacon Hill. My friend on Beacon Hill worked for the SAAB parts department on Commonwealth Avenue and lost interest in photography after dropping out of Harvard, since there was more money in auto parts. I learned that restoring the old Mercedes while in college. Back in the late 1970s while out in California, I also learned there was money in automobile salvage yards. North American Rockwell started out as an automobile salvage yard before becoming a prime contractor for NASA. Of course while out in California, Howard Hughes' people watched our every move, and even when I moved back to Greenwich in December 1983, I went to a church group run by someone that was from Howard Hughes' Episcopal church in Houston, Texas. When I was out on Long Island from 1978 to 1983, there were a lot of people out there from Grumman aircraft which is now the third largest defense contractor in the United States, and I built the garage apartment in Mr. Grumman's neighborhood. Possibly the grand daughter from the house who worked for China airlines might have noticed it. When I was out at San Francisco airport around 1979, I saw a large group of United States Citizens leaving the San Francisco airport on the renewal of the Pan Am Clipper flight to Shanghai including Mrs. Honeywell from Wellesley, Massachusetts. Honeywell use to make the computers for NORAD. CIO

Note: <888> 09/05/12 Wednesday 11:05 A.M. Although I did not attend www.harvard.edu , I worked around Cambridge, Massachusetts while at www.polaroid.com as a research photographer and software engineer and laborer from 1968 to 1971. My father Louis Dale Scott in that period was the Vice President of Manufacturing for Polaroid, and he was also a member of the board of the Polaroid Foundation for Dr. Land, and back in 1971, the Polaroid Foundation gave Harvard University $10 million which was a lot of money back then, so I am always getting people with Harvard connections looking for money, but none of them ever offered me a job, so they can not expect any money from me at this point, but I could take a picture of any of them and post it on the internet. Back around 1970, Dr. Land was the first billionaire in Massachusetts, and by 1971, the Polaroid stock was up to $115 a share, but by the time the company went bankrupt in 1978, the stock was down to about $3 a share, so a lot of people with Polaroid connections were not that financially well off unless they sold their stock at the peak of the market. My father left Polaroid in the winter of 1973, and we moved back to Greenwich, Connecticut that June 1973, where he worked for Combustion Engineering and Continental Can Company that had offices in Stamford, Connecticut and Greenwich, Connecticut. Thus my family was able to keep a roof over its head during the stock market crash of 1973. CIO

Note: <888> 09/05/12 Wednesday 10:35 A.M. Of course an original member of the original Scott family in America might be able to get into Princeton University - Welcome , Columbia University in the City of New York , New York University , University of Virginia , William & Mary , Washington and Lee University :: Lexington, Virginia , West Point , The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill , Duke University , Welcome to Ohio State - The Ohio State University , University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign , Welcome to Lake Forest College , Penn: University of Pennsylvania , Harvard University , MIT - Massachusetts Institute of Technology , York University , and University of St Andrews - Scotland's first university, founded 1413 . There are probably a few others that I have forgotten to mention. Since there are so many members of the original Scott family in America, if one were accepted, more than likely one would have to pay their own way, except for West Point which is very competitive to get into. CIO

Note: <888> 09/05/12 Wednesday 10:05 A.M. Welcome to Harriman - Architects + Engineers is still in business. www.vanderbilt.com takes one to www.vanderbilt.edu which has a very good hospital. I once read that relatives of the Vanderbilt family are entitled to free medical care at Vanderbilt University Medical Center , but one would probably have to pay their way to get there and be able to prove they are a relative of the Vanderbilts. Also at www.yale.edu , there is a private suite of rooms reserved for any Vanderbilt relatives that might want to attend Yale University. CIO

I was then given a ride back to the Senior and the Arts center. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. The new coffee shop "CRRCR" is not opened yet on upper Greenwich Avenue. May "CRRCR" stands for "Costa Rican Coffee Roasters" . I do have a local classmate that once lived in Costa Rica. Perhaps its stands for "Cafe Rothschild and Cafe Rockefeller". I next went to the Greenwich Library, and I chatted with two staff members. I then returned home. I picked up the mail. Note: <888> 09/02/12 Sunday 6:55 P.M. I chatted with a relative. Back in October 1983, when I left www.nantucket.net for the first time of two times that Fall, I had been working at Le Languedoc Bistro a Nantucket Restaurant and Inn. Serving French cuisine on Nantucket for over 30 Years from April that year, and I would eat a cottage cheese omelet for my first meal with a cup of coffee and English muffin with butter, when I got the restaurant at 11 A.M. for the lunch shift. When I got off the lunch shift about 2:30 P.M.. I would jog out to the beach at the airport and back, and I would start my night shift at 4 P.M., and around 5 P.M., they would give us a filet of fish with sautéed vegetables, but they did not like us drinking milk, so we would drink iced tea or tonic water with lime. I would get off the night shift at around 4 A.M. after cleaning up the restaurant after my dishwashing and pot scrubbing routines. I think they use to give us another meal about 11 P.M. when the restaurant closed, which was pretty much the same meal as the 5 P.M. meal. I think I weighed around 155 pounds, so I was thin and in good shape. I use to work in Adiddas Country Sneakers and I bought a pink LaCoste polo shirt on the island that I frequently worked in. At the very old age of 33, I looked like this

<http://mikelouisscott.com/mike-scott-kennebunkport-maine-august-1983.jpg> . However, when I finally returned to Greenwich, Connecticut in December 1983, my first apartment was a tiny room at 100 Milbank Avenue up in the attic with a shared bathroom and a refrigerator. I shared the attic floor with Spyros Skoros' chauffeur. Since I was on an income of $200 a month after rent payment, I would buy quart containers of Columbo yogurt at the Greenwich Food Mart on Greenwich Avenue for about $1.59, and I would have yogurt and orange juice for breakfast, since I did not have a way to cook. For my dinner, I would eat at the Greenwich Hospital Cafeteria about $2.50 a meal which I did for about three years. When in June 1984, I moved to 700 Steamboat Road, I continued the same menu, but by then I had gone up to 215 pounds for some odd reason. I guess I was not getting as much exercise. After two years on Steamboat Road, when I got a car, I started cooking on a hot plate in the apartment, since I had a small refrigerator. I recall my favorite inexpensive item was A&P frozen liver slices with onions, but by that time the Greenwich Hospital Cafeteria was getting close to $4 a meal. I still frequently only eat two meals a day, but having a kitchen in Byram for almost 23 years and using smart shopping techniques, I currently weight 230 pounds, so I now look like a prosperous Dutch business person. Alas I don't speak Dutch. CIO

Note: <888> 09/02/12 Sunday 5:20 P.M. I cut a 12 ounce half of a slice about 5/8th inch thick off the ham, and I put it on a microwave proof plate with splatter cover, and I heated it in the Sharp microwave oven for four minutes on 50% power. I put Gulden's spicy brown mustard on it. I ate it with a steamed ear of sweet corn on the cob with sliced baby carrots and broccoli crowns with Smart Balance Spread and extra virgin olive oil and a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale and a cup of green tea with Splenda sweetener and Borden's lemon juice. I also had four medium sliced tomatoes with oregano, ground black pepper, and extra virgin olive oil. Today, when I was downtown, I saw a sign for Greenwich Polo . They are having a big Polo match next Sunday September 9, 2012, for anyone would can afford to drive to back country Greenwich and pay the usual $20? entrance fee. CIO

Note: <888> 09/02/12 Sunday 3:50 P.M. I went downtown to the World Famous Greenwich Avenue. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. In front of Starbucks, someone had a 2003 black and yellow Mini Cooper with 98,000 miles on it for sale for $9,800. I stopped by the Greenwich Cigar store, and I played a Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, and I won $10 for $9 profit. I chatted with a local and someone from Montenegro looking for a waterfront cafe. On the way up Greenwich Avenue, I stopped by CVS, and I bought three .75 ounce Italian Spices for $2 total. I sat out for a while after my walk. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I then went by the Stop and Shop, and I chatted with a Westchester County humane animal removal service that was parked there. I bought bananas for .79 a pound for $1.82 and a package of day old muffins for $2 and .50 can and bottle return for $3.32 total. I then returned home. CIO

Note: <888> 09/02/12 Sunday 11:00 A.M. I will now shower and clean up. I will then go downtown for a walk. If anyone wants to network with other Mitt Romney supporters in the area, there is a large Mormon church up in New Canaan, Connecticut, if you can afford

<888> 10/31/12 Wednesday 8:00 P.M.. Town of Greenwich Wednesday Evening Message 10-31-12:

Good evening. This is Captain Mark Kordick of the Town of Greenwich Police Department with the October 31st evening update on Hurricane Sandy from the Town's Emergency Operations Center.

President Obama announced today that he has declared Connecticut a federal disaster area. Importantly, this means Greenwich residents who suffered damage or were displaced by Hurricane Sandy are eligible for federal assistance from the Federal Emergency Management Agency. To get assistance residents must register directly with FEMA by telephone or online. To register, call 1-800-621-FEMA, that's 1-800-621-3362 or visit disasterassistance.gov.

The Town remains under a declared state of emergency. The Town's Emergency Operations Center remains open on a full-time basis. Road clearing efforts remain underway in earnest. The total number of full closures dropped below 300 today for the first time since the storm. Connecticut Light and Power crews continue to work on power restoration. 63% of Greenwich residents remain without power.

The Town's two emergency shelters, one at the Western Greenwich Civic Center and the other at the Eastern Middle School, remain open for all residents requiring shelter. Temperatures have dropped and are predicted to lower overnight. Residents without heat are welcome to drop-in either of the two emergency shelters at any time, day or night, even if it is just to warm up, get a meal or charge cellphones. Hot showers can even be had at the Eastern Middle School shelter. Bring a towel and toiletries if you can. The Red Cross professionals and volunteers staffing the shelters are delighted when citizens come by. Please, don't be afraid to stop and check out what services are available at the shelter locations.

When driving, be aware that there are still several locations in Town where traffic signals are not functioning due to lack of power. Under Connecticut state law, any intersection with a disabled traffic signal is to be navigated like an all-way stop intersection. Motorists are required to stop completely and yield to traffic on the right.

The health department is recommending all residents keep food safety in mind over the coming days. If your power has been out for an extended period, food in refrigerators and freezers is likely to have spoiled. If power comes back, do not refreeze thawed food. Complete food safety tips are available at the Town of Greenwich website.

Announcements and reminders:

- Schools are closed tomorrow and Friday. A decision concerning school openings next week and the rescheduled date of school Halloween parties and townwide trick-or-treating will be made no later than Sunday at 2:00 pm.
- All Town Parks and Beaches remain closed until further notice.
- Libraries, except the Perrot Library, have reopened. They are happy to provide power for recharging cellphones and electronic devices.

As we return to normalcy, unless special circumstances dictate, the frequency of announcements made via this system will be reduced from two per day to one per day effective tomorrow. The next scheduled announcement will come tomorrow evening. Until then, please stay safe.

Town of Greenwich, Wednesday Morning Update 10-31-12:

Good morning and Happy Halloween. This is the daytime information update concerning Hurricane Sandy for Wednesday, October 31st.

The Town's Emergency Operations Center remains open and we continue to marshal more and more assets for recovery and clean-up operations. The Town remains in a declared State of Emergency. The town's two emergency shelters, one at the Western Greenwich Civic Center and one at the Eastern Middle School, remain open to any resident requiring assistance. Even if residents do not require overnight shelter accommodations, the shelters, which are being staffed by the American Red Cross, are happy to have drop-in visitors looking to charge cell phones, get a snack, a cup of coffee or a hot meal. Warm showers can even be had at the Eastern Middle School shelter. Please bring your own towel and toiletries if you can.

Currently, 67% of Greenwich CL&P customers are without electric power. There is no definitive timetable for complete restoration. Keep in mind that some residents who currently have power may see it temporarily disconnected while other repairs are completed. Connecticut Light and Power has leveraged repairs crews from as far away as Iowa who are currently at work in Town. The Town is providing all of the assistance we can – in the form of tree crews, debris removal crews, National Guard troops and police officers – to assist Connecticut Light and Power line crews with their restoration efforts.

Many streets remain completely or partially blocked. Currently, there remain several hundred areas where streets and roads remain totally or partially blocked. The Emergency Operations Center is maintaining a live, interactive, public map of the most significant closures which can be accessed by a link on the Town's website at www.greenwichct.org.

Other information important to residents:

- Despite rumors to the contrary, the public drinking water supply is safe. That said, any private wells that were flooded should be considered contaminated. Information on private well decontamination information is available through the Greenwich Health Department.
- All Town of Greenwich Parks and Beaches, to include Greenwich Point, will remain closed until further notice.
- Greenwich schools will closed tomorrow and Friday, November 1st and 2nd.
- For safety's safe, no one, especially children should be out trick-or-treating this evening. The Town, in conjunction with the Public Schools, will schedule an alternate day next week for school Halloween celebrations and traditional trick-or-treating.
- Information concerning school openings next week and the rescheduled date for trick-or-treating will be available no later than 2:00 pm on Sunday.
- Greenwich Libraries, including the main branch and Cos Cob and Byram branches, have been reopened. The Perrot branch remains closed. The libraries and shelters are great places to spend time, be entertained and recharge cell phones for residents without power.
- Finally, The Hamill Skating Rink will offer free public open skating today from 1:00 pm to 5:00 pm.

As many of you begin to clean-up and inspect your own property, please exercise extreme caution. Many people are injured during clean-up and recovery operations. Never approach downed wires. Even downed wires that you think may not be live or have touched before, can become re-energized as power is restored to area neighborhoods. As you inspect and clean-up your property, remember to take lots of pictures and save all of your receipts.

If you are returning to your damaged or flooded home, Town building inspections must be completed before utility services can be restored. Please be on the lookout for and heed posted building inspection notices on your property. Additional information and tips about how to safely return to your home can be found on the Town's website at www.greenwichct.org.

This message will be updated again this evening via this same system. Until then, please stay safe and remain patient as well all work through this difficult time together.

<888> 10/30/12 Tuesday 8:55 P.M.. Town of Greenwich Message 8 P.M. Tuesday 10-30-12:

Good evening. This is the evening information update concerning Hurricane Sandy for Tuesday, October 30th.

The Town's Emergency Operations Center remains fully open and has transitioned from a rescue mode into a recovery mode. The town's two emergency shelters, one at the Western Greenwich Civic Center and one at the Eastern Middle School remain open to any resident requiring assistance. Much of today was spent by emergency and municipal personnel assessing the state of the Town, remedying emergency situations and requesting appropriate outside assistance.

Currently, 74% of Greenwich CL&P customers are without electric power. This is a 10% improvement from this morning, however 21,597 customers are still without electric service in Town. There is no definitive timetable for complete restoration. Some residents who currently have power may see it temporarily disconnected for other repairs. All residents should be prepared for a multiple day outage. The Town is providing all of the assistance we can – in the form of tree crews, debris removal crews and police officers – to assist Connecticut Light and Power line crews with their restoration efforts.

Many streets remain completely or partially blocked. We are making it a priority to clear emergency routes first and areas where residents are completely trapped with no means of entry or egress. Several elements of the Connecticut National Guard have been mobilized by Governor Malloy at the request of the First Selectman and are in Town assisting with road clearing efforts. Currently, there are 483 areas where streets and roads remain totally or partially blocked. The Emergency Operations Center is maintaining a live, interactive, public map of the most significant closures which can be accessed by a link on the Town's website at www.greenwichct.org.

Other information important to residents:

- A representative from Aquarion has verified the public water supply was unaffected by the storm, but private wells in areas that were flooded should be considered contaminated and water must be disinfected with a chlorine solution or boiled for ten minutes prior to consumption. Additional information is available from the Town of Greenwich Department of Health.
- All Town of Greenwich Parks and Beaches, to include Greenwich Point, will remain closed until further notice.
- Schools are closed tomorrow, Wednesday, October 31st. A decision concerning school openings Thursday and subsequent days will be made tomorrow.
- Greenwich Library's main branch will be open tomorrow from 9 am to 9 pm. The Cos Cob and Byram branches will be open from 9 am to 5 pm. The Perrot branch will be closed. All open branches will have extra electrical power cords and outlets available for charging cell phones and related devices.
- Town Hall will be open tomorrow.

Many trees which have to fallen remain badly damaged. Many wires remain down. Please remember that it is never safe to approach downed wires. Because many hazardous conditions still exist, the Town is urging all residents to avoid unnecessary travel for at least one more day. Because that one additional day is Halloween, for everyone's safety, the considered opinion of the Town's public safety professionals is that Halloween trick-or-treating should be cancelled tomorrow evening. The Town, in conjunction with the Public Schools will schedule an alternate day in the very near future for school Halloween celebrations and traditional trick-or-treating. While I hate to seem the October equivalent of the Grinch, this decision was made with the children's safety in mind.

This message will be updated tomorrow via this same system. Until then, please stay safe and remain patient as well all work through this difficult time together.

<888> 10/30/12 Tuesday 7:20 P.M. Town of Greenwich Hurricane Sandy Update Tuesday 10-30-12 Noon:

Good morning. This is the daytime information update concerning Hurricane Sandy for Tuesday, October 30th.

Currently, just over 80% of Greenwich customers are without electric power. There is no definitive timetable for restoration. Many streets are completely or partially blocked with downed trees and wires. Municipal Tree and Public Works crews are working to clear roadways as quickly as possible. For obvious reasons they are concentrating initial efforts in the area of public safety facilities and the Greenwich Hospital.

The storm has significantly damaged the Verizon wireline telephone service infrastructure on a regional level. Many telephone lines remain out of service including many to municipal buildings and facilities. Redundant systems have helped 911 service to the Town's Public Safety Dispatch center to be fully operational throughout the event and 911 service has not been effected. In an emergency, dial 911 for help.

While the weather may appear to be clearing, we continue to urge all residents to remain indoors. There are many power lines still down and many trees and branches that have been compromised by wind but have not yet fallen. Until main thoroughfares are cleared, travel by vehicle remains both difficult and dangerous. If you are outdoors, never approach downed wires. Avoid puddles or standing water – especially those near downed wires.

Amtrak trains, Metro North railroad and Connecticut Transit Bus Service all remain suspended until further notice. Connecticut Limited Access highways remain closed to all non-emergency traffic by order of Governor Malloy. The Town of Greenwich Emergency Operations Center remains open and will continue to be staffed on an indefinite basis. We intend to transition from rescue operations to recovery operations within the next several hours.

While some areas of Greenwich did suffer devastating property damage overnight, no fatalities or life-threatening bodily injuries are known to have occurred inside the Town's limits. Greenwich's First Responders would like to extend our thanks to the many members of our community who heeded evacuation orders and have been cooperating with public safety officials throughout this ordeal. Your continued assistance and understanding is appreciated. In the coming days, as all of our collective patience runs thin, please remember that things will improve and everyone is working to restore normalcy as quickly as is possible.

An evening update announcement will be made via this system later today. Until then please stay safe and remain indoors.

<888> 10/30/12 Tuesday 7:20 P.M. Town of Greenwich Hurricane Sandy Warning, Monday 10-29-12 at 9 P.M..

The Governor's office has advised our Emergency Operations Center that the western Connecticut shoreline will experience a wind-blown storm surge predicted to be seventeen and a half feet above average. Five to seven foot waves in Long Island Sound will add additional height to the water. Greenwich and Stamford are expected to be the worst hit areas in the state. The Governor has mobilized the National Guard at our request and they are en route to our area but are unlikely to arrive prior to the midnight high tide. This is a life threatening emergency.

If you failed to heed evacuation notices and are in any of the mandatory evacuation areas, you will experience flooding conditions in the coming hours. The voluntary evacuation zone will experience flooding as well.

If you are in any of these evacuation areas or other low-lying places, do not panic however it is critical that you evacuate immediately. Again, flooding conditions will be life threatening. If you cannot evacuate, relocate to the highest level of the building you are in immediately. Bring your pets and your cell phone. Leave or move to higher ground now. Do not assume that you will be able to make it higher ground once the event is upon us.

The storm is crossing the coastline into New Jersey. Our area has been inundated with extraordinarily high winds which are predicted to continue to increasing and decreasing degrees overnight. There are many trees and live wires down. There are several fires burning throughout town and we have experienced at least one wind-related partial building collapse. Most major roadways are partially or completely closed. Unless you are evacuating from rising water, it is unsafe to be outdoors. Every Greenwich resident who is not in a low-lying area should seek shelter and remain indoors until the storm has fully passed. Currently, over 50 percent of the Town is without power and there is no immediate timetable for restoration.

Additional notices will be forthcoming throughout the night. Once again, if you are in a coastal area, evacuation zone or other low-lying area prone to coastal flooding, leave immediately. If you cannot leave immediately, move to the highest level of the building you are in and remain there. Good luck and stay safe.

<888> 10/30/12 Tuesday 6:15 P.M. I woke up at 9 P.M. last night, when the Town of Greenwich Emergency System called up to say there was going to be a 17.5 foot storm surge along the shoreline in Greenwich and Stamford at midnight. They said the Connecticut National Guard was on the way, but they would not be here in time for the storm surge. I chatted with a relative. I woke up at 2 A.M. this morning, and the power was off. I finally woke up at 5 A.M.. I checked downstairs, and I chatted with two neighbors. I walked around the building outside. There were a lot of roof shingles off the building. I set up my laptop in the Community Room which had generator power, but there was no internet or cable TV service. I brought down my Eton portable radio, and I listened to ABC Eyewitness News reports from Manhattan until about 9 A.M.. Other neighbors were awake using the power in the community room kitchen to make coffee. I slept until noon. I went downstairs again. I used extension cords, and I set up power from the hallway plugs that were on generator power to power a light in my apartment and keep the cell phone charged and run the portable radio. I chatted with two relatives. My Optimum Online telephone was not working, but Verizon was working. I was able to get online with my laptop dialing up a local number with Juno dialup, but it was really too slow to use. I checked outside around 3 P.M., and I chatted with neighbors. The hallway plugs became overwhelmed because people were hooking up refrigerators, televisions, and microwaves which the generator could not handle, so the circuit breaker switch off the power to the hallway plugs. The building custodian checked the apartments to get people to turn off the heavy load items. About the time he was going to turn back on the hallway plugs circuit breaker, the power came on at 4:45 P.M.. I chatted with two relatives. I chatted with my friend at East Fairfield Beach, and he survived the hurricane without flooding, but he was without power. I put the apartment back to the way it was before the hurricane. I ate a bag of 60% reduced fat Chex Mix this morning, and I had a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener this afternoon and a English muffin and vitamins and supplements. I chatted with a relative. I watched some of www.news12.com Connecticut. They said Round Hill Road in Greenwich from the Merritt Parkway to Lake Avenue was closed. My Audi is all right.

This is the daytime update of conditions related to Hurricane Sandy for Monday, October 29, 2012.

Having turned to the west, the center of the storm itself remains about 200 miles from the coast of New Jersey and is continuing on its predicted north-northwesterly track. Winds have accelerated in our area and wind speeds will continue to increase over the next several hours. Several large trees and branches have already come down in town which have resulted in some temporary localized road closures. The high tide which occurred prior to noon this morning was several feet over normal and has already resulted in localized flooding and temporary road closures in low-lying areas. No large area power outages have been reported yet in Town, however they are likely to occur.

Effective at 1:00 pm today, Governor Malloy ordered all limited-access roadways – highways with entrance and exit ramps – closed to non-emergency traffic until further notice. Metro North Commuter railroad service remains suspended.

Residents who are not indoors should seek shelter now. The only exception is for residents in mandatory evacuation zones who did not evacuate. If you are still in a mandatory evacuation zone, you should leave immediately. The Town has two emergency shelters open – one at the Eastern Middle School and the other at the Western Greenwich Civic Center in Glenville.

If you cannot leave immediately and are in a mandatory evacuation zone or other low-lying area that may flood, you should have a plan to shelter-in-place. Move all people, pets, an emergency supply of food and clean water, medicines and other necessities to the highest floor of your home. Bring a charged cell phone and charger.

Once again, outdoor conditions are becoming increasing hazardous and are expected to degrade over the next several hours. Get indoors now and stay there.

The next critical period will include the run up to darkness through the period of high tide tonight at midnight. The Town of Greenwich Emergency Operations Center is open and fully staffed. The Town's emergency responders, public works staff and area utility crews are standing by and ready to respond to emergencies. That said, please do not rely solely on us to keep you safe. The best way to ensure you and your family's well-being is to remain aware of your surroundings and circumstances and be proactively responsible for your own safety.

We will provide an updated message via this notification system again this evening. Please exercise extreme caution through the coming afternoon and evening.

Town of Greenwich Emergency Notification from Sunday October 28, 2012

Hurricane Sandy continues to move northward and is currently off the North Carolina coast. The storm is anticipated to turn to the north-northwest shortly after midnight tonight. The latest computer models show it coming ashore along the southern New Jersey coast early Tuesday. As the storm is hundreds of miles wide, strong local effects are anticipated to be felt in Greenwich by tomorrow afternoon well in advance of the actual landfall. Conditions after the early afternoon hours tomorrow, especially after dark on Monday night, will be particularly treacherous with high winds making travel dangerous.

Beside winds, the most devastating effects of this storm will include a massive storm surge of tidal water. The latest predictions show storm surges along the western Long Island shoreline, to include all of Greenwich, of at least five to more than eleven feet above normal. If these predictions hold true, there will be significant flooding in coastal areas and along rivers and waterways connected to Long Island Sound.

Earlier today, Greenwich First Selectman Peter Tesei, acting on the advice of the Governor's Office, issued an immediate and mandatory evacuation order for large portions of coastal Greenwich. Homes and businesses in the evacuation zone were notified by targeted, automated telephone calls and the distribution of paper evacuation order flyers. If you remain unsure if you live in a mandatory evacuation zone, complete information, including maps and street lists can be found on the Town of Greenwich website at www.greenwichct.org. If you evacuate, bring clothing, medicine and personal hygiene products for a stay of at least three (3) days.

The Town of Greenwich Emergency Operations Center is open and will remain so throughout the emergency. The Town has opened two emergency evacuation shelters – one at the Eastern Middle School and the other at the Western Greenwich Civic Center. All Greenwich schools will be closed, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Non-essential Town of Greenwich offices and all Greenwich Libraries will be closed on Monday. Metro North railroad service has already been suspended and will remain so until further notice.

All residents should be prepared for power outages lasting for several days at least. This storm will be a long duration event and will take more than one full day to move across our area.

For their own safety, residents should avoid non-essential travel after noon on Monday. If you must be out in the storm, avoid downed wires and never enter or cross moving or rising water. Make sure you keep a charged cell phone on hand.

We intend to deliver twice-daily announcements (morning and evening) via this notification system which will continue throughout the emergency. More frequent announcements will be issued as warranted. The next scheduled notice will be issued late Monday morning. Thank you for your attention and remember to be especially careful throughout this dangerous storm.

I noticed while I was out at Tod's Point this morning at high tide during a full moon in October, the water was up to about 2.5 feet from the road. Thus in a day or two, when we get the hurricane with the high tides this time of year, there could be some major flooding along the shoreline in this area. CIO

Note: <888> 10/27/12 Saturday 3:10 P.M. I went downtown, and I walked lower Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. At the Taco Joint across from the Greenwich Train Station there was a wounded pigeon on the ground fluttering its wings. I did not touch it so as not to disturb it. I called the Greenwich Police, and they said they would send someone over. However, after about 10 minutes the pigeon quit moving, and when I touched it with my foot, it appeared dead. A local merchant was sweeping the sidewalk, so he lifted the dead pigeon up with a broom and put it in the rear of a nearby garbage truck. I did not touch the pigeon, since pigeons can have lice. About that time the police showed up, and I told them the pigeon was dead. After walking lower Greenwich Avenue, I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I then sat out for a while. I then drove over to Staples in Old Greenwich arriving about 7:45 A.M.. They opened at 9 A.M., and there

I then bought two three packs of clamp binders for $8.29 a three pack less a online 20% off coupon for $1.66 off and .95 tax for $15.87 total. I then drove over to Old Greenwich. I went to the The Haircut Place - Old Greenwich Connecticut , and I got my hair cut short for $25.86 and $5 tip for $30.86 total. I then chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone. I then toured the Old Greenwich Rummage Room thrift shop. On the way out of the parking lot by the Old Greenwich Fire Station, I noticed men and young men filling sand bags from a large pile of sand. I then drove out to Tod's Point. I sat by the Southwest Parking area, and I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone. I then used the men's room at the new convenience station. It is a quite nice rest room facility they built. I then walked out the to the Southwest Picnic area, and I sat out for a while. I then drove over to the Southeast Picnic, and I used the rest room, and I chatted with a local jogger. I sat out for a while. I then returned back to downtown Greenwich Avenue. I chatted with a friend on my wireless telephone. I then used the bathroom at Starbucks. I sat out for a while enjoying the weather, and I chatted with a local walker. I then went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought buy one six pack of Thomas' English muffins for $4.19 get two six packs free, two 19 ounce Stouffer's meat lasagnas for $2.50 each, bananas for .79 a pound for .66 and a 24 ounce package of Simply mashed potatoes for $2.50 for $12.35 total. I then returned home, and I put away my groceries. I had a telephone message from Linda McMahon for Senate 2012 campaign. I took a plastic microwave proof pot, and I put in a 15 ounce jar of Bertolli garlic alfredo sauce, and I seasoned it with Old Bay Seasoning, garlic powder, ground black pepper, celery salt, Italian seasoning and a quarter of a cup of extra virgin olive oil, and I mixed it all together, and I put a lid on it, and I put in the GE microwave oven. I filled up with water a five quart Revere pot up to about two inches from the top, and I added a tablespoon of extra virgin olive oil and a teaspoon of salt, and I brought it to a boil with lid on, and I removed the lid, and I added a 16 ounce box of Barilla linguine, and I boiled it for ten minutes stirring it. For the last five minutes, I ran the alfredo sauce mixture on two vegetable microwave cycles. For the last three minutes, I put in a colander containing a pound of bay scallops in the linguine boiling water and stirred them while they were boiling. I then drained the bay scallops and dumped them in a mixing bowl, and I added the alfredo sauce and mixed them together. I drained the linguine, and I added it to the mixing bowl, and I added a third of a cup of grated parmesan and Romano cheese, and I mixed the entire mixture together thoroughly. I put about a third on a dinner plate, and I refrigerated two thirds in a Rubbermaid container. I ate the mixture with a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale. I chatted with a relative twice. CIO

Note: <888> 10/26/12 Friday 11:20 A.M. Instead of clean up, I took my bedroom air conditioner out, which is sort of a tedious process. First I had to move all of the items away from the window area. Then one removes the duct tape from the left side Plexiglas. I then hoisted the air conditioner out of the window on to the bed. The air conditioner probably weighs about 70 pounds. I then used my little folding cart from the rear of the Audi, and I rolled the air conditioner from the bedroom to near the rear side of the Ethan Allen recliner which I had moved forward temporarily. I then slid it into place against the wall. I then put everything back into position in both the living room and bedroom. I put a Lakso fan in the opened bedroom window with screen to get a little bit of fresh air. The bedroom window is easy enough to open and close at night, since it slides easily. I will wait a couple of weeks to take the living room air conditioner out which is less tedious, and it only weighs about 40 pounds. I threw out some garbage and I chatted with the ceiling installer about the hurricane. I will now shower and clean up. Also with the bedroom air conditioner out, I do not have to worry about rain getting into the apartment with the hurricane. The living room air conditioner is in tighter in the living room window, so there should be no leakage problem. CIO

I also did the paper work for receipts and saving the product key. I can not figure out, if I want to install it on any of my IBM ThinkCentres just yet. The best one would be an upgrade on the IBM ThinkCentre by the hallway entrance, since its video card supports two monitors and it has a new 500 gigabyte hard drive. However, it only has two gigabytes of memory, where the first and second IBM ThinkCentres have three gigabytes of memory, but do not support a second monitor. I lightly toasted 4 slices of Stop and Shop 12 grain bread, and I took a 5 ounce can of Bumble Bee solid white albacore tuna fish, and I opened the can, and I left the lid on, and I drained it underneath cold water. I then pressed the lid down to squeeze out the water. I then flaked the tuna fish into small chunks with a fork in a mixing bowl. I added two quarter inch thick slices of Bermuda onion diced into quarter inch cubic chunks and 10 large black pitted olives cut in half, and I season the mixture with Old Bay Seasoning, celery salt, ground black pepper, Italian seasoning, two tablespoons of extra virgin olive oil and two large heaping tablespoons of Hellmann's olive oil mayonnaise, and I mixed it all together. I put the four slices of bread on a dinner plate, and I spread one fourth of the tuna mixture on each of the slices of bread. I ate the open faced sandwiches with a bowl of Lays barbecue potato chips and a 12 ounce glass of A&W root beer. There was a dollar off sticker on the Scott toilet paper, they forgot to take off and use. I will see if they will give me the dollar later. I then went further downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I sat out at various locations. I chatted with a few local people. I toured CVS again, and I used the bathroom there. I stopped by the Greenwich Hardware store <http://www.greenwichhardware.com/> to tell them about the hurricane threat. After I finished by walk, I went by the A&P Fresh. I was told by the ceiling people that they would not be doing my ceilings next Tuesday and Wednesday. The building custodian said he would talk with them about when they will do the ceiling tiles and insulation. From my viewpoint, they do not really need to do them, since it never really gets too cold in my apartment, and I should know after living here 23 years. Note: <888> 10/21/12 Sunday 5:25 A.M. This past Thursday, www.staples.com spammed their email list by sending out multiple messages by mistake, so this morning I got an email with a $20 off over $50 internet or store purchase, which is how I got the $20 off over $50 Staples purchase coupon. Since I never use the IBM ThinkCentres except for beta testing and as backup emergency office equipment in case, a higher power ever needed a backup office, I might not put the copy Windows 8 on one of the IBM ThinkCentres, since it would probably never be used. I think I might save it in case I ever do some major upgrade of my primary work computer or laptops sometime in the future. However, I never use the two Dell Latitude D410 laptops except for vacation, so that might be necessary. I will have to think about it. Still it is a good price, since after the initial offering price, it will be $200. I also have a spare unused copy of Windows 7 Home Edition. If I did a hardware upgrade of the primary work computer, it would cripple my existing licenses, so I would probably not do that either. CIO

I then restored the Windows XP Professional installation with Paragon restore from an external USB drive that I had the backup on using 50% of the 40 gigabyte hard drive. I then tried to install the Windows 8 32 bit 90 days demo by booting the DVD, but the DVD would not boot giving a processor error message. I then booted Windows XP Professional, and I created a second 20 gigabyte partition with free space. I then ran the Windows 8 setup, and I am now installing Windows 8 to the second partition. I used to know quite a few members of the Roger's family, but I guess they all have disappeared from this area over the years as it got more expensive. The Scott family name used to be the most common family name on Park Avenue in the 1970s, but perhaps they all moved some place else where it is less expensive. I have not the foggiest idea. They do not allow me to go out in the daytime around here in nice weather, so the people older than myself can have the town all to themselves. There are only a few stragglers downtown at night anymore. I guess somebody could go up to Danbury when the Dalai Lama is in this area, and see if we can get financial aid from his church, but since he now lives in India, he probably does not have much in the way of financial resources. I read years ago, when he visited Manhattan, they did not feed him any meat thinking he was a vegetarian. Maybe they should take him to Fresh milk products and great customer service at Stew Leonard's! in Danbury and give him something to eat. In Greenwich, Connecticut because the real estate is so expensive, everything else is also expensive. I have plenty of food, so I am not starving, but at 230 pounds, I have been trying to lose some weight. When I arrived back in Greenwich, Connecticut off of Nantucket in December 1983, I only weighed 150 pounds, but I quickly put on weight eating yogurt and orange juice for breakfast and dinner at the Greenwich Hospital cafeteria for about $2.50 which is now more expensive. Of course I was on medication to slow down my metabolism, so my system could absorb more nourishment. CIO

In the old days, I used to say that, "Greenwich, Connecticut was full of cheap vinegar Yankees." I guess much the same still applies. My computer talents have never been worth anything around here, particularly since I smoke cigarettes and am frequently on a night schedule. Last night I noticed quite a few people smoking cigarettes downtown, so possibly I might have some new friends in the area. I will have to wait over time to see if any of them know how to communicate with me. Anyway, I have been hoping to quit smoking after election day, no matter whom wins. Frequently in the past when I have tried to quit smoking disasters happen. I was trying to quit smoking on "911". I personally do not think it is healthy, but it does reduce stress. I noticed in the Class of 1969 at the The Taft School, somebody gave $3 million to the Capital fund, but it does not say whom. I might know the person, since I was in the class of 1968. CIO

There was nothing unusual to report. After my walk, I drove down by the waterfront on Steamboat Road. They are still remodeling the office building at 600 Steamboat Road. Russ Reynolds and Associates has rented space there. There was not much pub activity downtown. There were still a few fishermen on the Steamboat Road pier, and it looked like they were still catching fish. I then returned back home. It seems to be all quiet in remote desolate area of lesser southwestern Connecticut near the New Amsterdam border. The New Amsterdam colony still keeps a "Dutch Night Watch". Once it gets colder, we still have the "Freezing Norwegian Patrol". Current temperature at the Westchester County Airport at this hour is 36 degrees Fahrenheit. Note: <888> 10/11/12 Thursday 3:00 A.M. I watched Series 2 Episode 3 of "Sherlock Holmes". Well not much happening way out here in the boon docks of Greenwich,

Connecticut. However, some people like "Peace and Quiet" as opposed to the hustle and bustle of the Big City Life a little ways to the West of Us. Still we do get a lot of traffic moving further east to the even simpler life further out in Connecticut. I was against all of the Office buildings being built in Greenwich when it was discussed back in 1974, and it was explained to me, they would pay enough taxes, so the long term residents would be able to afford to live here. Of course with the inflated value of residential real estate and the very high property taxes, I am not sure how many of those long term residents managed to survive in this area. Still I try to be diplomatic with the new comers, since more than likely the same will happen to them some time in the future, as they become accustomed to the constant rise of the Cost of Living in this area. In the old days, when we could afford property, we did quite a bit of gardening. Now that I am absented minded blogger on the internet, I keep waiting for some sort of brain storm that I can write about. Greenwich Avenue really does not have much to write about, since it is mostly a daily transient group of people checking out our various shopping venues. The women particularly like to shop until they drop, since they do not seem to have anything else to do. Having grown up in matriarchal family I know that. Note: <888> 10/10/12 Wednesday 2:55 A.M. I turned off the Router, so in rebooting the FIC server with the latest updates, the Netgear Storage device would not interfere with the FIC server booting until I turned off its software in Services. McAfee total security had expired on the first and second IBM ThinkCentres, so I uninstalled it, and I put Microsoft Security Essentials on them using the Microsoft Windows Firewall. Basically eight of my 10 computers are backup computers that I use for beta testing various operating systems as they become available. I have them all backed up to external hard drives, so I can return them to working condition after I use them for beta testing. I have not tested the new version of Ubuntu, but I currently do not have a computer available to put it on, since I need to keep my primary configurations. For some reason the FIC server with Vista Ultimate takes a long time to boot up, but Vista was always a slow starter. I think I might have a Windows 7 Server program, but possibly it might be a Vista 7 Server program, but I like running the server with the IIS server from the regular operating system, so I can use the other programs with it. I transferred the TV connection to the Sceptre TV which is now connected up with the Epox computer for viewing internet content on the HDTV. I still have three new Seagate 300 gigabyte hard drives in reserve for my primary work computer, and I also have two new spare 160 gigabyte hard drives in reserve backup for the FIC server. I also have spare motherboards for both of them. I also have a lot other spares parts including backup power supplies for the primary computer and the FIC server. I have spare routers, net switches, and a spare cable modem also. However, I don't have a Spare for myself, so I should work on trying to get myself healthier. I am thinking about quitting smoking after the election no matter whom wins, and I also need to lose at least forty to six pounds of weight which at this point seems a pipe dream. I also need to have a crown put on one of my molars, and get my teeth checked and cleaned. CIO

Note: <888> 10/10/12 Wednesday 2:25 A.M. Today the Tech call that I decided not to use had me use the Run Command to Run "eventvwr" and look at the error messages which according to them my server is putting out a lot of error messages. It showed I had over 8,000 error message on the FIC server on a newly restored clean install. They claimed they could fix the problem, but I obviously could not afford to pay them. They said they get the information from the master Windows Server that Microsoft feeds them. They were located in Santa Fe, New Mexico. I think they were talking through the internet, and I was tired, and I could not understand their broken English which seemed not to be their native language. They sounded like they were from India. CIO

Note: <888> 10/10/12 Wednesday 2:15 A.M. I am installing the Windows Updates on the FIC server. glass of diet www.coke.com and a cup of green tea with Splenda sweetener and Borden's lemon juice. CIO

Note: <888> 10/10/12 Wednesday 1:25 A.M. I installed the drivers and Logitech software on the three computers that I put the web cams on earlier. I installed the Windows Updates on nine of the computers except the FIC server. They all seem to be running just fine. I have 34 days to go on the Windows 8 demo on the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the mahogany bureau. CIO

I bought three Progresso 19 ounce hearty chicken noodle soup for .94 each and a Progresso 19 ounce chicken and rice soup for .94 for $3.76 total. I then went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought a six pack of Stop and Shop English muffins for $1, a six pack of Calise bulkie rolls for $3.49, a Boston Market 16 ounce meat loaf dinner for $2, a Boston Market 16 ounce turkey breast dinner for $2, a 8 ounce Stop and Shop parmesan and Romano grated cheese for $2.99, a 24 ounce Bob Evans mashed potatoes for $3, a 12 ounce package of Purdue chicken cutlets for $3.34, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $3.29, bananas for .79 a pound for $1.07, broccoli crowns for $1.99 a pound for $1.67, and a Bermuda red onion for $1.99 a pound for $1.57 for $25.42 total. I then went downtown, and I sat out briefly. Not much was going on, and Starbucks only had one regular customer and no one else. I then returned home, and I picked up the mail. Note: <888> 10/08/12 Monday 5:05 P.M. While I was asleep today, I had two no person fax calls. I finally woke up at 3:30 P.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a 12 ounce glass of watered down punch, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed. I did a Complete PC backup of both partitions of the primary work computer first hard drive to the third internal hard drive. CIO

Note: <888> 10/08/12 Monday 5:10 A.M. The FIC server was stopping because of some sort of conflict with the Netgear Storage Device. I turned off the Netgear Storage Device service on the FIC server for now, and that fixed the problem. I do not use it much on the FIC server. I ate a 8.5 ounce bag of 60% reduced fat Chex-Mix. I will now shut down the primary work computer, and I will go to bed soon. CIO

Note: <888> 10/08/12 Monday 3:55 A.M. I took the 3.75 year old Maxtor 320 gigabyte hard drive out of the primary work computer, although it still works, and I saved in a Seagate hard drive box without changing it. I put in a new 300 gigabyte Seagate PATA hard drive, and since I had shrunk the 320 hard drive before doing my most recent backup, I was able to restore my Completer PC backup from August 28, 2012. I installed the updates and recent changes. While I had the system opened, I installed the 320 gigabyte Maxtor hard drive from the Netgear Storage device temporarily and did a 1% low level format. I reinstalled it in the Netgear Storage device. When I rebooted Windows I had to reinstalled the Netgear storage device software, but it now works. For some reason the first partition was erased with the 1% low level format, but not the second partition. I then restored the FIC server backup, and I disabled McAfee Internet Security updates, so I am now able to transfer files through the network. I now have to transfer some files to the storage device. For some reason the FIC server turned off twice, but it should not be a software problem. I ate apple pastry. CIO

Note: <888> 10/07/12 Sunday 9:20 P.M. I tried to use the Netgear Storage device with the IBM ThinkCentre by the hallway, but it would not work. I tried to use it with the Epox computer and it caused the computer to crash. I had to change the LAN cable routing temporarily to try it. It leads me to believe there is something wrong with the Netgear Storage device, since neither of those computers have the McAfee firewall. I am backing up my server folder to the second hard drive on the Epox computer. I chatted with a relative. CIO

I bought four 18.5 ounce cans of Progresso New England clam chowder for 94 cents each for $3.76 total. On the way down Greenwich Avenue, I stopped by the new coffee shop "CFCF", and they told me a 8 ounce bag of their gourmet blend coffee costs $18. They were playing Frank Sinatra music, and it is a very nice ambience. I told them about McNulty's Tea & Coffee Co., Inc. down on Christopher street in Greenwich Village Manhattan. I finished my walk. I then went to the Stop and

I then went to the Stop and Shop. I bought a four pack of day old muffins for $2, a pound of Stop and Shop premium deli sliced ham for $4.99 a pound for $5.06, a pound of Stop and Shop premium deli sliced provolone cheese for $5.99 a pound for $6.14, a 16 ounce Boston Market beef steak and noodles dinner for $2, a 16 ounce Boston Market meat loaf dinner for $2, a 12 ounce package of Purdue chicken cutlets for $3.34, a 24 ounce package of Simply mashed potatoes for $2.50, and bananas for .79 a pound for .99 for $24.03 total. I put my groceries in the Audi, and then I went back in the store, and I used the bathroom. I bought broccoli crowns for $1.19 a pound for $1.15, and buy one get one free of 10.5 ounce Gorton's fish filets for $5.99 both for $7.14 total. I then went by the Putnam Shell at 401 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $12 of self service V-Power gasoline with a dime off with my Stop and Shop card for $4.619 a gallon for 2.597 gallons at odometer reading of 71429 miles for 30.1 miles driving since Monday October 1, 2012 for 11.591 miles per gallon in mostly local traffic. Note: <888> 10/06/12 Saturday 4:10 A.M. There is no report in the GreenwichTime.com - GreenwichTime about anything unusual happening in my building yesterday, so more than likely the diseased died of natural causes. The building where I live is for elderly and disabled individuals, so we have a higher rate of mortality than the average apartment building. About seven years ago, we had three people die in two weeks. As a long term resident since the building opened about 23 years ago, it is mostly like being the Maytag repairman. I do know the building was built around 1907, and was the Byram elementary school for many years. In in 1979, when I lived across the street for a couple of months at Putnam Green it was already shut down from what I recall. Thus the building was abandoned for a number of years until they paid $2.5 million to remodel it into public housing when I moved in about 23 years ago. Still it is an older building. About the only unusual thing I have known about besides asbestos problems is that over the years I have seen a number of unusual spiders including a large one about three inches in diameter that I saw on a tree outside the building this past summer. I am not sure if they are health hazards, but they could possibly be, and I don't know if anyone has looked into any unusual or dangerous spider sighting in the building or the area. CIO

Note: <888> 10/06/12 Saturday 3:30 A.M. All of our deja vue friends from Manhattan who had a good time out here this past summer have forsaken us for good times in their urban play grounds. I guess we could always tell them that the polar bears Polar Bears - Central Park Zoo escaped in the Central Park Zoo, and maybe some of them would come out here and visit us in our winter doldrums during the colder periods of the year. However, New Yorkers seem to think they know it all from the www.nytimes.com . CIO

Note: <888> 10/06/12 Saturday 3:05 A.M. I ate a 14 ounce Maria Callender honey roasted chicken dinner with a 12 ounce diet www.coke.com . I called up the answering service at the Greenwich Housing Authority at 1-203-869-1138, and I told them about the sticks in the outside doors. I called up a local pub in Manhattan where a friend of mine that owned stock in the World Trade Center used to go before "911", and I told him my friend no longer visits Manhattan, but I was told the Pub is still a lively place. Of course back up until 1982, when I used to live in Manhattan and visit Manhattan frequently, I only weighed 135 pounds, and I guess at 230 pounds, they would probably not want to see me with my pot belly. Also I no longer have my New York accent living out here in the wastelands of Connecticut, which most New Yorkers think are light years away, but at this hour of the morning it is only a 20 minute drive to get there, if you get my drift. They told me one can smoke outside on the steps of the Bar, but I guess they might even have wireless to use outside on the steps which is not a very inviting invitation from a city my family help start, that I can only smoke cigarettes on the steps of a bar, which out here I can do the same. They obviously do not like me in New Amsterdam, because I do not have any big time wampum. Of course some of my wealthier friends do not go to public places at their age, but only private clubs that one has to be invited to join. CIO

I noticed by the north end of the building where the security people were today, there were sticks that had been left on the sidewalk to prop open the door which was secure. I then gathered my laundry together. I chatted with another neighbor. I started two loads of wash, and I a few minutes to go on the wash cycles. I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature. The right door on the east end of the building had sticks propped in it to keep the door open slightly, when it was suppose to be closed. Note: <888> 10/05/12 Friday 9:10 P.M. I went out after the last note. I threw out the garbage. I noticed the Police Crime Scene truck was here with four detective cars. Apparently a disabled tenant had passed away, and they were investigating. I got depressed, when I found out whom it was, I called up a local walker, then I went downtown, and I chatted with a friend on my wireless telephone, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I stopped by the Greenwich Cigar store, and I bought a "Roll 'Em" scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I chatted with a few people downtown. I went by CVS, and I used the bathroom. I picked up a prescription. After my walk, I chatted with the local walker again. I then went by the Greenwich Library, and I chatted with a couple of staff members. I then returned home, and the detectives and crime scene truck was still here. I was told they had removed the body. Nobody knew if they should call a priest for "The Last Rights". I was told that they might do that anymore. I chatted with a relative and a friend. I ate a 14.5 ounce Marie Callender chicken pot pie with a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale. I also called up another security organization and another local.

When I first moved into my current apartment 23 years ago, and I was first becoming involved with home computers, I met Roger Schultz who was a software engineer for Schweppes beverages. He was a personal friend of Nancy Rockefeller, and he thought about moving into my building, but he became more prosperous. He lived across the street from www.abb.com in Stamford, Connecticut. He used to collaborate through the internet with someone from Vermont. Roger might not still be alive, since he weighed about 500 to 800 pounds, but he was a member of Christ Church here in Greenwich, Connecticut, so they might know if he is still around. Possibly he lost weight, so nobody recognizes him anymore. CIO

Note: <888> 10/01/12 Monday 11:05 P.M. On another more important detail, the internet activity that I am involved in evolved from the astronomy club BBS in Old Greenwich, Connecticut about 22 years ago, when I used to download free shareware programs from their computer bulletin board. I heard about 10 years ago Jimmy Bolster is now working at the astrophysics observatory in Argentina. When I was chatting with the unemployed homeless African American garbage truck driver from Hartford, Connecticut last night, I saw a "Shooting Star" about 10:20 P.M. EDT on September 30, 2012 in the northeast sky going from about 11 A.M. to 4 P.M. on a clock scale. Since that angle is near the ocean, if it did not burn up in the upper atmosphere, more than likely it probably landed in the Atlantic ocean. I would say it was at least 50 miles high when I saw it, and it was quite bright. Since I felt it was an omen from the Gods, I gave the truck driver $2 to get a cup of coffee, but he could have gotten dinner for that same price at www.mcdonalds.com on West Putnam Avenue. Note: <888> 10/01/12 Monday 1:30 P.M. I woke up at 9 A.M. this morning, when the Greenwich Housing Authority representative called about the ceiling replacement and insulation installation. I told them what I had been told last week. About 10 A.M., a relative called, and I had another telephone call. I went out and I talked to the ceiling replacement person, and he told me, he would give me at least a week's warning before he does my apartment. I chatted with neighbors downstairs. I chatted with a local security firm. I chatted about business with the Citizens bank on Greenwich Avenue. I chatted with a relative. I left a message with a friend. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a 12 ounce glass of watered down punch, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed. As far as I know, I have limited connections with the www.cia.gov . Basically we have been Bush neighbors since 1962, and we might have known them down south, before we moved here in June 1962. George H.W. Bush did run the C.I.A. in the early 1970s. I also had a classmate at www.lfc.edu whose father was in the O.S.S. during World War II. Jim Eldert's godfather was E. Howard Hunt. It is in the Charter of the C.I.A., they are not allowed to conduct operations within the United States of America. However, the other government security organizations and foreign governments obviously do so. Since the Bush family lived in Greenwich, Connecticut for a long time around the Harriman and Rockefeller groups, there are obviously a lot of government agents of some sort in this area. Most of them are democrats, so they do not like me, since I am a Republican Party member. That is pretty much all I know. We also use to be neighbors of Lowell Weicker who was a local Connecticut politician. The new younger generation of young Turks whom have taken over the politics in this country do not pay attention to me, since most of my life I kept busy working, and not playing politics. Also at the Taft School in Watertown, Connecticut, the Spanish language teacher Beezer Manning had been a C.I.A. agent in Brazil. Manning was President Taft's wife's family. My father Louis Dale Scott did know Ian Fleming who wrote the James Bond series of books and who was a British Intelligent agent. A local pharmacist in this area, told me I am running a C.I.A. safe house, but from what I know, no one has ever contacted me, besides someone from the www.army.mil who is long since retired. CIO

On the way up Greenwich Avenue, I toured CVS. On the way down Greenwich Avenue, I chatted with a homeless African American garbage truck drive from Hartford, Connecticut who was asking for money. I gave him $2 for coffee. As I was chatting with him, I saw a bright shooting star in the northeast sky above the Citizens Bank. He told me in Connecticut, they now charge $8 a night to stay in the homeless shelters. I told him about Waste disposal, Collection and Removal, Recycling Centers | Waste Management in Norwalk, Connecticut, if he needed a job driving a garbage truck. He said he had a class B driver's license. I then finished my walk. I sat out for a while. I then drove down by the waterfront on Steamboat Road, and there were a few fisherman out on the pier. <888> 11/28/12 Wednesday 9:55 P.M.. I chatted with a relative. With the HDMI cables I just got, I hooked up the two HDMI splitters to each of the two Optimum Digital Cable boxes. The HDMI splitters are powered by each of the two power strips that also power the HDTVs. Thus when both power strips in the living room and bedroom are turned on, one can get the living room cable box feed on the bedroom Sceptre 23 inch LCD TV using HDMI 3 input. On the living room Haier TV, one can get the bedroom digital cable box feed using HDMI 2 with the HDMI switch box on the nearby Harvard chair set to 3. Set to 2, it is the Memorex DVD player, and set to 1, it is the Sony BluRay player with streaming media device. It is a complex setup, but with lots of alternative inputs. One has to remember for the HDMI splitters to work, their power strips have to be turned on.

I will now shower and clean up. CIO

<888> 11/27/12 Tuesday 1:10 A.M.. I checked the mail, but I did not get any mail today. More than likely the people who rent in Greenwich, Connecticut through the Florida hurricane season will be leaving at the end of November 2012, so we will probably have a new group of more affluent cold weather people whom come down here to visit for our warmer winters compared to the real North country winters. <888> 11/26/12 Monday 7:50 P.M.. I explained to the young person from Hilton Head last night my recipe for oatmeal after I saw him buying cold cereal on sale at <http://www.cvs.com/> . I basically think I have put on a lot of weight eating oatmeal over the years. Horses eat oats, so it is probably good for one. I buy a 48 ounce container of Old Fashioned Welcome to Quaker Oats at the Stop and Shop for $4.99. To make it, I take a microwave proof bowl. I put in a half cup of Quaker Old Fashioned oatmeal and a little less than a cup of water. I then put the bowl in the microwave oven with a microwave lid on it, so it does not splatter, and I microwave it for 1 minute and 40 seconds. I then add generic honey to taste and a little bit of milk, and I mix it all up in the bowl. I then peel and slice a banana on to the cooked oatmeal. I no longer add cinnamon, because cinnamon gives one intestinal gas which is not user friendly. Over time, one will become as big as a horse. CIO

<888> 11/26/12 Monday 9:10 A.M.. I found a picture of Jim Eldert today (23) Jim Eldert on Facebook. He no longer looks like the Dutch Boy Paint Boy. One has to remember, Helen Kress Williams requested that we keep an eye on him back in 1973, when New York City had no energy. Obviously Jim would probably know his way around Florida today, but my perspective from the "Old Guard" days http://mikelouisscott.com/photo/old-florida-post-card-011506.jpg might not match with his. Of course I did live in Pensacola, Florida from 1954 to 1956, and I tried to return to Florida in 1976 through 1979 during the winters, but I was left starving to death, and after my last attempt to return back in February 1982, I decided I am much more comfortable living up north around my Nordic friends than living on oranges and yogurt and slimming down to 125 pounds. People in the North Country need more body fat to stay warm. However, from what I have read there are a few prosperous people left down in Florida John's Island Club , but I was thinking this morning after chatting with someone from Hilton Head about the alligators on the beach in Hilton Head that more than likely since Florida is further south, there are probably alligators on the beach in Florida, I just never noticed them. CIO

<888> 11/26/12 Monday 7:40 A.M.. I just woke up again, and I ate a piece of pumpkin pie with Cool Whip Lite. I am working on the Windows 8 machine. I hooked it up, so I can upload my notes through the network. The old primary work computer http://mikelouisscott.com/computer.htm is a bit slow for working on with the today's faster internet. Since it is Cyber Monday which does not mean much to people with low funding, I am not sure what I am suppose to do. It is easier to work with the Windows 8 computer with the keyboard in one's lap, since the keyboard is a bit high on the platform. I chatted with the regular at Starbucks last night who is from California. When I went out there about four times between 1978 and 1980, I knew Jim Eldert in Santa Cruz, California, but we were so disheveled by the time we arrived in California, he did not want to admit he knew us. Driving across country on limited funds is more than an adventure. During the last two trips to California in the summer and fall of 1980, I was put up during the summer trip for a few days by Vincent Butler in Santa Cruz, California. He had a presentable home. Also on that same trip Joel from Laguna Beach put me up for a couple of nights at his beach house and also during the fall trip with a friend, he also put us up for a night. Most of time in California on the previous trips and the fall trip, I had a car, so we slept in the car in various camp grounds up in the mountains overlooking the lowlands of the beach areas. Of course back then gasoline was 59 cents a gallon, and the 1971 yellow Subaru station wagon got about 52 miles per gallon and the 1971 Volvo 242 two door sedan probably got about 25 miles per gallon. As I recall the Volvo was not made in Sweden, but Belgium. I did see a lot of deluxe black Volvos in California with Lombard roofs which I had never seen back east. CIO

<888> 11/25/12 Sunday 11:25 P.M.. I went out after the last note. I threw out the garbage. I went by the Stop and Shop. I bought a six pack of Stop and Shop English muffins for $1.69, a 59 ounce container of Florida Natural orange mango juice for $2.79, a 16 ounce package of Smart Balance Lite for $3, a five quart box of Stop and Shop powdered milk for $5.99, and bananas for .79 a pound for $2.04 for $15.51 total. I then went to greater downtown Greenwich Avenue. I chatted with a local at <http://www.starbucks.com/>. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. The Greenwich Train station was opened at 9 P.M. which is unusual. I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone. They told me Downton Abbey was on Public television this evening. I do not know if it is new episodes or reruns. It says at <http://www.pbs.org/> that it is the third season or a new series. On the way up Greenwich Avenue, I toured CVS. They were restocking the store. I used the bathroom at CVS. While I was sitting out at the top of Greenwich Avenue, I chatted with a local walker. I was told there is a <http://www.cvs.com/> on every corner in Boston, where ever that is. I then finished my walk. It was not very busy out tonight. I guess people are cold. I then went by the Putnam Shell at 401 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $8.02 of self service premium gasoline for a dime a gallon off with my Stop and Shop card for $4.459 a gallon for 1.799 gallons at odometer reading of 71615 miles for 24.3 miles driven since Saturday November 17, 2012 for 13.508 miles per gallon in mostly local traffic. I then returned home. I chatted with a neighbor. I put away my groceries. CIO

<888> 11/25/12 Sunday 7:15 P.M.. I ate a bowl of sour cream and onion potato chips before going to bed. I woke up at 5 P.M., and I chatted with a relative. There was a cooking smoke alarm in the building, and the night custodian reset the alarm. I chatted with neighbors. Apparently a long time neighbor passed away on Thanksgiving Day. I chatted with a friend. My friend has relatives in Great Barrington, Massachusetts which Smithsonian Magazine says is the best small town in America. He goes deer hunting there every fall, and he has come down with Lyme Disease five times in the last ten years while deer hunting up there, so it might not be such a great small town. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a 12 ounce glass of watered down punch with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I will now shower and clean up. I will then go downtown for a walk. CIO

<888> 11/22/12 Thursday 1:25 P.M.. The dinner was delicious. Since I used a 12 ounce bag of stuffing instead of a 14 ounce bag of stuffing, I should have put two ounces of water in instead of five ounces of water in the recipe. Thus the stuffing was a bit moist. Also instead of using water, it tastes better with white wine. I refrigerated the left overs. I cleaned up the kitchen. I had to open the living room window while cooking, since the two rear electric burners which I normally never use, put out a bit of smoke at first. Also while cooking the Mrs. Smith's pumpkin pie, the Sharp convection oven quit half way through. I tried using the DeLonghi toaster oven, but it also put out a bit of smoke, since I never use it. I was able to get the Sharp Convection microwave oven working again to complete cooking the Mrs. Smith's pumpkin pie, which I will let cool. I threw out the garbage and said hello to neighbors. I chatted with two relatives. I will now take a nap. CIO

<888> 11/22/12 Thursday 11:10 A.M.. I am making Scott's Stuffing Recipe for Arnold Premium Stuffing, but instead of using white wine, I used 5 ounces of water, and I also added two chopped shallots, and I am using a 12 ounce bag of Pepperidge Farm cubic herb stuffing. I am also cooking two four ounce boxes of Reese's wild rice letting it simmer for 60 minutes. I am also have steamed chunks of sweet potato cut into fingerlings, baby carrots cuts into quarters lengthwise, asparagus cut at angle into one inch pieces and broccoli crowns with Smart Balance Spread and extra virgin olive oil on them. A half of a 16 ounce can of Ocean Spray cranberry sauce. six 3/8th inch thick slices of the Kentucky Legend precooked turkey breast which I will heat for 90 seconds in the microwave oven and I will put Heinz home style roasted turkey gravy on it with a half of a box of sliced mushroom in the two 12 ounce jars of gravy. I will eat it all with a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale and a cup of green tea with Splenda sweetener and Borden's lemon juice. I will start cooking the Mrs. Smith's pumpkin pie. CIO

<888> 11/22/12 Thursday 10:40 A.M.. I have the food ready for cooking. It should be all cooked in about 50 minutes. The wild rice takes 60 minutes to simmer. CIO

<888> 11/21/12 Wednesday 5:25 A.M.. Although I am interested in the English, in my travels to Europe, I have never visited the United Kingdom. Since I spoke English in Europe besides five years of high school French, I met a few English travelers in Europe, when I visited there. Before I moved to Greenwich, Connecticut area 50 years ago, my family had lived down south in Decatur, Alabama and Pensacola, Florida. Although there were not many English people around, my father was an executive with Chemstrand a synthetic fiber manufacturer, so he made frequent trips to the United Kingdom involved with the textile business, and he helped set up manufacturing facilities over there. In Greenwich, we knew people in the company who were stationed in the United Kingdom. Also in my first year at Greenwich Country Day, when we car pooled from Stamford, Connecticut, we used to drive with a British family that owned a computer software company. Back in those days, Greenwich was very Anglophile, and there were a lot of British sports cars around. At Taft in Watertown, Connecticut, my next door suite mate was from England, and at Lake Forest College, I had a friend from England and a good friend whose grandfather was from England. While living in Weston, Massachusetts, we were good friend with the Station Master for British Overseas Airline Company and his family. On my first trip to Nantucket, I traveled with one of his sons. On my first trip to Bermuda, I flew BOAC. While at Taft, we also used fake Bermuda draft cards and driver's licenses to buy liquor underage in New York. In Europe in my travel in 1972, I did meet quite a lot of people from England because there was a coal miner's strike in England, so a lot of English were traveling in southern Europe to avoid the cold. In Manhattan, when I lived there I met a lot of people from England with English connections, particularly, since one apartment I used was two blocks away from the British consulate. There were English in south Florida when I was down there and also in Nantucket. Since I have been back in Greenwich, Connecticut since December 1983, I have met a few British residents, but they tend to be private, and once I quit drinking alcohol about 25 years ago, I lost track of anyone that might frequent local pubs. When my father was at Polaroid, he did have Queen Elizabeth II's Award in Industry, for the manufacturing facilities he constructed over there. I did see Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip at Bloomingdale's Department store on July 5, 1976 during the Bicentennial Celebrations. From what I know, my mother is 100% Dutch American, and my father's family is Scott Irish American and English American with other European blood. CIO

<888> 11/21/12 Wednesday 5:05 A.M.. I woke up at 2 A.M., and I watched series 2 episode 10 of "Poirot". I tried to sleep some more, but I could not fall asleep. Yesterday morning, I ate a piece of pound cake, and just now I ate the last piece of pound cake with a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale. CIO

<888> 11/20/12 Tuesday 10:45 P.M.. CIO

<888> 11/20/12 Tuesday 9:45 P.M.. I put the folding cart back in the trunk of the Audi. I picked up the mail. I got my $20 Food Voucher at the Stop and Shop on West Putnam Avenue from the Department of Social Services. I have not planned on cooking a Thanksgiving meal, but maybe tomorrow, I will more inspired. I do not like eating leftovers for a few days after Thanksgiving, but I will see how motivated I feel tomorrow. Friends of mine said they might be coming out from Manhattan on Thanksgiving Day to visit other people and might want to go for a drive with me, but I have not heard from them yet. CIO

<888> 11/20/12 Tuesday 9:20 P.M.. I removed the packing from the Haier television. I attached the stand with the four screws that came with it. I placed it on the Danish bar in the living room. While placing it there, I broke the <http://www.forbes.com/> Highlander bar glass that I had bought many years ago in the Greenwich Hospital Thrift Shop for a few pennys. I hooked up the HDMI cable from the living room cable box to HDMI 1 and the coaxial cable. HDMI 1 works better than the Coaxial cable. For the Coaxial cable one sets the television channel at 3. I also hooked up the Composite Video cables from the bedroom cable box. On HDMI 2, I have the HDMI hub hooked up with the Memorex DVD player, the Sony BlueRay player with streaming media, and the HDMI input from the bedroom cable box which I will hook up, when I get the HDMI splitters. It all works just fine. I also hooked up the video input from the Epox computer video card and the Cambridge Sound Speaker System. The power to the Haier television and the Cambridge Sound speaker system turns on with the Phillips squid UPS power device beneath the television. One uses the Haier remote control to turn on the television. On switches the Cable Box channels with the Phillips universal remote control or the Cable Box remote control. I left it set at HDMI 1 for the living room cable box, and the HDMI 2 splitter is set for the BlueRay Sony streaming media device. I stored the Haier shipping box in front of the bedroom desk, and I will have to get rid of it some time soon, since it is quite large. There is a 30 return warranty with Amazon and Haier has a one year warranty on parts and labor. I have to register it with Haier for the warranty. Thus with the Input button on the Haier remote control, one can change to the various Inputs available on the Haier television. I set it up with its defaults in the Menu setup. There is no need to do a channel scan, since it is controls by Digital Cable boxes. I chatted with a relative. CIO

I disconnected the 22 inch Sceptre LCD television from the Danish bar in the living room, and I put it on the sideboard in the bedroom. I connected its power to a power strip on the Rubbermaid hamper that one can turn on and off. I also connected the set of Labtec speakers from the first IBM ThinkCentre to the Sceptre LCD TV, and they come on with the same power strip. I have it hooked up to the Cablevision Digital Cable box and the Sony Streaming media device with six foot HDMI cables. Thus it is all set up. I moved the Black and Decker dust buster from the sideboard to the top of the Rubbermaid hamper. I left the Cablevision, Sceptre, and Sony Streaming media device remote controls at the base of the Sceptre television. I moved the generic Staples speakers from the Dell Latitude 4600i computer in the bedroom to the first IBM ThinkCentre. the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I made up a fresh batch of punch. I chatted with a friend. The friend said he might be able to come over and visit and take one or two of the old televisions off my hands which would help me in getting rid of them. I was thinking of putting the new Haier LCD television on the Danish bar in the living room hooked up they way I have the Sceptre 22 inch LCD TV hooked up. I would leave the Sony 24 inch CRT Trinitron television where it is. I would move the Sceptre 22 inch LCD television into the bedroom, and I would get rid of the Orion television and possibly the Sony Trinitron 27 inch television in the bedroom. However, my friend always says he might visit but never shows up, in which case I would have all three televisions in the bedroom. This seems close to the model number television that I bought 32-inch 720p LCD HDTV | L32B1120 | Haier America , and it shows its inputs which I would need to connect up my current setup. To hook up both LCD televisions to the bedroom Digital Cable Box along with the living room Digital Cable box for the Haier LCD TV, I ordered three 6 Feet High Speed HDMI Cable Male to Male Digital A/V Cable, 30 AWG Cable, Gold Plated Connectors, Category 2 Certified, Support 1080P True HD Resolution and 3D, Wholesale Volume Discount Available for $7.99 with free shipping, and 25 Feet HDMI TO HDMI A/V Cable For HDTV and PlayStation 3 for $9.99 with free shipping and I bought two Amazon.com: Etekciti HDMI 1x2 3D Amplified splitter v1.3 HDCP 2 ports swither PS3 XBOX360 DVD Blu-ray: Electronics for $15.12 each for $30.24 total with free shipping on over $25 order. <888> 11/14/12 Wednesday 11:30 P.M.. To send the third IBM ThinkCentre files through the network to the FIC server, I disconnected the Netgear storage device from the Dynex router, and I connected the third IBM ThinkCentre. However with it not connected to the Netgear switch box which is connected to the Trendnet Router which is connected to the Dynex router, I can not print out on the Lexmark E238 laser printer on the network from the third IBM ThinkCentre. However, the only time I usually print is for an order receipt which is not very often anymore. If I need to print from the third IBM ThinkCentre, I can switch its LAN cable at the Dynex router to the Netgear switch box real quickly. I only use the Netgear Storage device to store files which I can only do from the Vista partition on the primary work computer. The CVS black leather chair has a 215 pound weight limit, and I weigh 230 pounds, so I hope it does not collapse on me. Still it is a lot easier to work with Windows 8 Pro on the third IBM ThinkCentre, since it is a lot faster. I can backup files also to a USB pen drive, but the IBM ThinkCentre computers that I have will not boot with a USB pen drive installed, so one has to install the USB pen drive after booting. CIO

<888> 11/14/12 Wednesday 11:00 P.M.. I woke up at 2:30 P.M. this afternoon. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a 12 ounce glass of watered down punch, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed.

On the primary work computer on the first partition, the Vista Windows updates would not work, and I could not get it working. I restored my October 8, 2012 backup, and Windows update still would not work. I then restored my January 17, 2012 external drive backup, and the Vista Windows update still would not work. I showered, and I cleaned up while doing that. I threw out the garbage, and I picked up the mail. I chatted with a relative. I configured the changes in the primary computer Vista partition, and I am now installing the updates on the Windows 7 partition, and then I have to restore any new files and other programs I added since January 17, 2012. I installed Microsoft Money 2007 on the Windows 8 partition on the third IBM ThinkCentre, and then I installed FrontPage 2002, and Filezilla. I also installed Hotmail and Gmail on its Mail applet from this link How To Add Gmail To Windows 8 Mail . One can not install a pop server with it though, but I have the Microsoft Live Essential email program on it. Thus I can work from the third IBM ThinkCentre with Windows 8, if I chose to do so like now. I moved the CVS black leather office chair from the second Dell Latitude D410 laptop to in front of the third IBM ThinkCentre along side the Ethan Allen recliner. I move the wooden chair from in front of the Epox computer to my primary eating place. I moved the wooden chair from there to the in front of the second Dell Latitude D410 laptop computer. Earlier today, I installed the Windows updates on the FIC server and rebooted it. I went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought a six pack of Stop and Shop English muffins for $1.49, Stop and Shop deli sliced premium ham for $4.99 a pound for $5.14, deli sliced Stop and Shop white American cheese for $5.99 a pound $6.02, and bananas for .79 a pound for $1.69 for $14.34 total. I then went downtown, and I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. It was not very busy. They have pretty much finished tearing down the old Thataway restaurant building. I stopped by Starbucks, and I used the bathroom, and I chatted with a regular. I stopped by CVS, and I bought three .75 ounce Gold Emblem Italian spices for $1 each and a .75 ounce Gold Emblem oregano for $1 and a 40 count box of Lipton green tea bags for $3 for $7 total. I then bought a 20 count package of CVS AA alkaline batteries for $3.99 and a 20 count package of CVS AAA alkaline batteries for $3.99 and .51 tax for $8.49 total. I then finished my walk. <888> 11/11/12 Sunday 3:45 A.M.. I chatted with a relative earlier. I installed and configured Windows 8 Pro on the second partition on the third IBM ThinkCentre by the Ethan Allen recliner. It seems to work just fine. I did not put Microsoft Money 2007 on it, since although it worked on the beta machine, the download test file said it would not work with Windows 8. I also had to download the Windows 7 drivers for the MSI ATI 128MB X600 Pro PCI-E Express x16 DVI VGA video card. The Windows 8 Pro DVD video driver did not support two monitors. However, the Netflix applet does not work with the ATI drivers, so perhaps there will be an upgraded driver in the future. I also installed the SIIG IC-510012-S2 5.1 audio card drivers and the TrendNet driver for the Trendnet Router USB print server. Also the Lexmark E238 driver that came with the Windows 8 Pro DVD did not work like in the beta, but the Lexmark download does. There are probably a lot of features in Windows 8 that I have not discovered yet. I am backing it up with the backup program from the first partition operating system backing up both partitions to the Rosewell external hard drive. I probably will not be using it very much, since it is not my primary work computer, but I have it setup for demonstration purposes if anyone is ever interested in it from my point of view. CIO

I have lived here on and off for fifty years. One of the unique oddities about Greenwich, Connecticut is that we have no Judicial Courts except for parking court. All Judicial proceeding are held in nearby Stamford, Connecticut. Yet when we vote in our local elections, we are not allowed to vote for the Judges, District Attorneys, Prosecutors, and Sheriffs in our area. <888> 11/08/12 Thursday 11:55 P.M.. Town of Greenwich Final Storm Update, Thursday, November 8, 2012:

Good evening. This is the final update on Hurricane Sandy and Winter Storm Athena from the Town of Greenwich. Today is Thursday, November 8th.

The Town's declared state of emergency was rescinded by First Selectman Tesei effective at 4:00 pm today. After over 11 days of full-time operation, the Town's Emergency Operations Center has been closed. The remaining emergency shelter at the Eastern Middle School has been shut down and the school has resumed classes. Power has been restored to all but eleven (11) Greenwich CL&P customers. Gasoline Filling Station lines are lessening as the fuel supply to the New York metropolitan area normalizes.

Volunteers from the American Red Cross will be distributing kits containing a mop, broom, gloves, disinfectant, trash bags and other items that can be used to clean up homes affected by water and debris on Saturday, November 10th from Noon until 2:00 pm at the Cos Cob and Sound Beach firehouses. As always, all items of assistance are provided by the Red Cross free of charge to those in need.

The police department would like to take this opportunity to remind residents not to become complacent now that the worst is over. Prepare for the next event by creating a disaster kit and having a family emergency plan. Tips on disaster planning can be found on the American Red Cross website.

Residents who wish to engage in Halloween Trick-or-Treating are encouraged to do so this Sunday, November 11th, from 4 pm to 8pm. The weather is forecast to be absolutely perfect. For safety's sake please have small children home before dark.

Weather events of the last ten days, which claimed dozens of lives right next door in New York, resulted in no deaths or serious injuries in the Town of Greenwich. We have persevered through what could easily have been a catastrophe. While the planning and leadership displayed by local government officials certainly played no small part in our success, there are two groups who should be held out for special recognition. The frontline Public Works employees, municipal parks and tree workers, utility company line crews, firefighters, EMTs and police officers who, quite literally, wore the "boots on the ground" during this event all deserve our heartfelt thanks.

Additionally however, Greenwich residents should thank each other. That we can rely on our community to come together, to check on that elderly neighbor who hasn't had power for a few days, to help each other and in some cases, to save each other, was critical to our collective success. Going forward, we should all endeavor to take that same commitment to community and rather than permit it to blow away with the storm, leverage it to improve our shared circumstance. Meet your neighbors, patronize a local business, donate to a Town charity or volunteer with a civic group. The strength of our community has saved us once and it can save us again.

Residents will be updated via this same system the next time an emergency occurs. Until then, please remain civil and stay safe.

Town of Greenwich Message, Wednesday, November 7, 2012:

Good afternoon. This message is being sent on behalf of First Selectman Peter Tesei. It contains a weather advisory concerning the Nor'easter hitting our area today.

The first named Winter Storm of the season – Athena – is expected to increase in intensity as it moves into our region this afternoon and overnight. The latest forecast models show an extended period of high winds and potentially moderate flooding in low lying areas. High tides will occur in Greenwich Harbor at 5:01 PM tonight and 5:35 AM tomorrow morning. Obviously these will be the most critical periods for storm surge- related flooding which may be several feet over normal. Keep in mind that Hurricane Sandy has damaged many sea walls and in some areas changed the outline of coastal areas and inlets. The high tide flooding we are all accustomed to during previous storms may be very different with Winter Storm Athena. A voluntary evacuation of immediate coastal areas is being encouraged. The emergency shelter at the Eastern Middle School remains open on a 24-hour basis.

Winds will intensify after dark and are forecast to reach 25-30 MPH sustained speeds with gusts between 45 and 60 MPH. With many trees and structures already compromised by damage from Hurricane Sandy, there is significant potential for wind-related damage. Please remain indoors during the storm - especially during periods of high winds.

The Town's Emergency Operations Center will remain open throughout this weather event. The Town has requested that utility companies, including Connecticut Light and Power, keep resources already in Town here to make emergency repairs if required.

Residents are advised to monitor local media outlets for up to date forecast information. WGCH Radio – AM1490 will remain on the air throughout the storm.

If you must be outdoors, exercise extreme caution and be wary of road conditions. Debris remains on many portions of the right-of-way from Hurricane Sandy.

Additional announcements will be made via this same system as warranted.

Please remain calm, stay indoors and keep safe.

End of Message:

Town of Greenwich Message, Tuesday, November 6, 2012:

Good evening. This is the daily update on Hurricane Sandy recovery efforts for Election Day, Tuesday, November 6th. Please don't forget to vote.

The Town remains in a declared state of emergency and the Emergency Operations Center remains open. As of this evening, all but 5% of Connecticut Light and Power customers in Town remain without service. Even though we are down to 5%, hundreds of CL&P crews remain dedicated to power restoration in Greenwich.

Temperatures tonight are expected to be very cold again tonight. If you are without power or heat, the shelter at Eastern Middle School remains open on a 24-hour basis. Please feel free to come to the shelter.

The Nor'easter scheduled to arrive in our area tomorrow night into Thursday seems to be diminishing in strength. While some wind gusts may still be strong, the likelihood of extremely cold temperatures and flooding potential seem reduced. Obviously that's a good thing – if for no other reason than all of us here at the Emergency Operations Center could really use some sleep.

While the Police Department has not yet had any fraud-related complaints, we want to remind everyone that there are always opportunistic criminals out there looking to victimize people after disasters. You should only give money to established national charities or local charity groups with whom you have already established a relationship. Avoid in-person and telephone solicitations from home repair contractors you've never heard of or who claim to be affiliated with a state or federal disaster relief agency. Always ask contractors for their Connecticut Home Improvement Contractor Registration Number and check the number by calling the Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection at 1-800-842-2649 or checking their website at ct.gov/dcp. Never pay cash for repairs. Legitimate contractors will neither ask for nor expect payment in cash. If you need a contractor ask your neighbors for someone they know is reliable or ask your insurance company for a referral.

The Holly Hill Lane Transfer Station will be open tomorrow and residents may dispose of their own storm-related organic debris at no cost. Commercial landscapers and haulers are still required to pay normal fees.

Gasoline Filling Station lines are lessening as the fuel supply to the New York metro area begins to improve. The Police Department continues to monitor this situation closely.

Schools will be open tomorrow, November 7th. There remain many partial street obstructions and sidewalk obstructions in Town. If your child rides the bus or if you drive your child to school, please allow extra time. If your child walks to school, we encourage you to go with your child tomorrow to help ensure the walking route is safe or, at minimum, reinforce to your child he or she should avoid any downed wire and about how to safely navigate sidewalk obstructions.

As a reminder, the Town is suggesting that those residents who wish to engage in Halloween Trick-or-Treating do so this Sunday, November 11th from 4 to 8 pm. With the time change and the early onset of darkness, we are encouraging children to get out early and return home before dark.

Residents will be updated via this same system tomorrow evening. Until then, please be patient, remain civil, keep warm and stay safe.

I tested the computers that I moved around, and they all work just fine. <888> 11/06/12 Tuesday 5:25 P.M.. I threw out the garbage. I drove over to the New Lebanon school, and I voted straight line Republican Party. I donated a dollar to the United States Military police German Shepard dogs from Afghanistan rescue fund. I then drove over to downtown Greenwich Avenue. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. They are in the process of tearing down the old Thataway restaurant building. It is about half way torn down. They will be building a new three story shops and condominium building at that location. I chatted with a local walker. I used the bathroom at the Senior and the Arts center. I toured CVS. After my walk, I sat out for a while. I then drove over to the Greenwich Library, and I read <http://www.pcworld.com/> magazine. I toured the DVD collection on the second floor. I checked out "Windows 8 for Dummies". I then went by the Stop and Shop, and I bought a quart of Stop and Shop lemon juice for $2.29, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $3.29, bananas for .79 a pound for .96 and broccoli crowns for $1.99 a pound for $1.01 for $7.55 total. They do not have any one pound DAK or Plumrose canned hams. I was told that Port Chester, New York had some minor flooding downtown. Rye, New York still does not have electrical power. On the way home, I noticed the Shell Station and the Mobil station on West Putnam Avenue have no gasoline lines, and they are opened. The police are still at the Shell station to monitor the situation. I picked up my mail, and I put away the groceries. I chatted with a friend. Lots of areas in Long Island still have no electricity. Recently at the Stop and Shop, I have noticed, they have little packages of two sealed filet mignons for $15.99 a pound, sea scallops for $13.99 a pound, and fresh lobster sandwiches for $5.99. Town of Greenwich message, Monday, November 5, 2012:

Good evening. This is Captain Mark Kordick of the Town of Greenwich Police Department with the daily update on Hurricane Sandy recovery efforts for Monday, November 5th from the Town's Emergency Operations Center.

The Town remains in a declared state of emergency and the Emergency Operations Center is open. As of this evening, 19% of Connecticut Light and Power customers in Town remain without service. At total of 170 line crews, 80 tree crews and 31 pole set crews are at work in Greenwich. CL&P still cannot provide a solid timetable for complete restoration of all service in Greenwich.

Temperatures tonight are expected to be near or slightly below freezing. The shelter at Eastern Middle School remains open on a 24-hour basis. If you are without power and heat, there is no reason to remain at home, in the dark and be cold. Please feel free to come to the shelter.

A Nor'easter is scheduled to arrive in our area Wednesday night into Thursday. We are watching this storm closely in the Emergency Operations Center. Wind gusts up to 60 MPH are considered possible along the coast. A storm surge 3 to 5 feet above normal is predicted but fortunately, the astronomical tides are low this week. Still, some local flooding may be possible, and with Sandy leaving so many compromised trees and structures behind, the winds may be problematic. Please watch the forecast and be prepared for this weather event – especially if wind or flooding predictions worsen.

Carbon Monoxide poisoning is a real danger. Never use generators indoors or allow them to run near open doors or windows. Never allow vehicles to run inside garages, even with the garage door open. Never use a stove or oven for heat.

Please do not leave debris, wood or leaf piles on any part of the Town right of way or on the paved portion of any street. Not only is it unsafe for pedestrians, motorists and emergency vehicles, it is discourteous to your neighbors, and most importantly, it is illegal. For those of you looking to do something to assist your community's first responders, not obstructing streets with debris is really very, very helpful to us.

The Holly Hill Lane Transfer Station will be open tomorrow from 7am to 4pm and residents may dispose of their own storm-related organic debris at no cost. Commercial landscapers and haulers are still required to pay normal fees.

As a reminder, schools are closed tomorrow for Election Day. All polling places in Greenwich will be open. Please take the time to come out and vote.

And now the news everyone is anxious to hear: The Town is suggesting that those residents who wish to engage in Halloween Trick-or-Treating do so this Sunday, November 11th from 4 to 8 pm. With the time change and the early onset of darkness, we are encouraging children to get out early and return home before dark.

If you are cold and have no power or if you need water, food or other essential assistance, please feel free to call the Greenwich Police Department's non-emergency number at 203-622-8000 for help.

Residents will be updated via this same system tomorrow evening. Until then, please be patient, remain civil, keep warm and stay safe.

Town of Greenwich message, Sunday, November 4, 2012:

Good evening. This is the daily update on Hurricane Sandy recovery efforts for Sunday, November 4th from the Town's Emergency Operations Center.

The Town remains in a declared state of emergency. As of this evening, 27% of Greenwich's Connecticut Light and Power customers remain without service. At total of 165 line crews, 59 tree crews and 29 pole set crews are at work, in Greenwich. The universal time provided by CL&P for 95% restoration to all customers statewide is tomorrow or Tuesday.

We are forecast to have another very cold evening. The shelter at Eastern Middle School remains open on a 24-hour basis. Warm showers are also available there. Please bring your own towel and toiletries. The Western Greenwich Civic Center and Greenwich Libraries will be open during regular hours to serve as warming centers and for cell phone charging.

Please do not use unsafe alternate heating sources in your home. We have already experienced a house fire in Greenwich as the result of an unsafe alternate heat source. Never use generators indoors. Never use a stove or oven for heat. Keep in mind that some smoke detectors or carbon monoxide alarms will not work without power.

Please do not leave storm debris on any part of the Town right of way. Never leave downed wood, limbs, leaves or debris on the paved portion of any street. Not only is it unsafe for pedestrians, motorists and emergency responders, it is discourteous to your neighbors, and most importantly, it is illegal. For those of you looking to do something to help your community's first responders, not obstructing streets with debris is a great way to start.

The Holly Hill Lane Transfer Station will be open with extended hours on Monday and Tuesday from 7am to 4pm and continues to accept storm-related organic debris from residents for free.

After careful analysis of remaining road closures, sidewalk obstructions, wires down and other hazards, on consultation with Town of Greenwich Public Safety officials, the Superintendent has decided that all Greenwich public schools will remain closed tomorrow, Monday, November 5th. Schools are already scheduled to be closed to students on Tuesday, November 6th for Election Day. Normal Teacher and Staff Development activities scheduled for Tuesday are scheduled to proceed normally.

A decision on a rescheduled date for school Halloween parties and townwide trick-or-treating, if any, has been deferred as Town Officials watch the forecast for Wednesday's developing Nor'easter.

All Greenwich polling places will be open for Tuesday's election. Do not forget to vote.

If you are cold and have no power or if you need water, food or other essential assistance, please feel free to call the Greenwich Police Department's non-emergency number at 203-622-8000 for help.

Residents will be updated via this same system tomorrow evening. Until then, please be patient, remain civil, keep warm and stay safe.

Town of Greenwich message, Saturday, November 3, 2012:

Good evening. This is the November 3rd update on Hurricane Sandy recovery efforts from the Town's Emergency Operations Center.

The Town remains in a declared state of emergency. 39% of Greenwich Connecticut Light and Power customers remain without electric service. Municipal officials, including First Selectman Tesei entertained a high level meeting with CL&P executives this afternoon in an effort to facilitate restoration efforts. As of this evening, a total of 182 CL&P power restoration line crews and 50 tree and debris crews are at work, in Greenwich, dedicated to restoration efforts. CL&P continues to logically prioritize work by selecting work locations based on returning service to the highest number of customers with the lowest number of crew hours required to affect that particular repair. No restoration prediction has been provided specific to Greenwich. The CL&P statewide prediction remains 95% restoration by Monday or Tuesday.

Power has been restored to all Town of Greenwich polling places and no power-related interference with Tuesday's election is anticipated. Please come out and vote.

Greenwich Libraries and the Western Greenwich Civic Center remain in normal daytime operation to serve as warming centers and cellphone charging locations.

A cold front is anticipated to move through tonight and overnight temperatures will drop into the 30's. If you are cold because your home has no heat, please come to the Eastern Greenwich Civic Center shelter at 51 Hendrie Avenue in Riverside. It remains in 24-hour operation. There really is no reason to stay at home and be cold.

Please do NOT attempt to heat your home with unsafe alternate heat sources. Greenwich First Responders had to respond today to a home in the Back Country when a halogen heat lamp, powered by a portable generator was knocked over by a pet and started a fire. The home sustained major damage. Do not use stoves or ovens for heat. Please keep in mind that without power, some smoke and carbon monoxide detectors may not work. Fire safety is paramount during power outages.

The Holly Hill Lane transfer station will be open from 10 am to 4 pm tomorrow and 7 am to 4 pm on Monday and Tuesday. As always, residents may dispose of storm-related organic material there free of charge. The front gate remains closed due to storm damage. What is the normal exit on Muskrat Pond Drive must be used for both entry and exit.

Do not leave storm debris on any part of the Town right of way. Never leave downed wood, limbs, leaves or debris on the paved portion of any street. Not only is it unsafe for pedestrians, motorists and emergency responders and discourteous to your neighbors, most importantly, it is illegal. Quite frankly, with all we have to do right now, the Police Department would rather not have to spend our time issuing citations to residents over highway nuisances.

A decision on school re-openings and the rescheduled date for Halloween-trick-or-treating will be made by 2:00 pm tomorrow.

If you are cold and have no power or if you need water, food or other essential assistance, please feel free to call the Greenwich Police Department's non-emergency number at 203-622-8000 for help.

Residents will be updated via this same system tomorrow evening. Until then, please be patient, remain civil, keep warm and stay safe.

I then bought two 7 ounce bags of Cheese Combos for $1.50 each, and two 19 ounce cans of Campbell's Roadhouse chili for $2 each and one Campbell's 19 ounce Roadhouse chili with stead for $2 for $9 total. I used the bathroom at CVS. After my walk, I sat out for a while. I chatted with someone at Starbucks. I then drove east on East Putnam

Avenue. All of the gasoline stations to the Stamford border were closed except the Shell Station across from Whole Foods. At the Getty station at the entrance to Old Greenwich there were about a 100 people standing in line waiting to fill up gasoline cans, but cars were not allowed. I went by the Hyatt Hotel, and I toured the Hotel Lobby. It was quite busy. The utility trucks for fixing the electrical grid were parked there. I then drove back to downtown Greenwich, and I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I chatted with another local. I then went back by the Shell Station across from Whole Foods, but they were closed. I then went by the Shell Station on West Putnam Avenue which was out of gasoline, and I was told by another person that the Round Hill Service Center was pumping gasoline, but they did not know where it was. I told them to follow me. I drove back east on West Putnam Avenue to the Greenwich Library, and I turned north on Lake Avenue for about two miles, and then I turned left on to Round Hill Road for about four miles to the Round Hill Service Center. I filled up the tank with full service premium Gulf gasoline for $38.01 for $4.599 a gallon for 8.265 gallons at odometer reading of 71544 miles for 93.3 miles driving since Sunday October 14, 2012 for 11.289 miles per gallon in mostly local traffic. The credit card machine was not working at the Round Hill Service center, so customers have to pay cash. I then returned back down Round Hill Road, and I stopped by the Shell Station on West Putnam Avenue, and I told them the Round Hill Service station had gasoline and no line. The Round Hill Service center told me, they might stay open for a while later. I then drove by the Exxon gasoline station on the Port Chester border, and there were about 150 cars lined up. I then returned home. It is about 7 miles from my apartment in Byram to the Round Hill Service Center. However, it is very dark driving in back country. I was told they now have power on Round Hill Road, but one could see a lot of large fallen trees. CIO

<888> 11/03/12 Saturday 5:30 P.M.. I closed the living room windows. I forgot to turn on my wireless internet during this emergency. I just turned it on, so it is available to anyone with range. It is unsecured, so I hope anyone whom uses it, does not abuse it, if they should I will have to turn it off. CIO

<888> 11/03/12 Saturday 5:15 P.M.. I took the two <http://www.army.mil/> extreme cold weather sleeping bags good to minus 30 degrees Fahrenheit out of storage, and I put them behind the Ethan Allen recliner in the living room. I keep them around the apartment in case I ever lose the electric heat in the winter. I moved from the bedroom the two DeLonghi oil filled radiators, and I put one behind and to the left of the primary work computer chair in the living room, and I put another one to the left of the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the mahogany bureau in the living room. It usually does not get cold enough in the apartment to use them, but I have used them in the past on extreme cold days. About four years ago, it was zero degrees Fahrenheit here during the first week of December. It is going down to 35 degrees Fahrenheit here tonight. CIO

<888> 11/03/12 Saturday 4:40 P.M.. I took the air conditioner out of the center living room window. I put the window blank back in the window and secured it with a nut driver and star bit. I stored the air conditioner underneath the sitting chair at the hallway entrance. While I had the screen off, I put two new AA alkaline batteries in the Oregon Scientific weather station sending unit, which should be fully charged for the cold winter coming ahead. The far right dryer does not work with the far left dry button, but it works with the middle and far right buttons. I picked up the mail. I was told the Riverside Mobil and the exit 5 Mobil gas stations have short gas lines of less than 10 minutes, but it costs $6 in gasoline for me to dry over there and back. CIO

<888> 11/03/12 Saturday 1:50 P.M.. I showered, and I cleaned up. I chatted with neighbors. The building elevator is broken. I started two loads of laundry, and I am just about to start the dry cycles. I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature. I watered the plants. CIO

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 11:30 P.M.. Town of Greenwich report, Friday November 2, 2012:

Good evening. This is the Friday, November 2nd update on Hurricane recovery efforts from the Town's Emergency Operations Center.

The Town remains under a declared state of emergency. The Town's Emergency Operations Center remains open on a full-time basis. Road clearing, debris removal and general recovery efforts remain on-going.

49% of Greenwich residents remain without electric power. Fifty (50) two-man line crews arrived in Greenwich this afternoon from Quebec, Canada, bringing the total number of Connecticut Light and Power restoration crews assigned by CL&P to work in Greenwich to 127 multiple-worker crews. All but one (1) Town of Greenwich polling location have had power restored. The remaining location is scheduled to have power restored in time for Election Day. While no specific timetable for complete power restoration in Greenwich has been provided, CL&P has indicated that they anticipate 95% power restoration statewide by Monday or Tuesday.

It's turning colder – especially at night. A 24-hour shelter location remains established at the Eastern Middle School. The Western Greenwich Civic Center will also be staffed by Red Cross volunteers as a drop-in warming station and cellphone charging location during the Civic Center's normal, daytime operating hours. Other places happy to charge cellphones include Greenwich Library or any of its branch locations which have all reopened.

For residents without power, drinking water and pre-packaged cold meals will be distributed this evening until 8:00 pm at the Banksville and Sound Beach Avenue firehouses.

With gasoline and diesel fuel shortages in New York and New Jersey, we have seen a large influx of motorists traveling to Connecticut for fuel. Some gasoline filling stations are experiencing long lines – especially those near the I-95 corridor. Greenwich Police resources have been deployed to manage this situation. This condition is temporary and we have been assured by State officials that the actual regional wholesale supply of gasoline remains abundant.

Greenwich Point remains closed until further notice. Byram Park is partially open with limited access. Some previously issued permits for open field use will be honored this weekend, however all fields will be in their post-storm condition. With all of the on-going disaster-related work, no Parks personnel are available to prepare, maintain or groom fields for play.

The Transfer Station will operate with extended hours this weekend to accommodate storm clean-up efforts. They will be open 8 to 4 tomorrow, 10 to 4 on Sunday and 7 to 4 on Monday and Tuesday. Greenwich residents are reminded that storm-related organic debris may be disposed of at the Holly Hill transfer station at no cost.

A decision concerning school openings next week and the rescheduled date of both school Halloween parties and townwide trick-or-treating will be made no later than Sunday at 2:00 pm.

If you don't have power or heat and need to warm up or get a meal, please don't be shy about taking advantage of the services available. If you are unsure about what to do or what services are available, please feel free to contact the Greenwich Police Department's non-emergency number at 203-622-8000. Another update announcement will be made tomorrow evening. Until then, please remain patient and act safely.

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 11:25 P.M.. Town of Greenwich report, Thursday November 1, 2012:

Good evening. This is the November 1st update on Hurricane recovery efforts from the Town's Emergency Operations Center.

The Town remains under a declared state of emergency. The Town's Emergency Operations Center remains open on a full-time basis. Road clearing efforts remain on-going. Most, but not all, primary roads have been re-opened.

56% of Greenwich residents remain without electric power. Town of Greenwich officials, met with the president of Connecticut Light and Power and other executives today, at the Town of Greenwich Public Safety Complex in an effort to ensure that the Town is doing everything it can to both support CL&P's restoration efforts and leverage as many restoration resources as possible. By tomorrow morning, a total of 53 two-man line crews should be at work in Greenwich.

As the number of residents requiring shelter services decreases, effective tomorrow, 24-hour overnight shelter operations will be consolidated at the Eastern Middle School shelter location. The Western Greenwich Civic Center shelter will remain open during daytime hours as a reception center for residents who would like to get out of the cold, charge electronic devices or enjoy a small snack. Tomorrow, Friday, November 2nd, the Western Greenwich Civic Center shelter will be open from 7:30 am to 9:30 pm. The Eastern Middle School shelter will remain open on a 24-hour basis until it is no longer required.

The Greenwich Fire Department would like to remind residents NOT to try to heat their homes by turning on gas stoves or using other unsafe alternate heating sources. Unsafe alternate heat sources can start fires or emit dangerous amounts of carbon monoxide. If your home is without power, some types of smoke detectors or carbon monoxide detectors may not work. Fire safety is paramount during power outages.

The Health Department is recommending all residents keep food safety in mind over the coming days. If your power has been out for an extended period, food in refrigerators and freezers is likely to have spoiled. If your power comes back, do not refreeze thawed food.

Announcements and reminders:

- Schools are closed tomorrow, Friday, November, 2nd. A decision concerning school openings next week and the rescheduled date of both school Halloween parties and townwide trick-or-treating will be made no later than Sunday at 2:00 pm.
- When driving, be aware that some traffic signals remain without power. Under Connecticut state law, any intersection with a disabled traffic signal is to be navigated like an all-way stop intersection. Motorists are required to stop completely and yield to traffic on the right.
- All Town Parks and Beaches remain closed until further notice.
- Greenwich Libraries, have reopened. They are happy to provide power for recharging cellphones and electronic devices.

It's getting chilly at night. If you don't have power or heat and need to warm up or get a meal, please take advantage of the services available. If you are unsure about what to do or what services are available, feel free to contact the Greenwich Police Department's non-emergency number at 203-622-8000. downtown, and I sat out for a while. I chatted with a regular at Starbucks. Starbucks was busy with people using the wireless internet. I did not notice if anyone was buying coffee. I then went by Whole Foods Market | Whole Foods Market , and I bought a Costa Rican pineapple for $3.99 and a Bermuda onion for $1.49 a pound for .67 for $4.66 total. Whole Foods is fully stocked, and the store seemed normal from my perspective, but it is more expensive than the other grocery stores that are without food. I noticed on my way back home both the Shell Stations on East Putnam Avenue and West Putnam Avenue had long lines of motorists waiting to buy gasoline. Earlier I had checked out Peabody's garage on Church Street, but they were out of gasoline. I stopped by the Greenwich Library, and there was the usual group using the internet. I noticed they had a new thick book on London, if anyone is interested. I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone. I then returned home. I picked up the mail. CIO

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 3:00 P.M.. I chatted with a local walker. The local walker who is a former <http://www.navy.mil/> pilot from Pensacola, Florida told me that the Shell Station on East Putnam Avenue across the street from the Whole Foods Grocery store has a quick line for gasoline. He also told me that the Whole Foods Grocery store is in operation and fully staffed with their usual selection of gourmet food. The only thing I could ever afford to buy their was pineapples from Haiti in the winter for $2.99 a pineapple. Helen Kress Williams who had stone pineapples on her gates of her vast estate in Oyster Bay, Long Island on the waterfront always said that the pineapple was the symbol of Christian Hospitality and it came from the symbol from the Christian Missionaries from Boston who first started preaching in Hawaii. Of course with so many established members of the Williams family out on Long Island, we do not see many of them around here. They tend to be taller than six feet tall and dark haired. Of course Helen Kress Williams was a tiny frugal woman who would make an A&P tea bag last a week, and then she would use her old tea bags to enrich the soil in her garden. She was a life long friend of her neighbor Alice Roosevelt Sagamore Hill National Historic Site - Sagamore Hill National Historic Site, so possibly there are other republicans across from us to the south across Long Island sound. She knew the Bush family because one of her sons built all of the highways in Houston, Texas. CIO

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 2:35 P.M.. I threw out the garbage. I chatted with neighbors. I will now make cigarettes. I took down the British and Dutch flags, since the British were rude when I chatted with them in England earlier this morning. I am now flying the U.S.A. Stars and Stripes and <http://www.af.mil/> flag. I have a lot of relatives and friends in the Air Force, but they never visit me here, since they have already seen the whole world, and prefer to remain private in more remote areas of the country. Some people do enjoy their privacy. My Grandfather Scott who use to live near Scott Air Force Base in Illinois, always said "Believe Nothing That You Hear, and Half of What You See." CIO

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 1:25 P.M.. I will now shower and clean up.

New Yorkers driving to Stamford, Greenwich for gas - GreenwichTime . I saw on the Weather Channel that 80% of the gasoline stations in New Jersey are closed. All of the gasoline stations in nearby Westchester Country are closed. The gasoline stations in Staten Island are closed too. I was told 80% of the gasoline stations on Long Island are closed. The areas east of Stamford, Connecticut are suppose to have gasoline. On the Weather Channel, they said that the New York Harbor was full of debris after Hurricane Sandy, so the fuel tankers were not able to enter the harbor to make their deliveries to the distributions points, but they are now underway after a few days of disruption. Also some of the distribution points were flooded in the hurricane, and it takes time for them to get back online to make their regular deliveries. Newberg, New York up the Hudson River is suppose to be one of those large distribution points. I think here in the Connecticut, the fuel comes from the harbor in Bridgeport, Connecticut. CIO

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 12:25 P.M.. I woke up at 9:30 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a 12 ounce glass of watered down punch, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes, and I made my bed. CIO

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 3:00 A.M.. I ate a fresh muffin. I will now shut down the primary work computer, and I will go to bed soon. CIO

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 2:30 A.M.. I left an information message with an out of town private security agency. I called up the desk at the Key West Hotels- Florida Keys Luxury Resort- Casa Marina A Waldorf Astoria Resort , and I gave them a briefing. From the background chatter around the desk, it sounds like some of the tourists still drink alcohol. In the British Royal Navy Royal Navy, they have to wait until they get their orders for their grog Grog - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia ration. Probably one of the true British people I have met from England was Richard Mercy whom lived in Eaton Square, and he was a vegan who did not drink alcohol, so the Hollywood version of the British might be different than the way they actually are. I know one thing, it is a lot colder up there, which is why they raise and wear so much wool which down here in the Tropics of Greenwich, Connecticut we can not afford and do not really need, if one wears layers of clothing. I have been around the waterfront in many places around the world, so I might have seen a British sailor or two, but I have not seen that many British Ships outside the old Queen Elizabeth. For all I know the local British here might not live in Greenwich, Connecticut anymore, since it is so expensive, but they might live in Darien, Connecticut; since there is a MINI of Fairfield County | Darien MINI | Stamford MINI | Norwalk MINI | Greenwich MINI and CT Land Rover Dealer | 203-951-6133 New & Used CT Land Rover Dealer Serving Milford & Larchmont in Darien CT 06820 | Land Rover Darien and the Ox Ridge Hunt Club which are the types of things the British like to see. They use to have a lot of old British sports cars parked in the gasoline station next to the Darien fire station in the 1960s. The Lock Stock and Barrel restaurant at the Darien shopping center used to be the start of the cross country race to Malibu, California made famous by the movie The Cannonball Run - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia . However, if one ever goes to Malibu <http://www.malibutimes.com/> , one only sees Jim Eldert who is totally oblivious in his own world, and ignores everything, but he must like the ocean. However, he might have moved to Bel Air, Los Angeles - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia to avoid the sun after all of these years in the sun. However, I do not watch much entertainment media, so seeing a place in California like that would probably be confusing to me, since theatre people seem to have multiple personalities. CIO

<888> 11/02/12 Friday 12:40 A.M.. I went out, and the Shell Station at 401 West Putnam Avenue has no gasoline, but they have diesel fuel. The Mobil Station at Weaver Street and West Putnam Avenue has no gasoline. The <http://www.exxon.com/> gasoline station on West Putnam Avenue on the Connecticut New York border has gasoline, but at this hour, there is a line of a hundred cars waiting to buy gasoline. For all of the many British residents in distress, I came up with a toll free number to England at 1-877-854-6872, and I called them up. When I tried to brief them on the local situation here, they told me they were well aware of the overall matter, and did not need my information.

If one looks at NRL Satellite Page , possibly Hurricane Sandy is headed towards Europe or even the United Kingdom. The Canadians told me it was a very bad storm up in Eastern Canada. I am fortunate, because I have a roof over my head, and I am comfortable, and I have electricity and the other necessities of life. Unfortunately I can not come to the assistance of other individuals outside my family, since the Greenwich Housing Authority limits guests, and I am on limited income. I have communications capabilities which a lot of older individuals might not have. However, since Greenwich, Connecticut is a wealthy town which pays over $3 billion in taxes a year, I have better services available to me in this community than the average poor person living out there in the hinterlands. CIO

<888> 11/01/12 Thursday 11:35 P.M.. I called up the Shell Station at 401 West Putnam Avenue, and they did not answer their telephone, when they usually do; so I do not know if that have gasoline. I called up the Mobil station at West Putnam Avenue and Weaver Street, and they did not answer their telephone. I called up Greenwich Exxon on West Putnam Avenue at the New York border Greenwich Exxon detail information , and they told me they do have gasoline. CIO

<888> 11/01/12 Thursday 11:20 P.M.. I chatted with the Canadian Emergency number at 1-613-996-8885, and I gave them a bit of a briefing. From what I know about the New York City area, a lot of the primary warehouses which include food warehouses are in the New Jersey area, because it is a transportation hub, and currently New Jersey is having some major problems. Also a lot of the oil and fuel storage facilities are in New Jersey and Staten Island. I think people should think about CONSERVING their resources. CIO

<888> 11/01/12 Thursday 10:25 P.M.. I chatted with a relative. I ate a bowl of potato salad with a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale. I called up Starbucks on Greenwich Avenue to tell them Stew Leonard's in Norwalk and Danbury have generator power, so they have food. I called up the Greenwich Police non emergency number a 1-203-622-8000 to tell them the same thing. I drank a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I turned on the living room lights to warm up the apartment a little bit. I still have not taken out the living room air conditioner, because it gets warm in the daytime, so I use the fan on it. When I next change the sheets, I have to put my winter comforters and bedding on the bed. I will not put out the DeLonghi oil filled radiators in the living room until after they put in the ceiling insulation and new tiles, which might be quite a while yet, since they are going to do my apartment last, since it is a more complicated procedure with my more complicated office setup. CIO

Earlier today, I chatted with my friend on East Fairfield beach, and he still does not have electricity. I just now chatted with another friend who travels around Long Island, and he told me lots of houses on Long Island were crushed by falling trees. Long Island has sandy soil being a glacier island, so the trees fall over more easily. He also told me 80% of the gasoline stations on Long Island have no gasoline. We both agreed the hurricane disaster situation is a lot worse than is being reported in the news. He thinks the hurricane disaster in the New York area will bring down the National economy. CIO

I then cut them with the skins into quarter inch thick slices, and I placed them in a 5 quart Revere pot half filled with water. I brought them to a boil on high electric burner heat, and once the water boiled, I boiled them another 15 minutes. I put a pinch of salt and a teaspoon of extra virgin olive oil in the water. While doing that I diced a 16 ounce DAK Danish ham into 1 inch by .25 inch by .25 inch pieces, and put them in a bowl. I drained a 6 ounce can of Lindsay large pitted California olives, I cut them in half, and I put them in the bowl. I peeled a large Bermuda onion, and I diced it into quarter inch cubic chunks and added them to the bowl. I took five large Vlassic Kosher pickle slices, and I cut them into half inch cubic pieces, and I put them in the bowl. Once the potatoes had boiled 12 minutes, I drained them in a colander, and I then put them back in the Revere pot which I filled with cold water and stirred around. I did that three time, and the last time I left the drained potatoes in the Revere pot, and I added the other previously prepared ingredients and mixed them all together with a large wooden mixing spoon. I then seasoned the mixture with Old Bay Seasoning, garlic powder, ground black pepper, Italian seasoning, oregano, celery salt, Chinese five spice, coriander, and cumin, and I mixed it all together. I then added four large heaping double tablespoons of Hellmann's olive oil mayonnaise, 40% of a cup of extra virgin olive oil and 40% of a cup of Monari balsamic vinegar, and I mixed it all together. I then put it all in a large Rubbermaid container with lid in the refrigerator to chill a for a few hours. I will call it Hurricane Potato Salad. There are about five pounds of it. CIO

<888> 12/31/12 Monday 11:10 P.M.. I went downtown, and I went by the A&P Fresh which was opened until 11 P.M. tonight. I bought three boxes of 18 Christmas cards and envelopes for $2.99 each box, bananas for .79 a pound for .85, broccoli crowns for $1.99 a pound for $1.29, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $2.99, .65 can return, and $1.27 tax for $17.21 total. I then went by CVS on Greenwich Avenue, and I picked up two prescriptions. I exchanged a defective 7 ounce can of CVS Shaving gel for the same product at no cost. I then went further downtown, and I sat out for a brief spell. I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone. The relative got the 80 pictures that I sent from www.shutterfly.com . I decided not to walk, because it was a bit cold out. I then drove down by the waterfront on Steamboat Road. There is a sign now posted at the Steamboat Road pier that per a Town of Greenwich ordinance, it is now closed at Sunset. I then went back by CVS on Greenwich Avenue, and I bought three 12 packs of Schweppes Ginger Ale no caffeine 120 calorie per can for $11 and $1.80 can deposit and a 20 pack of Caliber press and seal 10 inch by 13 inch envelopes for $4.59 and .99 tax for $18.38 total. I then went by the Putnam Shell at 401 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $12.01 of self service V-Power gasoline for 20 cents a gallon off with my Stop and Shop card for $4.219 a gallon for 2.846 gallons at odometer reading of 71738 miles for 31.5 miles driving since Friday December 21, 2012 for 11.069 miles per gallon in mostly local traffic. I then returned home, and I used my little folding cart from the trunk of the Audi to bring up the Ginger Ale. I then put the cart back in the trunk of the Audi. I put away my purchases. CIO

I have a friend that is part Dutch American from Bedford, New York, and he grew up in the house that Kerry Kennedy now owns next to Helen Clay Frick's property. He once told me that the Vanderbilt family that own the Breakers in Newport, Rhode Island also have a home in South Salem, New York which has dirt roads, but they probably have homes elsewhere such as Vanderbilt Museum and <http://www.biltmore.com/>, and since Anderson Cooper's mother Gloria is a Vanderbilt, his home west of Washington Square in Greenwich Village would be considered a Vanderbilt property, and I think possibly one of the homes were the Ralph Lauren store is on the Upper East Side might have been a Vanderbilt residence, or one of the other homes in that neighborhood that they tore down. They also used to have a house in Palm Beach, but whether they still own it or not is opened to speculation. The last time I chatted with Fred Von Mierers around 1988, he told me he was working for Mrs. Vanderbilt at the Breakers in Newport, Rhode Island, so possibly if he should be still alive, he is working for them elsewhere in the world. I think they also had a nice home in England, since they had relatives there as they also had relatives in Spain. CIO

<888> 12/24/12 Monday 10:35 P.M.. I ate a ham and cheese sandwich on a Kaiser roll with Hellmann's olive oil mayonnaise, Italian spices, ground black pepper, hot horseradish, olive oil and three one eighth inch thick slices of a Bermuda onion with Lays salt and vinegar potato chips and a 12 ounce glass of A&W root beer. At the Holiday time, I usually turn on a little extra heat in my apartment. I raised the living room thermostat from 74 degrees Fahrenheit to 78 degrees Fahrenheit. I turned on both DeLonghi oil filled radiator to medium at setting 4. The temperature by the windows is now 70 degrees Fahrenheit and 74 degrees Fahrenheit by the hallway. I will turn off the DeLongi oil filled radiators, when I go to bed. At CVS at 644 West Putnam Avenue, they have a DuraFlame 400 square foot electric stove Amazon.com: Duraflame 450 Black Freestanding Electric Stove DFS-450-2: Home & Kitchen for $100, and with the CVS 20% off coupon on your CVS card good until midnight tonight, it would be $80 plus tax. However, it probably uses a lot of expensive electricity. CIO

<888> 12/24/12 Monday 9:10 P.M.. I went out after the last note. I threw out the garbage. I chatted with the relative of a neighbor. I went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I stopped by Zen Stationary, and I played an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. They will be opened on Christmas Day from 7 A.M. to 3 P.M.. I stopped by CVS, and I bought about a five inch long miniature scale model of a British Racing Green Mini Cooper with a British flag on the roof for $5.99 and .38 tax for $6.37 total. After I finished my walk, I sat out for a while. I chatted with a dog walker who told me about Petfinder | Pet adoption: Want a dog or cat? Adopt a pet on Petfinder . I then went by

CVS at 644 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought a 12 ounce jar of Heinz chicken gravy for $2.27. I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone while there. I then returned home, and I picked up the mail. I chatted with a relative. I put the Mini Cooper replica on the paper feeder of the Samsung color laser printer that the little Christmas tree sits on at the apartment entrance. CIO

<888> 12/24/12 Monday 4:20 P.M.. I will now shower and clean up. I will then go downtown for a Christmas Eve stroll on the great White Way of Greenwich Avenue. CIO

<888> 12/24/12 Monday 3:50 P.M.. I woke up at 1:30 P.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a 12 ounce glass of watered down punch with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. I chatted with a relative.

<888> 12/23/12 Sunday 9:40 P.M.. I threw out the garbage. I went downtown. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I chatted with a local at Starbucks, and I used the bathroom. I stopped by CVS, and I bought a 5 ounce bag of fruit and nut medley for $1.67. I chatted with somebody who told me Local Weather from AccuWeather.com - Your Day Starts Here™ has a weather program that updates the weather every 45 minutes. I ate the bag of fruit and nut mix at the top of Greenwich Avenue. The Oscar consignment shop has closed as has Lucy's. On lower Greenwich Avenue the news stand next to the Chinese restaurant has closed. I noticed a new funky shop on lower Greenwich Avenue on the east side of the street. After my walk, I chatted with the regular at Starbucks again, and I used the bathroom again. While sitting outside, a red fox crossed the street from the senior and the arts center heading towards the Board of Education building. I then went to the Stop and Shop. I bought a six pack of fresh Kaiser rolls for $2.99, a four pack of day old muffins for $2.50, Stop and Shop sliced deli premium ham for $4.99 a pound for $5.04, Stop and Shop sliced deli white American cheese for $5.99 a pound for $5.87, a half gallon of Kedem grape juice for $2.99, a half gallon of Ocean Spray cranraspberry juice for $2.50, two 14 ounce dented cans of Rienzi artichoke hearts for $1.64 each can, a CAB Strip Steak for $7.99 a pound for $9.03, a 24 ounce box of Simply mashed potatoes for $2.50, and bananas for .79 a pound for .63 for $37.33 total. <888> 12/21/12 Friday 7:45 P.M.. On the third IBM ThinkCentre with Windows 8, I changed the two LCD monitors around on the connections to the video card. I then connected the new HDMI cable, and with it, all three monitors including the Haier LCD TV are recognized. One can use the switch box on the cable to the Haier LCD TV to switch between different inputs. However, when the third IBM ThinkCentre is turned off, the switch box does not work properly, so one has to leave the new HDMI disconnected from the switch box, unless one wants to use the Haier LCD TV as a third monitor with the third IBM ThinkCentre turned on. One can only use two monitors at a time though. Still it is an improvement. Thus all HDMI cables are not the same. CIO

<888> 12/11/12 Tuesday 10:45 P.M.. I chatted with a local security official. I ate the last two ounces of an opened bag of 60% reduced fat Chex Mix and a few day old Danish pastry. I have plenty of food in my apartment, but I am trying to lose some weight. I used to know Roger Schultz over in Stamford, Connecticut who lived across the street from <http://www.abb.com/> on Long Ridge Road. He was a software engineer for Schweppes beverages. He told me was a personal friend of Nan Rockefeller and had planned to move into my current retirement home, until he became more prosperous. If Roger is alive, he is probably better in computers than I am, but since he weighed somewhere between 400 to 600 pounds, he is awfully expensive to feed. He is a member of Christ Church here in Greenwich where his parent are buried. I have never heard from him in over 20 years, so it goes to show some advanced computer people manage to stay private on the internet. When I went to the Microsoft Conference in Hauppauge, Long Island about five years ago at the Hyatt Hotel there, there was a white man who was about six feet tall and six feet wide who was about twice as big as Roger Schultz. I assumed that was Carl Mountain who is chief of security for Microsoft, but I did not chat with him, and he hid during the conference, so most people there did not see him. However, where I was born in Alton, Illinois; Sam Walthrop lived there, and he was 8 foot 9 inches tall, and there use to be a woman in Alabama that was also about that tall. Thus when one gets away from the keyboard crowd near the big cities, there tends to be some larger people whom work in other activities that some people take for granite. The largest national group in the world is suppose to be the Holland Dutch, so they have some big people over there. When I first visited Frankfurt, Germany in December 1980 on the return flight there were four men on the plane over seven feet tall and over 400 pounds apiece, and they would walk to the back of the old jet, and it would go up, and they would walk to the front of the old jet, and it would go down. The largest group of people I have seen in the United States of America is in Fort Lauderdale, Florida in October 1983, and there were about five thousand white people six feet six to seven feet tall, and the teenagers were the ones that were over six feet six inches tall, and the grandparents were over seven feet tall. There was an eight foot tall oil portrait of the five star general Omar Bradley in the lobby of the Bahia Mar Hotel and Yacht Club, so I figured some of the tall people might have been <http://www.army.mil/> personnel. When I came out of south Florida in the spring of 1977, I stopped by the Science convention at the Prudential Center in Boston, and a <http://www.army.mil/> recruiter interviewed me, and took me out to dinner. He was a major in the Army and he looked like Ronald Reagan, but if he hired me, I never got a pay check. If they do not pay you, there is no point paying any attention to them no matter whom they claim to know as far as I am concerned. I will now shut down the primary work computer, and I will go to bed soon. CIO

!!!!!! <888> 12/11/12 Tuesday 9:25 P.M.. I chatted with a relative. One of my main reasons for objecting to the new ceiling tile and insulation installers from doing my apartment is that from having done a lot of heavy work over the years, I once had a double hernia in my groin for years. About ten years ago, the Greenwich Hospital repaired the groin hernia on the right side with an $8,000 operation that Medicaid paid for, but I was advised not to do anymore heavy lifting. I still have the groin hernia on the left side. Although I have contacted my doctor at the Greenwich Hospital and my Town of Greenwich Social Worker and a local lawyer that knows my family, nobody seems to have enough influence with the Greenwich Housing Authority to prevent them from bothering me. They say the work men will move the items in my apartment that need to be moved, and all I have to do is disconnect the electronics, but there are a lot of items that can not be moved that easily without moving other items. I think they expect me to move most of the stuff and just come in and do the work. I obviously can move some of the lighter items, but a great deal of the electronics weigh up to 40 pounds or more, particularly the Sony television in the living room. From my viewpoint, since they have refused to listen to me on a logical basis, I should try to figure out what to do. There is not much that I can do, but try to move it slowly and pedantically the day before which would also involve reinstalling the items each day after the two primary rooms are done on two separate days. I quite frankly think they are being totally unreasonable by not cooperating with me. I obviously know my apartment best. CIO

<888> 12/11/12 Tuesday 8:10 P.M.. According to the Greenwich Time <http://www.greenwichtime.com/> a couple of years ago Sutton Properties - Greenwich, CT Patch owned the old Finch's Drug store at 301 Greenwich Avenue where <http://www.starbucks.com/> is now located. However, with all of the real estate tycoons unloading properties in the major recession in America, it might have changed hands without anybody noticing. According to <https://greenwichct.munisselfservice.com/citizens/RealEstate/Default.aspx?mode=new> , 301 Greenwich Avenue is owned by 309 Greenwich Ave. Associates LLC . According to 309 GREENWICH AVE ASSOCIATES LLC | GREENWICH, CT , Marvin S. Weinberg is the only employee and according to the Greenwich Time, somebody named Weinstein also owns the house to the east of the pier on Steamboat Road in Indian Harbor. Although I might have seen the Weinberg or Weinstein family around, the family that my family use to know in Greenwich is the Warburg family not the Weinberg or Weinstein families. Since Jim Warburg was on the board of directors of <http://www.polaroid.com/> , and since my father was the vice president of manufacturing at Polaroid, we obviously had some sort of business relationship. According to the Greenwich Time here in Greenwich, Jim Warburg financed John F. Kennedy's political campaign for President, and since I am a Republican, I figure my Republican friends might not benefit from me networking with the Warburg family, although in Florida, we once owned the property next to their house in Deerfield Beach which was no McMansion by any stretch of the imagination. However, my mother was my father's second wife. His first wife was from the Coon family. His first wife's father was suppose to have been one of the founders of the Household Finance Company HSBC Finance - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia which merged with <http://www.hsbc.com/>, so probably some of my father's first wife's relatives are in the banking business today. The oldest half sister from that marriage was a Nursing Administrator trained at <http://www.nyu.edu/> and spent most of her career in Africa and the Middle East. Another child from that marriage has Downs Syndrome. Quite frankly, people whom rely on cocktail party gossip tend not to be too well informed, since they are drinking alcohol most of the time. The area where that family lives is near where the Prohibition movement started, so the politicians that make money off alcohol were not too happy with Prohibition, not to mention the countries that export the product that so many people consume worldwide. The Jim Warburg that I knew as a youth did not drink alcohol, and he rode his Raleigh bicycle 20 miles back and forth to Greenwich Country Day, and he did not spend the winter in Greenwich but Florida, and he dropped out of <http://www.harvard.edu/> because he needed to work to support himself, so he worked at the Commonwealth Avenue SAAB parts department, and he knew quite a few other people in the auto parts business in Boston. He had a back ground as a concert pianist, but he did not try to make a living off of it. CIO

No Christmas bargains on the internet, but I do not need anything else that I can think of, but some peace and quiet, which will not last if they keep insisting one doing my ceiling insulation and tile replacement which seems to be a bunch of government nonsense to me after having lived here 24 years as is. If they really wanted to make the apartments warmer and cooler, they would pay for the electric heat, but the obvious solution never occurs to the bureaucrats whomever they might be. CIO

<888> 12/11/12 Tuesday 2:55 P.M.. I chatted with a friend. Up north the British do not go to beach, because they are fair skinned. They spend most of their time around their horses and various equestrians activities. I think the poorer ones play golf, if they can afford it. When my family had a corporate membership at the Greenwich Country Club Golf & Country Club - GreenwichCC starting in the early 1960s, the company back then which was <http://www.monsanto.com/> paid the $5,000 bond to belong, and I recall membership fees were $250 a month. However, it is now more expensive with inflation in the national economy. Still back then Titleist Titleist - #1 ball in golf | Golf Company | Golf Balls - Titleist.com golf balls cost $1.25 and a new set of golf clubs cost $300 and a good golf bag cost a $100, so the it was not a cheap hobby. I had an eight handicap on the Greenwich Country Club golf course, but when I went down to south Florida in the fall of 1976, none of the young people my age could afford golf, and they were not interested in golf, so I got stuck around beach activities. Wiley Middleton did use to always wear a blue The Masters

I was told by a rather large individual in Greenwich, Connecticut who rents Port-O-Potties here that the Mafia runs everything in Key West, and they collect all of the money from the Bars and Restaurants at the end of every night. However, when it is freezing in Palm Beach, it can be in the 70 degrees Fahrenheit in Key West. CIO

<888> 12/11/12 Tuesday 2:05 P.M.. Lewis H. Lapham - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia whom might know says the whole world today is now run from a golf course at the John's Island Club , so if one wants to pay a half million dollar bond plus the price of the real estate there to be part of the group of people whom run the World, I guess one can still do that. However, most of them go elsewhere up north during the warmer times of the year, so they are not all Florida people. I do know a local security official when he tried to bother the people in Vero Beach, Florida ended up getting a hard time from them and came back here having lost about fifty pounds. CIO

<888> 12/11/12 Tuesday 1:35 P.M.. If I were going to hire a professional lawyer in Greenwich, Connecticut, I would hire this person's law firm Jeremiah Milbank Jr., Donor and G.O.P. Official, Dies at 87 - New York Times and Milbank - New York . His daughter Vicky Milbank was one of my co class photographers in the class of 1965 at Greenwich Country Day . Since I am very near sighted from doing close work all of these years, some people whom are more far sighted might recognize all of these people that I do not recognize after all of these years of working close up. However, that would be an invasion of privacy from my viewpoint. If once reads and works on computers all of the time, one tends to be a bit near sighted. I do recognize a lot of the town stalkers, since they tend to hang out downtown all of the time, where I exercise walk. In between World War I and World II a lot of foreign agents moved into this area, and when they lost World War II, they stayed and prospered in this area. I do know Pitney Bowes used to make microdot machinery that was used by various spies through out the world. Some people in the United States of America still regard the <http://www.un.org/> as being a nest of spies. Since I only know English and four to five years of high school French and six years of Latin, I do not have the advanced communications skills to deal with the rather large international community that we have developed here with all of the international business in this area. Even Vivian West, when I knew her way out on Long Island use to enjoy listening to the local Greenwich, Connecticut radio station for our provincial point of view versus the New York Times. A lot of the politicians in Greenwich, Connecticut in the old days use to be in the beer business, so more than likely they had German connections. CIO

<888> 12/11/12 Tuesday 12:15 P.M.. From what I know, the highest ranking heads of state my father Louis Dale Scott dealt with many years ago was Queen Elizabeth II, the King of Belgium, and members of the Imperial Japanese family. Locally here in the United States of America, I know he once visited David Rockefeller's office. However, most of those people are older anymore, so they have younger people representing them whom frequently have different points of view. Around the Bush group here in Greenwich, Connecticut and Kennebunkport, Maine, we probably dealt with a similar group of people. The highest ranking foreign head of state I have seen in Greenwich, Connecticut is Margaret Thatcher and Tony Blair and current former head of state is George H.W. Bush, when he was only vice President. I saw him twice once at the Greenwich High School, when I could afford to wear a three piece suit and once outside of John Becker's house when nobody showed up for a fund raiser. If anyone else important showed up, I was unaware of them, and they were just another face in the crowd. I have also seen George W. Bush, Ronald Ronald Reagan, Gerald Ford, and Jimmy Carter. I have seen people in Greenwich that look like Bill Clinton and Hilary Clinton, but they might have been just look a likes, since they did not have any noticeable security. There are a lot of other people in the world that look like famous people, but from experience when the real people show up when they are in office, one tends to see a lot of the local State Police. The highest ranking head of state that I have seen in the United States of America is Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Phillip. However, when I visited the Winter Olympics in Albertville, France in the winter of 1992, I probably saw quite a few heads of state. I was around Boris Yeltsin in Paris before those Winter Olympics. Rich people all know each other, so they tend to know and see each other more frequently that I get to see them. I have been to Ronald Reagan's first inaugural and George H.W. Bush's inaugural, so I might have seen some important people there, but it is so cold in January in Washington D.C., most people are just waiting to get back inside where it is warmer.

Berger an <http://www.fbi.gov/> agent who works at Two Federal Plaza in Manhattan. He saw my apartment, when he bought the 1993 Buick Roadmaster station wagon from me. However, the garage apartment that I built out at Plandome Manor, Long Island, New York was more deluxe, since it was in the wealthiest zip code in the United States of America. Fred von Mierers apartment next to the <http://www.un.org/> was even more deluxe, because he was taking over Bill Baldwin's business, and he showed up in the Eugena Shepard column of the New York Post shaking hands with Nelson Rockefeller - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia . When one connects an HDMI cable to it, it cripples one of the two monitor ports, but when I connected the 15 foot HDMI cable from the third IBM ThinkCentre to the HDMI switch box connected to HDMI 2 port on the Haier LCD TV, it works just fine. However, for some reason, one can not switch the connections on the switch box with it connected, and it just works directly. Thus if one wants to use the HDMI switch box for other devices, one has to disconnect the third IBM ThinkCentre HDMI cable from both the computer and the HDMI switch box which is no problem. I moved the IBM ATI 128 meg. I then went by CVS, and I used the bathroom. I bought a 40 count box of Hallmark Cards | Shop for Ecards, Birthday Cards, Greeting Cards & More Christmas cards for $12.99 less a 20% CVS discount of $2.60 and .66 tax for $11.05 total. I then went by the new Greenwich Post Office, and they are out of Christmas stamps, so I bought forty Ronald Reagan .45 forever stamps for $18 total. I then finished my walk. I used my umbrella today, since it was raining. I then returned home. I put the new Eagle air conditioning cord on the Sharp Convection oven connected to the center counter kitchen electrical socket. I ran the Sharp convection oven at 350 degrees for 5 minutes and then for 15 minutes, and it did not quit working, so hopefully I have fixed it by using a heavier duty extension cord. I moved the orange 25 foot 12 amp extension cord to connecting it to the hallway power strip to the DeLonghi oil filled radiator on the right side of the sitting chair by the hallway, so it is ready for use.

<888> 12/06/12 Thursday 11:20 A.M.. My social worker and the ceiling installer inspected my apartment. They will get back to me next Tuesday. They either will do it next Wednesday and Thursday or the week after that. We agreed I will have to disconnect all of the electronics in the way of the work areas. I will move some of the smaller items, and the ceiling installers will move some of the heavier items. I guess we will stack them up and cover them in the hallway. The ceiling installer seems to think it will take two days. Getting at the areas on the outside wall corners will be the most difficult, since they go up ten feet to the original ceiling. They claim they can do the job whatever it takes. However, the FIC server desk and the Microwave Stand in the primary computer work area will have to be moved, and the Sony television setup on the other side of the living room will have to be moved along with the smaller pieces of furniture supporting the computers and the Ethan Allen recliner. Since the bedroom is very compact, it might be a lot more complicated getting a latter into it, but they say they have a tall skinny person to do the work. Since the Dutch and the British have been doing the most in this area to improve the interior decoration over these last 400 years, I put the Dutch Tricolor and the British Union Jacks back up in the hallway. If they keep getting down on my case, I will put the Scottish St. Andrews flag and the Saudi Arabian flags which represent a lot more energy than I have locally. People do not network with me, because television in this area says that Donald <http://www.trump.com/> is the only person with money that knows how to get thing done. I guess everyone else is retired or headed to the four winds down south. I showed Windows 8 to my Social Worker. They told me to call up HUD at 1-800-669-9777 which I did, and I left them a message. One has to remember that I had a major hernia operation over 10 years ago, and I would not want to do anything to cause it to reappear. I called up Social Services - Town of Greenwich, Connecticut , and I left a message with my social worker. I will now make cigarettes. <888> 12/04/12 Tuesday 11:25 A.M.. Two of the ceiling and insulation installers rang my door bell. They seem to think I am a Hyannisport Kennedy which is nobody important as far as I am concerned, since the Scotch Irish have been improving America for a lot longer than any newcomers from Ireland. They wanted to do my apartment tomorrow, but I convinced them to do it next week. They told me I would have to disconnect the computers and move over half of the stuff out of the apartment into the hallway which would not be a secure location to leave the valuable equipment unsecured. I called up a local lawyer Lawrence E. Larson: Greenwich, CT Lawyer, Lawyer, Attorney, Attorneys , but he has not returned my phone call. I chatted with a friend who is in law enforcement, and he agreed with me I do not have the energy to move all of the various items for the installation progress. The friend has seen my apartment unlike other people. He recommended to me to get a note from my Doctor to try to prevent them from bothering me anymore. I left a message with my Doctor. I am 62 years old and on medication, and I do not have the energy to go through a lengthy disassemblment of my apartment no matter what benefits the Greenwich Housing Authority thinks the insulation and new ceiling tiles would add. If the various government agencies involved were really concerned, they would pay for the utility bills instead of harassing myself a disabled individual on medication. I will have to wait and see what develops. Obviously, over a long period of time, I could disconnect various electronics, and have the ceiling people carry them out into the apartment along with various pieces of furniture, but that would be time consuming for them, and it would be costly waste of money for the Greenwich Housing Authority. It was the Federal Government that encouraged people living in Government Housing to set up their own failed business activities, and when I visited <http://www.westpoint.mil/> for graduation over 15 years ago, it was Secretary of Defence Perry that encouraged the military to be High Tech. Obviously, the United States Government tells people do certain things, but when push comes to shove, they do not give anyone backup and pretty much ignore the complaints of the general public. What I do as a volunteer, <http://www.ibm.com/> charges over $400 an hour for, so I would encourage people not to underestimate the worth of my activity over these last 23 years. I do have a large number of friends and associates. Maybe <http://www.cl-p.com/> can turn off the electricity to various local groups whom are trying to exercise power beyond their authority. I will now make cigarettes. CIO

!!!!!! <888> 12/04/12 Tuesday 9:05 A.M.. To get the PCI Express video cards to work on the IBM ThinkCentre computers that I have <http://mikelouiscott.com/computer.htm> with PCI Express, there is one slightly complicated trick that one has to do with installation http://translate.google.com/translate?js=n&prev=t&hl=en&ie=UTF-8&layout=2&eotf=1&sl=auto&tl=en&u=http://logout.hu/cikk/pcie\_vga-t\_ibm\_thinkcentre\_s51-be/teljes.html. Basically with the card facing one with the cable connectors on the left, on the long slot, one has to cover all of the gold connectors with scotch tape, except the first seven on the left. It works on the other two PCI Express 16 cards that I have. If one does not do that, the card will not work just plugging it in.

The order with tracking of USPS.com® - Track & Confirm on the order for five 15 Pin SVGA VGA Female to Female Gender Changer Adapter Converter Plug Coupler | eBay for $1.89 each with free shipping for $9.45 total arrived. I took the HDMI to VGA cable off the Haier HDTV and the Abit computer, and I connected it to the fourth IBM ThinkCentre by the Hallway. I then used one of the VGA couplers to connect it to another VGA cable which I connected to the Haier HDTV. I then moved the Acer 19 inch LCD monitor from the Abit computer to the fourth IBM ThinkCentre. I moved the Dell 20 inch LCD monitor to the FIC server. I moved the Eizo 19 inch LCD monitor to the Abit computer. In Dual Display on the fourth IBM ThinkCentre both displays work just fine for multimedia viewing off the internet. It is a faster computer than the Abit computer. However, the current IBM display card in it does not support dual monitors in the Windows 8 Demo. I could order another display card like the one in the third IBM ThinkCentre for $19, which does support dual monitors in Windows 8, but since it is only a Windows 8 Demo installation it is not necessary, unless I thought it was important to display Windows 8 demo on the Haier 32 inch HDTV, which I could do with the third IBM ThinkCentre, if I needed to do so. I then returned home, and I put away my groceries. On a warmer today like today, I opened up the living room window for a while to air out the apartment. I will now eat the Subway ham and cheese sandwich with a bowl of Lays salt and vinegar potato chips and a dill pickle slice and a 12 ounce glass of 7-Up. CIO

<888> 12/03/12 Monday 9:05 A.M.. I moved the 19 inch Eizo LCD monitor from the Abit computer to the FIC server. I moved the 19 inch Acer LCD monitor from the FIC server to the Abit computer. I then took a HDMI to VGA cable, and I ran it from the second PNY video connector on the Abit computer to the VGA port on the Haier LCD TV. Thus when the input on the Haier LCD TV is set to VGA it plays the Abit computer content, since I have the Abit computer video set in clone mode for both monitors. It works just fine. For a slightly faster computer, when I get the VGA connectors for a longer VGA cable, I could hook up the Haier LCD TV to the fourth IBM ThinkCentre at the hallway entrance, but its current video card will only play in Clone mode which might be fine. I will now go downtown and do errands. I will first eat a few day old muffin before going. CIO

<888> 12/03/12 Monday 6:20 A.M.. I have to go out around 8:30 A.M. this morning to pay my rent to the Greenwich Housing Authority, which is an independent agency of the Town of Greenwich which is part of Connecticut which is part of the U.S.A. which is part of the planet Earth which is part of the Solar System which is part of the Universe. <888> 12/03/12 Monday 6:15 A.M.. In my world wide travel on American aircraft, I have been as far south as Tobago, west as Maui, north as Oslo, Norway, and east as Istanbul, Turkey. Unfortunately when one travels on American aircraft, one needs American money, when one gets there. The most remote place I have probably been in the world is probably Lanzarote - All About Lanzarote where <http://www.nasa.gov/> use to have a ground monitoring station. It is also very good for star gazing way out there in the middle of the Atlantic ocean without too much electrical lights in the area. Bermuda is not that remote, since it is close to North Carolina. Apparently people stay warm in Bermuda with fire places, so since there are not many forests in Bermuda, they must import fire wood from elsewhere. CIO

<888> 12/03/12 Monday 5:50 A.M.. I threw out the garbage. In the hallway in my apartment, I put on the right side the U.S.A. flag and on the left side the <http://www.af.mil/> flag. I figure there is no point in flying the British and the Dutch tricolor flags, since the hurricane season is over, they probably have all headed down to Florida and the Caribbean for the winter. I can quickly change the flags back in case any of them should ever show up, but since there are some many deluxe accommodations for them in this area, they never look me up with all of their money. On the left hallway side, besides the U.S. Air Force flag, I have a British Union Jack, a Swedish flag, a Bermuda flag, a Dutch Tricolor, and a Saudi Arabian flag. On the right hallway side, besides the U.S.A. flag, I the British Union Jack, and the Scottish Cross of St. Andrews. Thus I can fly any permutations and combinations of those flags. I do have <http://www.airforce.mil/> connections since a relative was in the Strategic Air Command now called the Air Defense Command. Also when I went to <http://www.lfc.edu/> in Lake Forest, Illinois, Jim Warburg here in Greenwich wrote my recommendation to Mr. Douglas who was Franklin Roosevelt's secretary of the Air Force. When I lived in <http://www.nantucket.net/> there were Air Force personnel from Otis Air Force base living there, and when I lived in Key West, Florida, there were Air Force personnel from Homestead Air Force base living there. Also in the old days, I traveled extensively on airplanes, so I have probably been around Air Force personnel. Charles Lindbergh who was a fourth star Air Force general also used to live in Darien, Connecticut. Howard Hughes obviously knew some Air Force personnel. However, the Air Force travels so much and in cold weather they prefer to maintain their equipment down south where it is warmer and more convenient to maintain it, so no one really ever knows where they are until they show up sooner or later. <888> 12/03/12 Monday 4:10 A.M.. I woke up at 3 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a 12 ounce glass of watered down punch with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with Splenda sweetener and milk. I washed the breakfast dishes. I made my bed. CIO

<888> 12/02/12 Sunday 4:35 P.M.. I ate a 18 ounce bowl of Campbell's New England clam chowder with dried parsley and a bowl Lays salt and vinegar potato chips and a 12 ounce glass of A&W root beer. I will now shut down the primary work computer, and I will go back to bed. CIO

<888> 12/02/12 Sunday 3:25 P.M.. I had a busy day yesterday. I do not feel like going out in the tundra of Greenwich, Connecticut to explorer the local Holiday shopping adventures. From what I can tell about downtown Greenwich Avenue from the internet, the only two bargains down at <http://www.cvs.com/> are DiGiorgio 12 inch pizzas for $5 and or a 12 pack of Cottonelle toilet paper for $7.99. In the internet writing business, it is "Publish or Perish". <888> 12/02/12 Sunday 9:05 A.M.. I made up a batch of <http://mikelouisscott.com/mlsrice.htm> . While doing that I took 12 ounces or half of a 24 ounce can of Dinty Moore beef stew, and I put it in a plastic microwave proof pot with lid. Wal-Mart use to sell plastic microwave cookware. I then added to taste garlic powder, ground black pepper, Italian spices, celery salt, a tablespoon of extra virgin olive oil, a tablespoon of Lea and Perrins Worcestershire sauce, and two tablespoons of soy sauce, and I mixed it all together. During the last three minutes of the rice standing, I put the beef stew in the plastic microwave proof pot in the General Electric microwave oven, and I ran it on one vegetable cycle. I put half of the rice in a large soup bowl, and I refrigerated the other half of the rice in a plastic Rubbermaid container with lid. I added the beef stew mixture to the rice in the soup bowl, and I mixed it all together. I ate it all with a teaspoon with a 12 ounce glass of 7-Up. I will now take a nap. CIO

On older European cars from the 1950s and 1960s, the fuse box is usually underneath the front hood of the car, where it can get corrosion from salt used on the roads in America. If one has problems with various electronics in the car, one should use fine steel sand paper, and removed the corrosion from the fuse box terminals and put in new Bosch fuses. The same tip might apply to older American cars. CIO

I picked up the mail. I got my December 2012 rent statement from the Greenwich Housing Authority. CIO

<888> 12/01/12 Saturday 3:25 P.M.. I went out, and I threw out the garbage. I went by CVS at 644 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought a three quart jug of Clorox bleach for $3.59 and .23 tax for $3.82 total. I then went by the Chase Bank ATM at 19 West Putnam Avenue. I then went by the new Greenwich Post Office just east of Greenwich Avenue one block down, and I mailed the Microsoft Money 2007 income versus spending report for November 2012 to an interested relative. I then went further downtown. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I used the bathroom at Starbucks midway through my walk. I stopped by CVS, and I bought a 27.8 ounce Folgers Supreme coffee for $7.99. I finished my walk. They have free parking downtown today, and they have set up holiday refreshment stands up and down Greenwich Avenue, but it is still cold out there. I chatted with a regular walker. I then drove over to Oil Star Oil Change Center in Stamford. I took I-95 East from exit 3 to Exit 9 and drove west a half mile on U.S. 1 to get there. I got at 71,633 miles on the Audi, Oil Star Oil and Filter Change Service Package $40.53, 1.25 quarts of Pennzoil 10W-30 oil $4.76, Disposal Fee $1.77, five quarts of Pennzoil 10W-30 oil with service package, Audi oil filter (W93021) $9, two Pro Guard Fuel Injection Cleaner $15.98, Air Freshener vanilla $1.50, tax $4.67 for $78.21 total. They recommend air and cabin air filters be replaced. Then they told me my air filter is all right, and they did not have the cabin filter. I put the new vanilla air freshener on the hook on the rear driver's side. I drove over to the nearby AutoZone | Auto Parts & Accessories | Repair Guides & More, and they did not have the Cabin filter. I bought a Bear Claw 22 inch snow and ice brush for $3.99 and a quart of Pennzoil 5W-30 motor oil for $4.19 and .52 tax for $8.70 total. They told me the new battery I bought there four years ago should last seven years. I then returned back to Greenwich the same way getting off at exit 5. I drove into Old Greenwich, and I went to the Rummage Room Thrift shop, and I toured the store. I then toured CVS and used the bathroom. I chatted with someone from New Zealand, and I gave him my internet card. The bagel shop had a long line, so I went across the street to Dunkin Donuts, and I bought a fat free blue berry muffin for $2.01. I then drove out to Tod's Point. There is a lot of new sand at the entrance of Tod's Point. They have two huge piles of wood chips they have crushed. There is lot of heavy equipment out there processing the hurricane debris. They seem to have a lot of the fallen trees cleared away. There are a lot of new pink conchal shells on the west side. The north concession stand was destroyed, and the old north building has damage. They are putting new shingles on the roofs of the beach shelters. They obviously have been working quite hard to get the Tod's Point beach park back into shape, but it looks like they have quite a bit more work to do. Still there were a number of walkers out there. I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone from the southwest parking area. I walked over from the southeast parking area to view the work zone where they are processing all of the debris. The south concession stand is still not opened, since they have no gas or electricity out there. The boats at the marina storage area looked to be in good shape. They were in the process of removing more debris from the main road in Old Greenwich including the accumulated leaves. I then returned to downtown Greenwich, and I sat out for a while. I bought a Quick Cash scratch card at Zen Stationary for a dollar, but I lost. The Salvation Army was fund raising in front of Starbucks. I then went to the Stop and Shop. I bought a six pack of Stop and Shop English muffins for $1.69, a dozen large Eggland eggs expire January 6, 2013 for $3.89, a 12 ounce package of Purdue cutlets for $3.34, two gallon jugs of Stop and Shop bleach for $1.50 each, a 24 ounce Chef's Crock mashed potatoes for $3, a prepared two piece baked chicken dinner with macaroni and cheese for $1.99 and bananas for .79 a pound for .64 and .19 tax for $17.74 total. I then went to the Putnam Shell at 401 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $10 of self service V-Power premium gasoline for $4.559 a gallon for 2.194 gallons at odometer reading of 71652 miles for 36.7 miles driving since Sunday November 25, 2012 for 16.728 miles per gallon in mixed local and highway traffic. I then went back by CVS at 644 West Putnam Avenue, and I returned the Clorox bleach for $3.82 cash refund. I then returned home, and I said hello to a neighbor. I put away my purchases. I chatted with a local walker. CIO

<888> 12/01/12 Saturday 2:15 A.M.. I woke up at 9 P.M., and I chatted with a relative. I went back to bed until 1 A.M.. I put clean linens on the bed. I started two loads of laundry, and I have 20 minutes to go on the wash cycles. I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature. I saw a fox out by the side of the building by the woods. It looked to be well fed. I watered the plants. I printed out three copies of the Microsoft Money 2007 income versus spending report for November 2012. I will mail one copy to an interested relative.
