<888> 09/30/14 Tuesday 11:00 P.M. I threw out the garbage and the shipping box. By the recycle bin, I found a four foot by 20 inch antique mirror which I brought up to my apartment, and I hung on the lower right side of the kitchen entrance. I moved the picture of Versailles from that location to right side of the Picasso print in the left living room window. I dusted the lazy Susan underneath it. CIO

<888> 09/29/14 Monday 6:35 A.M. I installed the Microsoft Surface Pack on the Windows 7 partition on the IBM ThinkCentre along side the Ethan Allen recliner, and Global Surface works just fine with the touch screen. However, the Surface Park will not install on the Windows 8.1 partition, but Bing Maps in the Windows 8.1 Store is pretty much the same as Microsoft Surface. I installed 15 more applications on the Windows 8.1 partition. I have not really used Microsoft 8.1 very much, so I am not that familiar with the user interface, but the IBM ThinkCentre is quite a bit faster than the primary work computer. However, I used the primary work computer the most, since it has the two additional internal backup drives, besides the primary drive. I ate 4 ounces of smoked almonds and a 12 ounce glass of 50% punch and 50% Schweppes Ginger Ale. I will now shut down the primary work computer. I will then go to bed. CIO

<888> 09/29/14 Monday 3:45 A.M. To test out the touch screen monitor on the IBM ThinkCentre with Windows 8.1 along side the Ethan Allen recliner, I put Simple Solitaire game on it, but the mouse is faster than the touch screen method. In the old days of Microsoft Windows 3, whenever one went into the CompUSA computer store about 20 years ago, everyone was always playing the Solitaire game on it, so not much has changed in the last 20 years except we have all gotten older. They also use touch screen monitors on display cash registers in bars and restaurants.

<888> 09/28/14 Sunday 6:40 A.M. I ate four ounces of almonds and a 12 ounce glass of 50% Schweppes Ginger Ale and 50% punch. There are some huge people that I frequently see in this area. Since I am one of the smaller people at 6 feet tall and 230 pounds, I tend to chat and network with the smaller people my size. I am not sure what the huge people do, but I guess since they can afford to live and feed themselves here, they must do something in a productive manner. Up in Maine, the people are even larger. In the grocery stores in Maine, the potatoes are half the size of a football. Thus the smaller office types like myself whom work with keyboards and computers, tend to only network with people our size or slightly smaller, since the people can get much larger and intimidating in this area for better or worse. When I first started working with home computers 24 years ago, I met a software engineer who was about six feet tall and eight hundred pounds. When I used to go the old Greenwich Hospital Thrift shop, there was a regular customer who was over 7 feet tall and over 500 pounds. When I went to the Microsoft conference out on Long Island about seven years ago, there was a man who was six feet tall and about six feet wide. These large people I mention are all northern European white people. Of course out the Midwest of America where there is heavy industry, there are millions of people that size compared to the smaller office workers in the New York City area. When I have been up in Canada, the people are even larger. CIO

<888> 09/27/14 Saturday 4:45 A.M. Having been born in Alton, Illinois on the shores of the Mississippi River, I have been covering the shores of America and the World most of my life. Even Florence, Italy in the winter of 1972 had the Arno River, which does not look like too much, until there is rain in the Italian mountains, and then it can flood like in the http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/1966 Flood of the Arno River CIO

<888> 09/27/14 Saturday 3:30 A.M. One of the first things I noticed, when my family first moved to this area in June of 1962 was that I frequently used to see a British Army Colonel walking around mid Lake Avenue coming and going from the Mark Twain showboat type of house. Thus I figured the British walk a lot and there were probably other British people in the area. The more affluent younger people had small British sports cars such as MGs, Triumphs, Mini Coopers, Autin Healys and Morgans which supposedly never started because they had twin Solex carburetors. There used to be a gasoline station next to the downtown fire house in Darien, Connecticut that had over 50 of the old British sports cars in their parking lot. Up in the north country of Kennebunk, Maine; there is this place <http://leylandbritish.com/>, where one can still get them repaired. The Swedes hit back during the oil embargo of 1973 with http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Volvo P1800 which three friends of mine in Manhattan had the <http://www.volvoclub.org.uk/pdf/brochures/IMP-1800ES.pdf> which were fuel efficient. I even knew somebody with a new Porsche that one did not see around too much, so I guess he was working to pay it off. From what I know about Big City people, they dream about living in the country, but after a few boring weekends in the country, they miss the big time activity of the Big City life style, so they retreat back into their city life styles what ever that might be. I once noticed older people in Manhattan spend a lot of time sitting on the park benches in Central Park with their health care workers. CIO

CIO

<888> 09/27/14 Saturday 1:00 A.M. I tested the 50 foot coaxial cable that does not work, and I finally determined that it was the kitchen end that was malfunctioning. I was able to pull off the plug, and cut the cable to remove the bad part, and then I shoved the connector back on, and instead of trying to crimp it which would be tricky, I secured it with electrical tape. It works clear as a bell on the Sceptre LED television in the kitchen, but since it is secured with electrical tape, it can come lose if the television is moved, which is not necessary. However, I will use the new 50 foot coaxial cable, whenever it arrives. I removed the 25 foot coaxial cable, and I put it underneath the bed with the other coaxial cables. When I was reattaching the coaxial cable for the FIC sever at the splitter on the left side of the primary computer, I broke it, so I used a slightly shorter spare coaxial cable which should work just fine. I am starting up the FIC server in a short bit. CIO

<888> 09/25/14 Thursday 6:55 P.M. I brought up the medium size white bookcase from the dumpster area, and I dried it off. I removed the small dark oak table from the left side of the kitchen entrance, and I put the small white bookcase there. I have the wooden bread box and the Rowenta four slice toaster on top of the white bookcase. I cleaned the crumbs out of the Rowenta toaster. I did not install the DeLonghi toaster oven underneath the Rowenta toaster, since I never use it, and it sets off the living room smoke detector. I stored it on the far left bottom of the bedroom closet to have available. It is still like new. I stored some of my spare cans of food from the kitchen floor and other food items in the white bookcase at the kitchen entrance. It all looks a lot neater and more useful. I took the mahogany telephone table with the crooked repaired broken leg out of the bathroom, and I installed the small oak table in the bathroom with the same mix of items around it. I put the mahogany telephone with the repaired crooked broken leg out by the dumpster. Since I lived on Vinci Drive, I was rather amused to see empty cases of <http://www.davinciwine.com/About-Us/> Chianti in the recycle bin. I will now make cigarettes. CIO

<888> 09/25/14 Thursday 5:05 P.M. I threw out the garbage. There is a white bookcase out by the dumpster, but I have no room for it. I picked up the mail. <888> 09/25/14 Thursday 2:30 A.M. The Seiki TV in the kitchen has not worked properly, since I returned from Maine. I disconnected it, and I tried the Sceptre 23 inch LED television from the living room, and it still did not work properly, so it obviously was a problem with the 50 foot coaxial cable from the splitter by the stereo system in the living room. I did not have a replacement for it, and it would be difficult to remove, since certain items have been placed on it along its path. So I coiled it up a short length, and I put it by the floor of the white bookcase at the kitchen entrance. I then got a spare 25 foot coaxial cable, and I disconnected the FIC server TV card cable from the splitter to the right of the primary computer keyboard, and I ran the 25 foot coaxial cable from there into the kitchen, and I left the 23 inch Sceptre LED television in the kitchen. It has three HDMI port, so I did not need to use the HDMI switch to connect the Roku wireless player and the Sony Player. It all works just fine, and the kitchen TV is now clear as a bell. Of course, it only plays what is playing on the living room cable box. I moved the 20 inch Seiki LED TV to where the Sceptre TV had been in the living room in front of the stereo system connected to the coaxial cable TV box. It also is connected to the bedroom Cable Box via HDMI cable, but for that to work, the power control center in the bedroom has to be turned along with the HDMI switch box, so technically from the living room Ethan Allen recliner location, one can watch two different television channels off the two different televisions. I threw out the garbage, and I picked up two of the new telephone books at the building entrance. CIO

<888> 09/24/14 Wednesday 8:15 P.M. I put away the clean laundry. In the old days, not only did the Roosevelts live on East 65th Street, the Pierre Hotel owned by J. My computer worldwide internet office at home seems to be running just fine, but not many people communicate, because I tend to be a private individual who does not have much common with other people. Other than a few old friends on Facebook, I have not heard from anyone in my 24 years of computer activity, so I guess there is no interest in "Has Beens" from Manhattan, not that I was ever popular, when I used to explore the nearby Big City. I guess since I have a Northern European look, most people do not like seeing people with my look in Manhattan, although there are other people with Northern European looks that go there and seem to earn money, but I guess they had money to work with to begin with. Possibly it is because I am a Senior Citizen, and the younger generation does not like seeing old people around unless they are spending wampum. CIO

<888> 09/21/14 Sunday 2:45 P.M. I chatted with a relative. I will now shower and clean up. Traditionally in Greenwich, Connecticut; Sundays are a day of rest. There is really no need to exercise walk on Greenwich Avenue, when a little bit of at home well needed rest might be useful. Of course the week day working population usually has errands to do. Some people still go to church, and then go home to a big Sunday dinner. I suppose this time of year, some people are still at the beach, tennis court, golf course or out sailing. The wealthier people seem to like to keep active as opposed to resting, so anything could be happening in this neck of the woods. I suppose some people might still be gardening around their homes too. CIO

<888> 09/21/14 Sunday 2:35 A.M. I watched off the www.pbs.org Roku device channel episode 7 of "The Roosevelts" a very old New York Dutch family. I ate a Kaiser roll. One does not see many Holland Dutch people around here anymore. I have been told quite a few of them are still living in New York State up the Hudson River Valley somewhere north of us. I did see some people whom looked like they were Dutch walking around this past Friday, but maybe it was my imagination. Of course in February 1992 before the Albertville, France Winter Olympics, I spent four days in Amsterdam with a Dutch American friend, and since I tend to blend in with the Dutch nobody noticed me there. It is very cold and damp in the Netherlands on the east side of the North Sea with all of the damp moisture blowing across the Atlantic Ocean their way. I suppose since the Netherlands is not a very large country with a small population, the few Dutch people that seem to travel are pretty much lost in the larger crowd of humanity.

I ate the last four ounces of dry roasted peanuts and a 12 ounce glass of 50% punch and 50% diet Canada Dry Ginger Ale. I will now send out my weekly notes. I poured about a quarter of a cup of Borden's lemon juice over it. I then seasoned it with a few dashes of Angostura Bitters, Old Bay Seasoning, celery salt, Oliva spread and dried oregano. I then put it in the Farberware convection oven at 325 degrees Fahrenheit for 20 minutes. I put it on a dinner plate with some of the juices on top of it. I ate it with a baked potato and steamed baby carrots with Oleva spread and extra virgin olive oil on the vegetables, a Kaiser roll with Oleva spread, and a 12 ounce glass of Canada Dry diet Ginger Ale, and a cup of green tea with Equal sweetener and Borden's lemon juice. <888> 09/20/14 Saturday 8:40 P.M. I threw out the garbage. I went downtown, and I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I chatted with regulars. I was told the new frozen yogurt shop on lower Greenwich Avenue where Chili Bear used to be has their frozen yogurt self service for 59 cents an ounce. I stopped by the Greenwich Cigar store, and I played an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, and I won a free ticket. I then played another Ace's High scratch card, and I won another free Ace's High scratch card. On the third scratch card, I won $2 for a dollar profit. I sat out at various locations. I stopped by CVS. I bought for 75% off a Philips HDTV passive antenna for $4.24 and .27 tax for $4.51. While sitting at the top of Greenwich Avenue, I was asked by a pedestrian where there was a pub. I told him about the four pubs in the area. After my walk, I tried to use the bathroom at Starbucks, but it was busy. I then went to the A&P Fresh. I bought wild caught previously frozen filet of cod for $4.99 a pound for $4.09, a 5 ounce bag of Texas Toast seasoned croutons for $1.22, two sweet potatoes for $1.29 a pound for $1.46, and a Bermuda red onion for $1.99 a pound for $1.29 for $8.09 total. While I was exiting the store on the south side by the handicap parking a large 12 foot long 5 inch diameter rotten tree limb fell off a tree on to the parking lot making a very loud noise. There was no car parked where it fell, and nobody was underneath it. I told the store checker about it, and he cleaned up the mess. The person behind me in line was parked two parking places to the east of the fallen tree limb. I then returned home. I chatted with a neighbor. I picked up the mail. I put away my groceries. <888> 09/19/14 Friday 10:20 P.M. I noticed today on the front lawn of the building just east of the Shell Station on West Putnam Avenue on the south side that the Gateway tree has been chopped down and trimmed of it limbs and all that remains is a rather large tree trunk that is probably very valuable, if one happens to have a large truck and a saw mill. It might be a oak tree. I am not that good on trees. CIO

<888> 09/19/14 Friday 10:00 P.M. I ate four pieces of reheated chicken tenders, a baked potato and steamed baby carrots with Smart Balance spread and extra virgin olive oil on the vegetables, a Kaiser roll with Smart Balance spread, and a 12 ounce glass of Canada Dry diet Ginger Ale, and a cup of green tea with Equal sweetener and Borden's lemon juice. <888> 09/19/14 Friday 9:05 P.M. When I walked down Greenwich Avenue at about 4:30 P.M., there were about 50 customers lined up outside the www.apple.com computer store waiting to buy the new Iphone 6, but when I walked back up Greenwich Avenue around 5 P.M., there were only about 5 customers waiting outside, but the store was packed full of people. Also the outside terrace at the bottom of Greenwich Avenue where the old Thataway Restaurant patio used to be now has a foundation hole dug, and they have started construction on the new store office building there. CIO

<888> 09/19/14 Friday 8:45 P.M. I drove all of the way over to Greenwich Avenue. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I sat out at various locations. I stopped by Zen Stationary, and I bought an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I chatted with the night person at the Senior and the Arts Center. Their bathroom is opened at night upstairs on the third floor. However, I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I chatted with a woman from north Florida. I chatted with two regular patrons off a 47 foot sail boat from California. I stopped by CVS, and I bought two 12.5 ounce Kiwi and Lime conditioners for .77 each, a 12.5 ounce Kiwi and Lime shampoo for .77 and a 12.5 ounce tea therapy shampoo for .77 and 20 cents tax for $3.28 total. I then bought two 16 ounce Blue Diamond Wabasi and soy almonds for $5.49 each for $10.98 total. While sitting at the top of Greenwich Avenue, a middle age woman from the Washington Heights section of Manhattan asked for a dollar for train fare, which I gave the individual. It was sort of strange, since the individual was wearing a dark navy sweater that said J.P. Morgan. I chatted with a well dressed retired Marine in a blue blazer going to dinner. After I finished my walk, and I sat for a while. I then went by the Greenwich Library, and I chatted with one staff member, and I toured the lower floor. They were having a Comedy event there in the auditorium this evening. I then went by the Stop and Shop. I bought a 12 ounce generic honey for $2.50, two sweet potatoes for .99 a pound for $1.88, bananas for .69 a pound for $1.79, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $2.49, buy one get one free of 8 ounce Perdue Italian short cuts of cooked chicken for $5.99 both, two 18.5 ounce Stouffer's meat lasagnas for $3 each, a six pack of Kaiser rolls for .99 each, buy one get one free of six packs of Thomas's honey wheat English muffins for $4.29 both, a four piece cooked chicken tenders for $2.04 for $28.97 total. I then returned home. They have put a large dark green and gold letter sign on Western Junior High saying that Vinci Drive is Equal Housing Opportunity. I then put away my groceries. I chatted with a relative. I ate two handfuls of dry roasted peanuts. CIO

<888> 09/19/14 Friday 3:50 P.M. I threw out the garbage. I chatted with neighbors about the price of tea in China. I will now dress up a bit more warmly, and then I will go out for a great adventure on Greenwich Avenue to watch all of the week day office workers return from their toils in nearby Manhattan. CIO

I am now restoring the Paragon backup of that partition to fix the problem. CIO

<888> 09/19/14 Friday 12:35 P.M. I woke up at 11 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I made my bed. CIO most of my routines after returning home this past Sunday, so maybe later on today, when I finally wake up, I might venture out for a walk on Green Witch Avenue.

<888> 09/16/14 Tuesday 11:25 P.M. I chatted with a relative. I watched the third episode on PBS on the series on the Roosevelt family. There are suppose to be a lot of Roosevelt family members in this country after all of the years here. I ate a Jamaican Jerk rotisserie chicken leg, thigh, two wings, and two 1/4 inch thick slices of breast meat with Frank's hot sauce, a baked potato and steamed baby carrots with Smart Balance spread and extra virgin olive oil on the vegetables, a 12 ounce glass of Canada Dry diet Ginger Ale, and a cup of green tea with Equal sweetener and Borden's lemon juice. The baby carrots are now smaller, so one does not have to cut them into quarters lengthwise. On the medium large baked potato that I paid a dollar apiece for, I scrubbed it underneath cold water with a potato brush, and then I poked a fork into it about a dozen times all around. I microwaved it for seven minutes in the microwave oven, since it was larger. On the matter of Scottish separation from England coming from a Scottish American exile family for 290 years, I am not sure how it will effect the Scott family in America. I suppose with the Scottish being part of England for 300 years, it has made it possible for the British with their large trade network to export a lot of Scotch whisky around the world. Thus without the British, there might be more Scotch whisky left in Scotland for the locals to enjoy instead of sending out all around the world. Not many people from Scotland have ever networked with me, since I am also half Dutch American, since my mother is 100% Dutch American. Of course Western Europe with a half billion people which geographically is not too large of an area, I imagine over the years, a lot of the Europeans have moved around between countries, and not bothered to cross the Atlantic Ocean in this direction. <888> 09/15/14 Monday 10:45 P.M. I watched the second episode on PBS about the Roosevelt family. The Roosevelt family is apparently from Manhattan, but they advertise their summer homes in Oyster Bay, Long Island <http://www.nps.gov/sahi/index.htm> and Hyde Park, New York <http://www.nps.gov/hofr/index.htm> . When the Bank of New York bought Putnam Trust here in Greenwich, I happened to have recently bought a book for $10 at the Greenwich Hospital Thrift Shop on the 150th anniversary of the Bank of New York. I gave it to the head office at Putnam Trust. In the book written about 1927, it said that although the Bank of New York was started by Alexander Hamilton, it was with Elihu Roosevelt's money. Thus the Roosevelt's probably had a bit of money. I also have read that they were invested in coal mines in upstate New York and Steam Ships on the Ohio River. They also have a lot of pictures of old clipper ships in the Living Room at Hyde Park, so they were probably invested in the shipping business also. I once read that the original Roosevelt in this country was a pirate in hid out in upstate New York as a dairy farmer. Franklin Roosevelt use to list his profession as a apple farmer. Their houses in Hyde Park and Oyster Bay are near another prominent Dutch family called the Vanderbilt's, so they might have had business connections together. I once toured Sagamore Hill, when I was living in Port Washington, Long Island around 1979. I also toured Hyde Park about 25 years ago. Franklin and Eleanor's grave is there underneath a large piece of white Vermont marble. Helen Kress Williams was a neighbor in Oyster Bay, and she knew Alice Blue Gown. Professor Hanke at www.lfc.edu used to lecture on Teddie Roosevelt all of the time. I took two of his courses. I ate six ounces of mixed nuts and three slices of provolone cheese. CIO

<888> 09/15/14 Monday 9:00 A.M. I woke up at 7:30 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I made my bed. I put a new Air Wick scent machine refill in the Glade scent machine at the apartment entrance. CIO

End of Scott's Notes week of 09/14/14

<888> 09/14/14 Sunday 11:05 P.M. I will now send out my notes for the last four weeks. I will then shut down the primary work computer, and I will go to bed.

<888> 09/14/14 Sunday 10:25 P.M. I chatted with a relative. I ate a 18.25 ounce Stouffers three meat and five cheese lasagna with grated parmesan and Romano cheese and a 12 ounce glass of diet Canada Dry Ginger Ale. I watched the PBS program on the Roosevelt family. CIO

<888> 09/14/14 Sunday 7:40 P.M. After the last note yesterday, I packed and loaded my luggage into the Volvo wagon. I went out with a relative, and we went by the Kennebunkport post office. We then drove to Kennebunk, and we did an errand, and then we went to Hannaford's for some groceries and returned to Kennebunkport. I took a nap from 4 P.M. to 5 P.M.. We watched Lawrence Welk on Maine Public Television. We then drove to the Wells, Maine Amtrak station to pick up another relative. We then tried to go the Kennebunk Tavern and then the Kennebunk Hotel, but they were both busy for dinner. We went to <http://www.alissons.com> in Kennebunkport finally for dinner. I ate the Queen Size 12 ounce medium rare roast beef with mashed potatoes and mixed vegetables for $21.99 with a glass of iced tea with lemon wedge and Sweet and Low. We then returned home, and I went to bed at 9:30 P.M.. I woke up at 6:30 A.M. today. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey, milk, and sliced banana; a muffin, a glass of 50% orange juice and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truvia sweetener and milk and vitamins and supplements. I made a ham and Swiss cheese sandwich on 15 grain bread with Hellmann's mayonnaise to take with me. I showered, and I cleaned up. I stripped the bed and started washing the dirty laundry. I packed my few other items. I said good bye to all of my relatives. I left at 8:15 A.M.. I drove south out of Kennebunkport on Route 9 and south on U.S. 1 to Wells, Maine, and I stopped by the Amtrak train station for a break. I got on I-95 South and I paid a $3 toll and a $2 toll. I stopped at the Massachusetts Welcome center. I got on I-495 West. I stopped at the Lowell rest area. I got on I-290 West, and I got on the Massachusetts turnpike. I stopped at the Charlton rest area. I chatted with a relative. I ate half of my sandwich. I bought $18 of self service premium Gulf gasoline for $3.819 a gallon for 4.712 gallons for at odometer reading of 109589 miles for 130.9 miles since the fill up two days before in Kennebunkport for 27.781 miles per gallon in highway traffic. I then got off at the I-84 West exit, and I paid a 50 cent toll. I stopped at the Connecticut Welcome Center. I got on I-91 South. I then got on I-15 West. I stopped at the North Haven rest area. I then stopped at the Fairfield rest area. Two www.navy.mil sailors had run out of gasoline money, since they had forgotten their wallet, when they left New London for Rye, New York, so I gave them $10 cash to make it to Rye, New York, and my internet card, so they can mail it back to me. I then got off at North Street in Greenwich, and I stopped by the Putnam Shell on 401 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $18 of self service premium V-Power gasoline for $4.379 a gallon for 4.111 gallons for at odometer reading of 109720 miles for 131.5 miles driving since the previous fill up for 31.988 miles per gallon in highway traffic. I said hello to my building custodian who was there. I then returned to my apartment complex at 2:35 P.M. for 261.3 miles driving from my relatives' house. I chatted with a relative. I then unloaded the luggage. I turned on the hot water and the toilet water. I also turned on the air conditioners and the fans. I watered the plants. I chatted with two friends and a relative. I ate the other half of my sandwich with a 12 ounce glass of Canada Dry Ginger Ale. I unpacked all of my luggage. I chatted with neighbors. I started up the FIC server. I paid my <http://optonline.net/> Digital Cable TV, Optimum Boost Plus, Optimum Voice, and my <http://www.cl-p.com/> electricity bill. My current Optimum bill was about $195, which is about $65 for high speed Cable Modem, $35 for Optimum Voice long distance and about $95 for premium Cable TV. However that includes $25 in discounts for all three packages which covers the two cable boxes which are about $12 and taxes other fees. I also paid the first of four payments on my www.geico.com automobile policy that begins October 8, 2014 for six months. The apartment seems just fine, and with the cooler weather it was not too hot, when I got back. CIO

<888> 09/13/14 Saturday 10:00 A.M. . I woke up at 8:30 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey, milk, and sliced banana; a muffin, a glass of 50% orange juice and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truvia sweetener and milk and vitamins and supplements. I will now shower and clean up. I will then pack my belongings including the computer equipment to be ready to leave tomorrow morning. Thus I will not be posting anymore notes, until I return to Greenwich, Connecticut tomorrow afternoon. CIO

<888> 09/12/14 Friday 8:10 P.M. I watched the www.nbcnews.com national news while eating French cheese, dip, triscuit crackers with watered down orange juice. For dinner, I had spinach quiche with sliced home grown tomatoes with vinaigrette dressing and watered down orange juice. I cleaned up the kitchen and started the dishwasher. I will now shut down the laptop computer, and I will read and watch television before going to bed. With the wild ducks in the backyard tidal pond, we could start our own branch of the Kennebunkport Ducks Unlimited. When I went to www.lfc.edu , the chairman of the board of trustees William McCormick Blair was the founder of Ducks Unlimited. Also a friend from Bedford, New York used to go to the Ducks Unlimited dinners there with the former governor of Massachusetts. When I once chatted with a friend's relative who is the heir to the Union Pacific railroad fortune, the only thing he chatted about was Ducks Unlimited, but that was over 25 years ago. Some relatives last week visited Glacier National Park up in northern Montana. If one does not mind grizzly bears that is really getting away from it all. I went by the Kennebunkport post office with a relative. We then drove along the entire length of the Kennebunk beach and back. Starting Monday September 15, 2014; anyone can park at the Kennebunk beach in the daytime for free, but it might be a bit cooler by then. For lunch I had a ham and turkey and Swiss cheese sandwich on whole wheat bread with Hellmann's mayonnaise and wabasi and ginger potato chips and potato salad and carrot soup and a 8 ounce glass of Canada Dry ginger ale. I saw a half dozen tour buses with senior citizens off cruise ships that docked in the harbor in Portland, Maine moving around the downtown and beach area of Kennebunk and Kennebunkport. Sometime in the near future, they are going to start replacing the draw bridge in downtown Kennebunkport which will probably disrupt the regular traffic flow with people having to detour around to the north. I will now take a nap.

<888> 09/04/14 Thursday 8:10 P.M. I went with a relative, and we picked up another relative. We went to the <http://www.villagetavernwestk.com/> for dinner. I ate sautéed medium rare beef tenderloin tips on a bed of sautéed baby spinach with horseradish sauce and two potato pancakes with crème fraiche sauce for $21 and a glass of iced tea with Equal sweetener and a lemon wedge. I also finish a relative's filet of grilled wild salmon dinner with sweet potato. I also had two slices of sour dough bread with extra virgin olive oil and butter. We dropped the relative off. We then returned to my relatives' house. I fixed the master bathroom toilet handle by tightening the nylon nut on the inside of the toilet tank one eighth of a turn beyond tight with a pipe wrench. On nylon nuts, one does not tighten them too tight, so as not to shear the threads. CIO

<888> 09/04/14 Thursday 3:45 P.M. I chatted with a relative. I ate two slices of Hannaford's pepperoni pizza with watered down orange juice. I went by the Kennebunkport post office. I took two hours and watered the plants and bushes in front and rear and on the deck. I also pinched off the dead flowers off the plants on the deck. I also swept the front walk and the deck. I drank a glass of watered down orange juice. There is a grey heron from down south in the rear tidal pond. It seems to return every year, but I have no idea where it goes down south in the winter. Maybe somebody should try to put a GPS tracking device on it to see where it comes from. CIO

<888> 09/04/14 Thursday 11:45 A.M. I went back to bed until 10:30 A.M.. I showered, and I cleaned up. I chatted with a friend. I emptied the dishwasher. I emptied the two dehumidifiers downstairs which I do regularly. CIO

<888> 09/04/14 Thursday 8:25 A.M. I ate two ounces of mixed nuts during the night. I woke up at 7 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey, milk, and sliced banana; a muffin, a glass of 50% orange juice and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truvia sweetener and milk and vitamins and supplements. I paid my Verizon telephone bill. My relative cancelled the 11 A.M. appointment. CIO

<888> 09/03/14 Wednesday 8:10 P.M. I woke up at 5:45 P.M.. I watched the local evening news and www.nbcnews.com national news while eating French cheese, dip, triscuts, and Canadian crackers with watered down orange juice. For dinner, I ate three scrambled eggs with a toasted English muffin with butter and watered down orange juice. I will now shut down the laptop computer, and I will go to bed. I have to be up at 8 A.M. tomorrow morning to take a relative to a 11 A.M. appointment. CIO

<888> 09/03/14 Wednesday 4:50 P.M. I went out with a relative, and we went by the two jewelry stores in Kennebunkport trying to get a watch battery fixed to no avail. We then went by the Kennebunkport Post Office. We then went by French Nail in the Ace Hardware shopping plaza in Kennebunk. While waiting for a relative, I noticed next door there was a computer store next door called "B9C", but I did not go into it. I chatted with two friends on my wireless phone. I was also able to use the wireless from the nearby Subway sandwich shop. We next went to Gold Dust and Rouge jewelry store in Kennebunk, and we got my relative's watch battery fixed for $10. We then went by CVS. I got buy one get one free of Niacin flush free for $14.99 both. I also picked up a prescription. We then went by Hannaford's grocery store. We then returned to my relatives' house in Kennebunkport. For lunch, I had sandwich on whole wheat bread with Hellmann's mayonnaise with ham and turkey with Swiss cheese and wabasi and ginger potato chips and a glass of watered down orange juice. I will now take a nap. CIO

<888> 09/03/14 Wednesday 10:35 A.M. I woke up at 9:15 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey, milk, and sliced banana; a muffin, a glass of 50% orange juice and 50% cold filtered water, and a cup of coffee with Truvia sweetener and milk and vitamins and supplements. I will now shower and clean up. CIO

<888> 09/02/14 Tuesday 8:15 P.M. I ate dip and French cheese with triscuts and Canadian crackers and watered down orange juice while watching the www.abcnews.com evening news. For dinner, I ate baked breaded filet of haddock, a sweet potato with butter, broccoli with butter, and watered down orange juice. I cleaned up the kitchen. I started the dishwasher. I will now shut down the laptop computer and read before going to bed. CIO

<888> 09/02/14 Tuesday 5:45 P.M. I woke up at 5 P.M.. It rained while I was asleep, so I don't have to water the plants. There were also a vintage B-52 and B-51 planes flying over Walker's Point.

<888> 09/02/14 Tuesday 3:25 P.M. I went out with a relative, and we went by the Kennebunkport post office. We then stopped by H&B provisions, and we bought a 59 ounce container of Tropicana orange juice for $6.29 and a half gallon of Hood 1% milk for $2.49. We then drove along the entire length of the Kennebunk beach and returned. We stopped by Port Lobster and got three quarters of a pound of filet of Haddock for $9.99 a pound. We drove along the waterfront in Kennebunkport. For lunch, I had sandwich on whole wheat bread with Hellmann's mayonnaise with a barbecued chicken breast with Swiss cheese and sliced tomato, wabasi and ginger potato chips and a glass of watered down orange juice. I put away the dry laundry, and I put clean sheets on my bed. I will now take a nap. CIO

<888> 09/02/14 Tuesday 12:50 P.M. I mopped the kitchen floor with Windex and hot water. I put eight Jobs fruit and citrus tree spikes around the inner parameter of the wild plum tree in the front yard. I put bone meal around the two rose bushes and the flowers by the sidewalk on the south end of the house. I watered the hanging baskets and the flowers and rose bushes in the front of the house. I put the mixed load of laundry in the dryer. CIO

<888> 09/02/14 Tuesday 11:05 A.M. I started a mixed load of laundry. As it stands now, I will be returning to Greenwich, Connecticut on Tuesday, September 16, 2014. On the Monday before on September 15, we are having carpet installed in the bunk room downstairs, so I have to be here for that. CIO

<888> 09/02/14 Tuesday 10:15 A.M. I woke up at 9 A.M.. <888> 09/01/14 Monday 9:00 P.M. Some of my relatives left around noon. I printed out two copies of my Microsoft Money Income Versus Spending report for August 2014, and I gave one copy to an interested relative. I ate two reheated slices of sausage pizza with watered down orange juice for lunch. I went out with a relative, and we went by Wal-Mart in Biddeford, Maine. They cannot replace watch batteries on watches they do not sell. We then went by T.J. Maxx. We then went by Ace Hardware store in Kennebunk, Maine. We got Jobs Tree fertilizer spikes for fruit and citrus trees for $9.99 plus tax. We then went by Hannaford's and got some groceries. We then returned to my relatives' house in Kennebunkport. I took a nap from 4:30 P.M. to 5:45 P.M.. I put the garbage and recycle materials out by the street for pickup tomorrow. We watched the www.nbcnews.com evening news, and ate some French cheese and hummus with triscuts and Canadian crackers and watered down orange juice. For dinner, I had marinated barbecued chicken breast, sweet corn on the cob with butter, potato salad and watered down orange juice. I cleaned up the kitchen. We went for a drive along the Kennebunk beach and along the Kennebunkport waterfront. It was not too busy out, so I guess a lot of the Labor Day Weekend Holiday visitors have left. CIO

<888> 09/01/14 Monday 10:35 A.M. I woke up at 9:45 A.M.. <888> 10/30/14 Thursday 4:15 P.M. I will now shower and clean up. There is no point in going downtown to Greenwich Avenue to face the West Coast mafia, when I have a large network of friends on the East Coast whom seem to take care of business in their own simple ways. The most dynamic thing happening around here is that this Saturday the new www.chase.com bank is opening on west side of the Greenwich Library, where the old www.exxon.com gasoline station used to be. It is a mostly a glass building and as someone once said, "People Whom Live in Glass Houses, Should Not Throw Stones". Of course there are some other banks in Greenwich that the general public does not seem to pay much attention to. Thus Greenwich, Connecticut is a minor financial hub which seems to survive despite the turmoil from the nearby Manhattan Indians and the Stamford Financial Center that is suppose to be the world's fourth largest financial center. Still with all of the financial activity in this area, none of the Wampum seems to come my way after 31 years having returned from a summer out in www.nantucket.net , where life is simpler where people manage to survive off clam shells. I guess the West Coast types when they travel east forget about all of the land locked people in between both coasts whom have their own perspective and networks. Up in North Salem, New York where a lot of the rich liberals live, they only seem to pick apples this time of year, but if one can afford the taxes I guess it is more private up there. There is not much of a downtown area in South Salem, New York except for a deli and antique store. In the more remote area of New Canaan, Connecticut, one sees a lot more younger people because the high school is on the main road into town. Ridgefield, Connecticut is less expensive than Greenwich, but it is a lot more remote. Wilton, Connecticut is on the busy Route 7, so a lot of people might be out in the woods around there. Of course Greenwich, Connecticut has a very good local hospital which as one gets older is more important. I think as of November 1, anyone can venture out to Tod's Point in Old Greenwich without a beach pass, and one can bring dogs, but one has to clean up after them. Of course living on the border with New York, one frequently can find shopping in nearby Port Chester, New York more convenient than exploring the wilderness of Connecticut. Nearby www.costco.com in Port Chester, New York seems to attract a lot of the back country Greenwich people whom have room to stock up on supplies unlike apartment people. CIO

I have not been out much at night in the cold recently, so I have not been gradually getting use to it, like I used to. Still I have plenty of winter clothes for when it gets colder. I do not drive in the snow though, since although I am good at driving in snow, I am not so sure about the other drivers, particularly those from further down south. It does not usually get severely cold here until the first week of December, which I can recall about five years ago, it was zero degrees Fahrenheit during the first week of December. Still if one keeps busy at home, one can get use to spending more time inside in one's old age. In an emergency I still have two www.army.mil sleeping bags good to minus 20 degrees Fahrenheit in case we ever lose heat in this building for an extended time. However, if that ever happened the pipes would probably freeze, so we probably would not be too comfortable living here in those conditions. Still it does not hurt to be prepared for an emergency during winter weather conditions, although I do not seem to get out as much in the cold weather anymore. I noticed the younger people are still walking around in summer clothes, so they are used to colder conditions. CIO

<888> 10/29/14 Wednesday 10:00 A.M. I will now shower and clean up. I have a little bit of work to do around the apartment, so I will probably be staying at home today. I think the general public is bored of seeing me downtown so much of the time, so I will continue to work in my home office, where I manage to keep busy. After all of the years downtown, none of the business or other types in the community want to network with me, so I guess they have another focus in terms of their viewpoint of Greenwich versus my 50 plus years of experience. Of course downtown Greenwich Avenue is only a small part of the local community. However, if one had a bit of money one could drive up to Bedford, New York and loiter on the Bedford town green where not much ever seems to be happening. In the old days, when my family could afford to live in back country Greenwich, most of my friends were from Bedford, New York; so possibly a few of them still live there in remote wilderness of Bedford, where they still have gravel and dirt roads. that with www.ibm.com nearby, there do not seem to be many computer people in the area that wish to communicate. I guess they are intimidated by my family connection with <http://www.ncsa.illinois.edu/> which since I don't know UNIX, and it is probably too cold for me to ever try to live out there in the corn belt, I am left picking up the pieces around www.ibm.com . <888> 10/25/14 Saturday 10:50 P.M. I finished the system backups for now. I took four large eggs, expire November 8, 2014, and I broke them into a mixing bowl, and I added two tablespoons of milk, and seasoned the mixture with celery salt and oregano and grated parmesan and Romano cheese, and I whisked the mixture together. I then took my seasoned omelet pan, and I added two tablespoons of extra virgin olive oil and a tablespoon of Smart Balance spread, and I heated the pan over medium electric burner heat until the fat bubbled, and then I added the egg mixture. Once the eggs mixture was hardened enough on the bottom, I flipped it over with a spatula to let the top side of the egg mixture cook, and I put three deli slices of ham and three deli slices of American cheese on one side of the top side, and I flipped the other side over it, and I slid it onto a dinner plate with a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread on it, and I ate it all with a 12 ounce glass of Sprite lemon soda. Then one can take a dog www.greyhound.com senior web fare for $37.55 or adult web fare for $39.50 from Miami, Florida to Key West, Florida www.liveduvalstreet.com. Also I think there is a Grey Hound bus terminal in Coral Gables, Florida that might be closer to the Miami airport, and there might be local bus service between the airport and the bus terminal. Of course, once one is down there, one might not survive unless one has money to live off in a very expensive resort which used to be full of homeless types in less prosperous economic times. Of course Pan American Airlines started its original flight network by flying from Key West to Havana, so between the United States Navy pilots and the Pan American Airline pilots, there used to be a lot of flight personnel in Cayo Hueso. <888> 10/24/14 Friday 12:25 P.M. I finished installing the Windows Updates on the FIC server. I am now doing a Complete PC backup of the FIC server to the second internal hard drive. The new Seagate 320 GB SATA hard drive is the second internal hard drive. The primary hard drive is a Seagate 160 GB IDE hard drive less than two years old. One of the reasons for installing the same SATA hard drive instead of a larger one is that if I tried to restore on of my several Complete PC backups, for the restore to work, the second hard drive has to be the same size and possibly the same one, even if the restore is coming from an external hard drive. I will now shower and clean up. CIO

<888> 10/24/14 Friday 1:40 A.M. After the last note, I put the new Seagate SATA drive in the Orico USB SATA drive holder, and I connected it to the USB server, but it was not recognized. I then tried the same thing with the Rosewell USB SATA Drive holder, and it was not recognized. I then opened up the FIC server, and I took out the Seagate 320 GB SATA drive, and I put it in the new Orico USB SATA drive holder, and I put my new identical Seagate 320 GB SATA drive in the Rosewell USB SATA drive holder, and I connected them both to the primary work computer. Over the next eight hours, I copied all of the files from the old Seagate drive to the new Seagate Drive. While doing that I took out the four old Antec LED case fans from the FIC server which were quite dirty and I threw them away. I cleaned the case fan enclosures and the space between the front of the metal case and its front plastic cover. There was quite a lot of dark crud build up. In fact the front fan case openings were completely blocked. I also cleaned the CPU cooler cooper vents. It has a fairly new CPU cooler fan. I used compressed air to clean out the lose crud from inside the FIC CPU case, and I even turned it upside down and shook it to remove any additional debris. I installed four generic blue LED 80 MM case fans. I also replaced the 2032 CMOS battery with a new one. I tested the setup, but on restoring the bios defaults and testing them, it took me about three hours to remember I have to set the memory to 133 MHz instead of the default 166 Mhz. I also had to set it to AGP video and a few other minor settings. While waiting for the files to copy to the new hard drive., I chatted with two relatives. I also went downstairs, and I picked up my mail, and the MacGray card machine is still not fixed. I ate a ham and American cheese sandwich on toasted 15 grain bread with Hellmann's olive oil mayonnaise and a dill pickle slice and a Lays low sodium potato chips and a 12 ounce glass of Sprite lemon soda. Once the files were copied to the new Seagate 320 GB SATA hard drive, I installed it into the FIC server, but it was not recognized. I then noticed on the old identical Seagate hard drive, there was a 1/8th inch square twin pin dip pin that I took off the old drive, and I put on the new drive on the right two pins. Then the new Seagate 320 GB SATA drive was recognized, and the FIC system works just fine as before. I closed up the case, and I used my Black and Decker dust buster to clean up the lose crud that I generated in my work. I had to solder one of the small wires on the small red LED light switch that I accidentally broke off while working on the system. Still the FIC Server is up and running just fine. The old Seagate drive that I took out had been installed and running continuously for eight years, so I would say it is pretty good hard drive to replace it with the same new one. The case fans were about six years old. Since I have new case fans in the FIC server, and since it also was cleaned of the crud, it should run cooler, and also it no longer makes any noise. CIO

<888> 10/23/14 Thursday 1:35 P.M. I saw on Fox Business news, the cheapest gasoline in the country is $2.49 a gallon for regular self service gasoline at the Busy Bee gasoline station in Houston, Texas; if one pays cash. Mean while at the local gasoline stations, it is quite a bit more expensive http://util.automobilemag.com/31/connecticut/fairfield/greenwich/gas_prices.html in this neck of the woods. Thus I prefer to continue to work out of my home office than observing people downtown on Greenwich Avenue who do not share my point of view or economic experience. CIO

<888> 10/23/14 Thursday 1:25 P.M. I called up the Greenwich Housing Authority <http://greenwichhousing.org/> at 1-203-869-1138 to tell them the MacGray laundry card machine at 71 Vinci Drive is not working. They told me it is the correct procedure to call up MacGray. I could go to the Cos Cob Laundromat to do laundry, but driving that far east in town is not part of my normal routine, and I might be tempted to spend money at the Radio Shack next door, which I can ill afford. The rich daytime people do not like seeing the very poor night time people, when they infrequently come out in the daytime, and on a daytime schedule, they tend to treat me like a foreign visitor, although I have lived here since June of 1962. Most people in Greenwich do not have the vast experience of living elsewhere that I have, so they tend to be programmed on their local experiences in the local community and what they read in the local paper www.greenwichtime.com and what they see on the local television depending on what television services they can afford. In other words, they do not all share the same viewpoint by any stretch of the imagination. CIO

<888> 10/23/14 Thursday 1:00 P.M. I went ahead and renewed NASA magazine, when they called a second time. I threw out the garbage and the old periodical literature. I said "Hello" to neighbors. They are still working on installing the freight elevator. The MacGray card machine still does not work. I still have plenty of clean laundry, so there is no rush. I watered the plants. CIO

<888> 10/23/14 Thursday 10:55 A.M. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I made my bed. I will now shower and clean up. <888> 10/23/14 Thursday 9:45 A.M. I woke up at 9 A.M.. I called <http://www.macgray.com/> at 1-800-MAC-GRAY and reported the card machine in the laundry downstairs does not work. In the old days, Ronnie who used to work at Partridge and Rockwell claimed he was the Maytag repairman in Greenwich, but I have not seen him around in quite a while. CIO

<888> 10/23/14 Thursday 1:35 A.M. Earlier this evening, I tried using the MacGray card machine a second time, but it still would not recharge my card. When I tried to buy a new card, it says the machine needs to be serviced. I will now shut down the primary work computer. I will eat eight ounces of Dannon vanilla yogurt. I will then go to bed. I guess I will have to see if the MacGray card machine works later on today. I think if I am on a later schedule, it might be to risky for an older person like myself to go to the Cos Cob Laundromat in the early evening to do laundry. That part of town has a lot of younger people whom can be very mischievous. CIO

<888> 10/22/14 Wednesday 10:40 A.M. I threw out the garbage. I said hello to a neighbor. The front entry way is blocked, because the elevator people have taken down some of the construction barrier plywood in the front lobby for installing the new freight elevator. I said hello to the elevator people. Apparently there is some sort of basement area underneath the main part of the building, so the custodian is going to use it for storing some of his work equipment. This public housing project at 71 Vinci Drive for elderly and disabled people was built during the Reagan Republican administration. During the H.W. Bush administration, we had more disposable income. During the Clinton administration, they cut back on our disposable income, but I think they replaced the slate roof with an asphalt shingle roof. During the W. Bush administration, they put in new double pane windows. During the Obama administration, they put in insulation in the ceilings and now the freight elevator. It would be nice if they gave us more disposable income. CIO

I was told by two local police officers in Greenwich that the new police cars in service have the Belgium license plate scanning system, where they can scan fifty thousand license plates an hour and compare them to a data base to see if anything is out of order. It would be interesting to know, if the same system would know if one's automobile insurance had expired or not besides matters like registration and emissions and ownership of the vehicle. I walked lower Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I stopped by the Greenwich Cigar store, and I played an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. It was pretty much a normal Saturday morning. I chatted with a few local seniors. I watched the Greenwich High School home coming parade which was very festive and colorful. I then returned home to the tranquil setting of Chateau De Vinci. CIO

<888> 10/18/14 Saturday 8:15 A.M. The <http://www.fpcg.org/> is still looking for a new full time minister. When I lived in Decatur, Alabama, I became a member of the First Presbyterian Church there. However, when we moved to Greenwich, Connecticut in 1962 and lived in back country off Round Hill Road, we went to our local church <http://www.roundhillcommunitychurch.org/> which was Episcopal. When I went to the Taft School in Watertown, Connecticut, I did not go to the school church service very often, but instead I went to the Episcopal Church 7 A.M. Communion Service on the Green. When I went to www.lfc.edu it was a Presbyterian College. When I returned back east I knew a lot of church people, but I never got a decent job, so I mostly was on a night schedule observing the world go by, and I never bother going to church, since I usually was not awake on Sunday morning. When I lived in www.nantucket.net I learned the Quakers out there were originally Presbyterian, but when they learned the Quaker religion did not have a minister they would have to pay, they became Quakers. When I was briefly in Key West, Florida in the mid 1970s, they thought I was an Episcopal priest, since I was one of the few people that spoke English. Thus religion in America is a mixed bag of things depending on where one lives and what one's income is. Since my mother's family is from Holland, Michigan where the Dutch Reform Church is also very active, I happen to have a lot of relatives involved in the Dutch Reform Church. The Scott family in Champaign, Illinois I was once told were either Methodist or Baptist, depending on which relative one talked to. CIO

<888> 10/18/14 Saturday 7:15 A.M. I got a little bit of business advise for the local business community last night. Since the Rockefeller family became a very private family over 30 years ago withdrawing from the public eye, not much is known about them except a report about 20 years ago that they were raising Swiss Dairy Cows at their farm in North Tarrytown, New York; so they can write off the property taxes on their farm as a working farm which means lower property taxes. Since they probably have good quality milk, it was suggested that they start making cheese to increase the farm's revenue. CIO

<888> 10/17/14 Friday 7:45 P.M. I chatted with neighbors. One neighbor still needs me when I have to the time to check out his computer wireless connection and his living room air television connection. I just recently have not had much free daytime time, since I have been on a night schedule. I went to my 1:30 P.M. appointment. I even wore my light green summer weight suede sports jacket that I got as a clearance item from Joseph Banks for $20 with free shipping a few years ago. Of course at size 48 regular, it is a bit tight. I recently have been wearing a 50 regular. I have two blue blazers that I think are 50 regular. I also have a nice size 48 regular Orvis Harris Tweed Jacket. However, not many people wear sports jackets anymore, since the younger generation like to wear sports wear. After my appointment, I went by CVS. I had to wait a while to pick up two prescriptions. I chatted with a Canadian that had a house in Nantucket. I bought buy one get one free of CVS time release 60 capsule vitamin B-100 for $14.79 both and one of their last five packs with one mini Bic lighters for $7.29 with $1.83 off CVS coupon and $1.29 tax for $21.54 total. I then drove further downtown, and I stood out on a warm day chatting with another senior citizen who had a son driving out to Chicago. I then walked over to Zen Stationary, and I played an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, and I won a free card, and on the second card, I lost. I then sat out for a while longer. I then went by the Stop and Shop. I bought a quart of Dannon vanilla yogurt for $3.19, Stop and Shop deli sliced white American cheese for $4.99 a pound for $4.94, Stop and Shop deli sliced honey cured ham for $5.99 a pound for $6.23, two 9 ounce Wise Lightly salted potato chips for $2.50 each, two sweet potatoes for .99 a pound for $1.25, bananas for .49 a pound for $1.45, and 30 cents can return for $21.76 total. I looked around for blue berry muffins, but they were all sold out, and at $4 a four pack, they are a bit expensive and probably fattening. I then returned home to Chateau De Vinci. I delivered a package to a neighbor. I picked up my mail. I finally got my Renter's Rebate check, but it is about $300 less this year at $411.90, which I guess will help pay for my www.geico.com automobile insurance, so Warren Buffet can get richer on a car that I can not afford to drive too far. I think in Connecticut, insurance companies like the one in California, should charge for the number of miles one drives instead of the fixed rate. I chatted with a relative. I put away my purchases. <888> 10/16/14 Thursday 10:30 A.M. On the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the Ethan Allen recliner, I cleaned the Microsoft wireless mouse and wireless keyboard the same way. I have read reports that a computer keyboard and mouse can be dirtier than a toilet seat. Maybe computer people should wear medical surgical sanitary gloves. On the Windows 8.1 partition, I installed the latest version of www.skype.com and the latest version of www.openoffice.org. I did not put Advanced System Care 7 on it, since I don't know if it is compatible with Windows 8.1. I am now installing the Windows Updates. Although I do not use it very much, the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the Ethan Allen recliner is my primary deluxe customer showroom demo hardware desktop piece of equipment in case as an Microsoft OEM which I am, I every get any interested people coming my way. On a limited budget, it is all that I can afford for a demo computer. It does work well, but I am used to my primary work computer which has certain backup features which I prefer, although is a slower machine. CIO

<888> 10/16/14 Thursday 9:10 A.M. I cleaned the same way the Microsoft wireless keyboard and mouse from the IBM ThinkCentre in the bedroom. I installed Skype on the Windows 10 Technical Preview on the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the mahogany bureau. CIO

<888> 10/16/14 Thursday 8:35 A.M. I cleaned the Microsoft wireless keyboard and wireless mouse on the primary computer. First shake the keyboard vigorously upside down to remove any dust and small debris. A lot can come out. I use a damp terry cloth bath rag with Windex glass cleaner to clean them, and then I dry them with a terry cloth hand towel. As I maintain the desktop computers, I replace any wireless keyboard and mice AA alkaline batteries that need to be replaced. CIO

<888> 10/16/14 Thursday 8:15 A.M. I put the latest version of www.skype.com that happens to work on both partitions on the two Dell Latitude D410 laptop computers, the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29 laptop computer, the Epox desktop, and the Dell Dimension 4600i desktop. I also put Advance System Care 7 on them and ran it on all of them to tweak their systems. I put the latest version of OpenOffice on the Dell Dimension 4600i desktop. I cleaned the Epox Microsoft wireless keyboard and mouse, and I put a light blue hand towel cover on it. I also put a light blue hand towel cover on the Microsoft wireless keyboard on the IBM ThinkCentre along side the Ethan Allen recliner. Electronics because they can carry a light amount of static electricity on their surfaces can attract what I call electronic dust. <888> 10/13/14 Monday 4:05 A.M. I will now shower and clean up. In the old days, when New York City was bankrupt in the early 1970s after the stock market crash and the Arab oil embargo, I knew somebody that had a cheap ground floor apartment at 420 East 49th Street near the www.un.org , so I got to see a lot of the people in that neighborhood. I am told by a friend that since the United Nations is a diplomatic neutral zone, one is still allowed to smoke cigarettes there for better or worse. About the most famous person in that neighborhood at the time was John D. Rockefeller III who lived part time at One Beekman Place and the British Consulate to the United Nations also lived in the same building. However, I mostly ended up walking around in circles in that neighborhood, and the British Consulate building was nearby on Third Avenue. They had two Royal Blue Daimlers parked on East 49th street all of the time at a Diplomatic parking zone, and they hardly ever moved for lack of gasoline in the area. In February 1975, after I threw a big party in Manhattan, I quit visiting Manhattan, and stayed in Greenwich at my family's house, until later that summer, when I explored www.nantucket.net , which was more peaceful. I did live briefly again in Manhattan from November 1980 until February 1982 on West 74th Street with a friend whose husband was in the State Department. However, those were very cold winters after Mount St. Helen erupted, so once again it was mostly walking around in circles, but for part of the time, my roommate had a white German

Shepard and a Doberman Pincher that I was also able to walk around in the neighborhood. CIO

I put the battery in the RayoVac floating lantern, and I have it placed at the apartment entrance on top of the Samsung color laser printer. CIO

<888> 10/12/14 Sunday 11:55 A.M. I threw out the garbage. I went downtown. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I sat out at various locations. The train station bathroom is locked on Sunday morning, but one can get a key. I used the very nice bathroom at the Belgium bakery. They have the foundation dug, where the old Thataway patio used to be. They are building another building there with apartments upstairs. I chatted with a single individual waiting outside the www.apple.com store waiting to buy his son whose birthday is in three days an Iphone 6. When one of the Apple employees showed up, they told him they are sold out. Apparently a lot of people have been buying them and selling them on Ebay to the Chinese where they are not available until a later date. I gave the potential customer one of my internet cards. I then used the bathroom at Starbucks. I chatted briefly with a foreign speaking individual, but I did not ask the individual, where he was from. I then headed up Greenwich Avenue to CVS. I bought two 8.75 ounce CVS Deluxe mixed nuts lightly salted without peanuts for $3.99 each can for $7.98 total. I then sat out briefly at the top of Greenwich Avenue. I then returned to CVS. I bought for 75% off a Philips Dual USB charging station for $6.74 and a Rayovac Floating lantern with battery for $6.99 less $7 CVS bonus bucks and .43 tax for $7.16 total. I used the bathroom at CVS. I then returned down Greenwich Avenue. I sat out for a while. I then went by Zen Stationary, and I played an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I sat out for a while more enjoying the day. I then went by the Stop and Shop. I bought a four pack of day old German chocolate muffins for $2, a 15 grain Pepperidge Farm loaf of bread for $3.99, two 15 ounce Chef Boyardee ravioli for a dollar each can, a 12 ounce bottle of Frank's original hot sauce for $2.79, a 12 ounce package of Perdue chicken cutlets for $2.39, a prepared rotisserie chicken dinner with two legs and two thighs and green beans for $1.99, a two pound bag of baby carrots for $2.49, bananas for .49 a pound for .50, two sweet potatoes for .99 a pound for $1.45 and 65 cents can return for $18.95 total. I then returned home, and I chatted with neighbors. I put away my groceries. CIO

<888> 10/12/14 Sunday 7:20 A.M. I ate six quarter inch thick slices of white rotisserie chicken breast meat with Frank's hot sauce, a baked sweet potato or yam with steamed baby carrots cut into quarters lengthwise with Smart Balance spread and extra virgin olive oil on the vegetables and a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale and a cup of green tea with Equal sweetener and Borden's lemon juice. I will now dress up warmly to go for a walk downtown on the world famous Greenwich Avenue, and then I will put in some supplies at the Stop and Shop. More than likely nothing will be going on, since everyone is probably surfing the internet, when they wake up. CIO

<888> 10/12/14 Sunday 6:05 A.M. On the Asus Netbook, I have the blue LAN cable working on it again, so I now have the spare white LAN cable lying by the www.harvard.edu chair by the hallway entrance.

I noticed last night when I passed by the new location, they have a new 10 foot blue neon sign in their front window glass facade letting people know that it is a Chase Bank, in case one can not figure it out. Back in the spring of 1975, when I used to swim with the owners permission in the Conyers Farm lake in back country Greenwich, there were rumors from the local youth swimming there that there was a giant snapping turtle living in the lake that would drag swimmers under water to their demise. I survived that period of swimming there, and I even built a 20 foot by 20 foot floating raft out of the old dock that was damaged by ice the previous winter. The owner of the property Louis Rosenstiel used to walk the property with three Russian wolf hounds, so there were probably wild animals out there. His wife later married Walter Annenberg, and was the United States Chief of protocol under Ronald Reagan. His daughter once had me at their home, and it was a stone house with heavy dark paneling. Later that summer, I camped out on Martha's Vineyard, but mostly on Nantucket, so I was a bit tanned, but I did not go down to south Florida until the fall of 1976, after having lived in Greenville, South Carolina and returning to New York City for the bicentennial, where I saw Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip and a lot of other people along with visiting family at my family's Greenwich house, and then returning to www.nantucket.net. Of course I have my own home office out here in Greenwich, Connecticut USA. When I stayed in the Waldorf Towers with Hurley Harris Haywood in January 1973, I went outside and had a cigarette on the patio of St. Bartholomew's church, and I noticed somebody that looked like the Duke of Windsor entering the Waldorf Towers, but I did not know he had supposedly died the spring before in 1972. Maybe it was Billy Baldwin who looked a bit like him. Hurley was the grandson of General Hurley, so I guess because General MacArthur also lived there, a lot of military people stayed there. However, the rooms are not too large by modern standards. In the early 1970s when I used Fred Von Mierers apartment on the ground floor at 420 East 49th Street, Ambassador Bush at the United Nations was also living at the Waldorf Towers. Back then the neighborhood was sort of noisy with them building the new Citicorp Center nearby. A lot of the tenants in the area did not like moving away to make room for the new high rises. Also the British Consulate was nearby on Third Avenue next to Fred's liquor store. P.J. Clark's nearby also was reasonable back then, and a bacon cheese burger with home fries was only about $2.95 and a drink was about $2. A liverwurst sandwich at the deli on the north side of the A&P was $2. I had friends that frequented Daly's Daffodil on First Avenue at 59th street where friends worked next to Ford Modeling, and where they had John Lindsey's going away party, so I knew a bit about the neighborhood, when I could afford it. My regular drink was white wine with soda water called a spritzer. I will now shut down the primary work computer, and I will go to bed. <888> 10/05/14 Sunday 11:15 P.M. To free up space around the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop computer, I stored the shipping box with the cordless telephone parts and Iview tablet parts, and the two Iview tablet boxes, and the small radio box underneath the www.harvard.edu chair at the hallway entrance. Earlier I installed the Windows Updates on the Asus netbook. When I started it up yesterday morning, it would not go online with the new blue Lan cable I had attached to it, so I attached the white LAN cable that was by the www.harvard.edu chair to it. I can not figure out why the blue LAN cable did not work, since it is plugged into the Netgear switch, so it should work. CIO

<888> 10/05/14 Sunday 10:30 P.M. I threw out the garbage. I am installing the apps on the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop Windows 10 Technical Preview partition. On a laptop computer, the Store only shows a few apps, and one can not scroll for them, so one has to search for each app separately which takes time. I am looking at the apps on the IBM ThinkCentre by the mahogany bureau to know which ones to search for. CIO

<888> 10/05/14 Sunday 7:35 A.M. On the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop on the Windows 10 Technical Preview partition, the Optimum TV app will not install, because in the Optimum TV test, Microsoft Silver Light crashes the web browser. There is a newer version of the Optimum TV app probably for Windows 8, but if one can not download it, one can not try it out. After I installed FrontPage 2002 on it, the Windows Updates would not install the Office XP SP3 update, but I finally downloaded the full Office XP SP3 update separately, and it installed. CIO

<888> 10/05/14 Sunday 3:45 A.M. I attached the connector cable for the Iview tablet to the Ocosmo HDTV switch box, and I put the Ocosmo TV on HDMI 2, and it displays the Iview tablet content on big screen just fine. I left the cable attached to the switch box. One turns on the switch box power with the power control center beneath it by the 21 inch HDTV to the left of the 32 inch Ocosmo HDTV. I installed Windows 10 Technical Preview on the second partition on the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop. It runs just fine. The Dell XP drivers for its LAN and Audio work just fine with it. I am not configuring it. The Optimum TV laptop app crashes Internet Explorer on the test, but I might be able to install it with the Firefox web browser. It will take a while to configure it with all of the apps that I can install with it. Everything else seems to work just fine with it. The way I figure it the Windows 10 Technical Preview should be good for about six months, since Windows 10 is not due to come out until about then. CIO

I noticed, when I was testing one of the free Earthquake apps in Windows 8.1 this past morning last night that there were several small earthquakes happening at that time in California including a 4.5 earthquake off the northern coast of California. I guess that is normal, since nothing was reported in our national or local news. There was also some seismic activity up in Alaska.

<888> 10/03/14 Friday 12:10 P.M. On the IBM ThinkCentre beta machine, I could not restore the Complete PC Backup restore from the Windows 10 DVD, because the new hard drive is small at 360 GB compared to the original hard drive of 400 GB. The Complete PC Backup program is licensed from Symantec Norton Ghost, so they have yet to make it more flexible. I have never been able to afford to buy Norton Ghost to try it out to see if it has more features. I put the original hard drive back in the IBM ThinkCentre, so the beta machine with both partitions is back up and running. From past experience with my dual boot configuration on the beta machine even with a larger hard drive, the restore would not work, since my boot partition is different the installed boot partition in order to dual boot which Microsoft does not support. Beta testers do a lot of Mickey Mouse work. CIO

<888> 10/03/14 Friday 11:15 A.M. On this January day in 1990, it was zero degrees Fahrenheit in Washington D.C., when I toured the White House <http://scott-mike.com/mlsdc.jpg> , and as one can tell, I am not too warmly dressed, so I was used to colder weather back then. The White House is actually not too large of a building for all of the celebrity it gets, but it has a lot of historical significance. When I chatted with <http://www.stjo.org> , they told me it was minus 46 degrees Fahrenheit last winter in South Dakota, so it does get colder elsewhere in America. I drank a 12 ounce glass of 50% punch and 50% Schweppes Ginger Ale. On the IBM ThinkCentre beta machine in front of the mahogany bureau, I finished the Paragon Backup 11 restore of all partitions, and then I used the Windows 7 and Windows 10 DVDs to restore the boot managers. However, on Windows 7, product activation came up with a new hard drive installed. On the Windows 10 partition, the apps would not work. I just did a Seagate Utilities 1% zero write low level format of the new hard drive, and I will now try a Windows 10 Complete PC Backup restore of the system. CIO

<888> 10/03/14 Friday 9:05 A.M. I woke up again. I ate two ounces of mixed nuts and a 12 ounce glass of 50% Schweppes Ginger Ale and 50% Punch. <888> 10/03/14 Friday 2:10 A.M. I took out the older Western Digital 400 GB SATA hard drive from the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the mahogany bureau, and I installed the new Seagate 320 GB SATA hard drive. I used the Paragon 11 restore disk to first restore the boot manager partition, and now I am restoring the first primary partition, or possibly both primary partitions, if not I have to then restore the second primary partition. After doing three backups the older Western Digital 400 GB SATA hard drive was hot as a frying pan, which I do not think is very good for its life expectancy. I will know in a little while if the restore procedure works or not. I kept the new Seagate 320 GB SATA hard drive around in case I ever have to change the FIC server secondary hard drive that has the FIC server files and backups on it. I did not try the Microsoft Complete Backup restore, since I know from experience it will not work. Microsoft does not change a lot of its software in its operating system upgrades. CIO

<888> 10/03/14 Friday 1:10 A.M. I finished the backups. I have a spare new 320 GB SATA drive, I could install and try to restore one of the backups to the IBM ThinkCentre to test the backup restore process as I have it configured. I ate a 19 ounce Stouffer's meat lasagna with grated parmesan and Romano cheese and a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale. CIO

<888> 10/02/14 Thursday 11:55 P.M. In between the first and second backups, I tried creating another Paragon 10 restore disk, but Paragon no longer licenses part of it from Microsoft, so I have to stick with the Paragon restore disks that I have. I have a copy of Paragon backup 13 that I once had tried, but when I went to restore it, it did not work. I just discovered that restore disk was empty, so the restore program was never written to it.

My www.cl-p.com bill for September 2014 was $145.09 with me being gone 14 days with 802 kWh over 27 days at 29.70 kWh per day with an average temperature of 64.7 degrees Fahrenheit.

For September 2013, it was $105.91 with me being gone 14 days also for 647 kWh over 28 days at 23.11 kWh per day with an average temperature of 62.8 degrees Fahrenheit.

Once I finish the three backups, I could try putting a new spare SATA hard drive in the IBM ThinkCentre, to see if I can restore it, but that takes more time after I have already been awake with 7 hours of sleep and one meal for 13 hours. CIO

<888> 10/02/14 Thursday 9:50 P.M. I finished configuring the Windows 10 Technical Preview on the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the mahogany bureau in the living room. I am now doing a Paragon Backup 10 backup of the both partitions to the Seagate 2 TB external hard drive. I will then do a Complete PC backup of both partitions to the Seagate 2 TB external hard drive. I will then try to do a Windows 10 Complete PC backup of both partitions to the Seagate 2 TB external hard drive. However, as mentioned earlier just because I am able to do the backups, does not mean that if I have to try to restore any of them on the IBM ThinkCentre the restore process will work, and the computer will boot up the same. Still I have the spare space on the Seagate 2 TB external hard drive to make the backups, so I am making it. I like the new interface of the desktop on Windows 10, but supposedly the tablet interface for it is different. However, I do not have a tablet to try it on. I guess a lot of people like the start button with the icons features as opposed to sliding square icons of Windows 8. However, www.stardock.com and <http://www.stardock.com/products/start8/> for $5 gives on back the start button with icons in Windows 8 and 8.1. CIO

<888> 10/02/14 Thursday 6:50 P.M. I chatted with a relative. I am still tweaking the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the mahogany bureau in the living room. The shirt fits just fine. It is a medium to light weight shirt. I am doing some minor updates on the IBM ThinkCentre in front of the mahogany bureau. Since I have the Windows 10 Technical Preview and an earlier version of Windows on it with Dual Boot, I can not back it up, since the Complete System Restore backup function restore does not work with dual boot and neither does the Paragon backup restore. If one changes the Boot Manager which one can do with a boot manger program to the default Windows 10 boot manager, one can back it up and restore it, but that brings up product activation on the first Windows partition. When one restores that backup, one and changes the boot manger back to the other boot manager, one still has product activation on the first partition, but one then has to restore the first partition, and then enable the other boot manager, all of which is very cumbersome and time consuming. <888> 10/01/14 Wednesday 12:30 A.M. I printed out two copies of the Microsoft Money 2007 Income versus Spending report for September 2014. I balanced the accounts, and I was short $6, which I can not figure out what happened to it. I mailed to an interested relative one copy of the report with a forever stamp in the mail room downstairs. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 10:20 P.M. Biltmore Wine Email Newsletter

I printed out three copies of a Microsoft Money Sunset Income Versus Spending Report for November 2014, and I put one copy in an envelope to mail to an interested relative, and I used a My Florida Forever stamp to mail it. I will mail it in the mail room downstairs shortly before going to bed.

I will now shut down the primary work computer. I will then go to bed, after I mail the letter. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 8:25 P.M. Besides my Obama wireless telephone, I keep a backup inexpensive AT&T wireless cell phone with me, when I go out, but I use the cheaper access <https://www.h2owirelessnow.com/> which had expired on November 10, 2014, so I put another $10 on it good for ninety days at 10 cents a minute good until February 28, 2014. I could use its H2O sim card in this device <http://www.ebay.com/itm/Wrist-Watch-Cell-Phone-AT-T-Mobile-Camera-Mp3-4-MQ998BS-/260717292268?pt=Wristwatches&hash=item3cb3f62aec> which I bought and returned a year ago, because its pin number was locked by another pin number, in other words, it had been used by someone else already. It did work quite well, if one wants to use such a device instead of a regular cell phone. At the moment, I will hold off, since I have three active cell phones and two inexpensive unused cell phones that I bought a few years ago for backup. I also have spare H2O regular and micro sim cards. The traveling international public do not realize how hard I work maintaining my rather complex but simple high tech "Pied A Terre" in North America. Alas the email for my only contact in South America does not work, so I guess I am the only contact in the Western Hemisphere in my network of International friends. The only telephone communications I ever get besides junk phone calls and friends and relatives is computer magazine call centers trying to get me to renew free computer magazines, which I mostly cancel, since I do not like being waken up the day time by them, when I am frequently on a night schedule. A lot of the cell phone and tablet parts and sim cards are in the boxes underneath the www.harvard.edu chair at the hallway entrance. The spare two new cheap cell phones are in some of the boxes piled around the Orion television in bedroom. Since most of the well finance general public use more expensive devices, there is not my interest in what I have accumulated on a limited budget over these years. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 6:15 P.M. I chatted with a relative. "Downton Abbey Rediscovered" is on Channel 13 www.pbs.org from 8 P.M. to 9:30 P.M. this evening. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 5:10 P.M. If you look at this http://www.walmart.com/search/?query=Panasonic%20Toughbook&sort=price_high, one can see what various expensive Panasonic Toughbooks cost at www.walmart.com like the Greenwich Police cars use. They are not cheap. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 5:05 P.M. I reheated and ate another Thanksgiving meal from <http://www.templeholom.com/>. It consisted of three thick slices of white turkey meat, stuffing, steamed green beans and carrot bits, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, a dinner roll, and brownie. I put Smart Balance spread and extra virgin olive oil in the vegetables and dinner roll. I ate it all with a 12 ounce glass of www.coke.com . It was a most excellent and delicious meal. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 4:20 P.M. According to the reports on the www.rockefeller.edu family in the www.nytimes.com last week Why Are Rockefellers Moving From 30 Rock? 'We Got a Deal' - NYTimes.com , they are down to their last $10 billion, and they now have 500 relatives. $10 billion at 7.5 interest would yield $750 million annually, which divided by 500 relatives means they each only get $1.5 million a year, which is not that much money anymore in the big bucks world. Also they are probably not all in cash, but a lot of low yielding real estate, but that is the basic math, and they would probably have to pay taxes of 35% on the interest of $525 thousand leaving them each with $975,000 a year mugging money. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 3:45 P.M. I chatted with neighbors. I threw out the garbage. I went by CVS on Greenwich Avenue, and I bought two 8.75 ounce cans of CVS deluxe lightly salted mixed nuts for $3.99 each for $7.98 total. I then bought a 16 double roll bundle of Charmin extra strong toilet paper for $9.99 and .63 tax for $10.62 total. I then went further downtown. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I sat out at various locations. I stopped by Zen Stationary, and I played an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I toured the Greenwich Train Station. I stopped by the www.apple.com computer store, and I told them they should make an Apple version of the Panasonic Toughbook for Law Enforcement. I tried to used the bathroom at Starbucks, but it was busy. I toured the Greenwich Hardware and their wide variety of home maintenance items. I noticed on the way into town that the Rusty Oxer truck maintenance garage on West Putnam Avenue has closed, and they have moved to Bridgeport. I chatted with a staff member from the Casablanca Polo shop <http://www.casablancapolo.com> , and they told me they supply Prince William with his polo gear. I toured CVS again. I sat out for a while at the top of Greenwich Avenue. I toured the new shop <http://www.boastusa.com/> of an old Greenwich Country Day classmate that sells the resort wear with the Japanese Tea Leaf on it at the top west side of Greenwich Avenue. Also the street lamp there that was lopsided has been removed. I chatted with a board of education employee. I finished my walk. I chatted with someone with a Doberman Pincher. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. At the board of education parking lot, there is a van selling what looks like vintage clothing. I then drove over to the Stop and Shop, and I bought four blueberry muffins for $3.99, two six packs of multigrain English muffins for $2.50 each, a 10 ounce bottle of Kikkoman soy sauce for $2.19, a quart of Dannon vanilla yogurt for $3.04, two 8 ounce Smart Balance extra virgin olive oil spread for $1.69 each, two 18 ounce Quaker Old Fashioned oats for $2.50 each, two 12 ounce generic honey for $2.50 each, a 16 ounce package of Perdue chicken nuggets for $1.99, bananas for .49 a pound for $1.39, one sweet potato for .99 a pound for .70 and 55 cents can return for $31.53 total. I used my $20 Greenwich Department of Social Services voucher to buy part of the groceries. I then returned home, and I carried up my purchases, and I put them away. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 8:45 A.M. Good News a 16 roll bundle of Charmin toilet paper is now on sale at www.cvs.com for $9.99. Hurry while supplies last. That is eight dollars off. I will now shower and clean up. I will then go downtown to do errands. It warmer this morning, and it is already up to 48 degrees Fahrenheit. CIO

<888> 11/30/14 Sunday 7:45 A.M. I woke up at 6:30 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I made my bed. Today is the last day of the Tropical Storm Season.. I guess the last remaining snow birds in this area will be going back down to Florida for the winter season. I made my bed. I currently weigh 226 pounds. When I was last in Europe in January 1992, I only weighed 170 pounds. I think possibly since I eat oatmeal for breakfast every day, I have put a bit of weight on. I eat oatmeal, because it is good for one's cholesterol. When I used to eat bacon, eggs, and English muffins for breakfast I weighed less, but that meal is higher in cholesterol.

To make my oatmeal in the morning, I put a half cup of Quaker Old fashioned oats in a microwave proof bowl with a cup of water. I put the bowl in the microwave oven with a microwave cover on it, and I microwave it 1 minute and 40 seconds. I add honey, milk, and a sliced banana to the oatmeal. CIO

I explained to the neighbor that I am busy working my computers. Also today I have had digestion problems, which I would not feel comfortable being out in public. I will now shower and clean up. Half the town of Greenwich, Connecticut is under 16 years old. If they are not watching the Thanksgiving Day Parade on television, they are probably watching cartoons. I try to watch some of the American News media, but it always seem so irrelevant to the general public at large. They basically seem to broadcast what their commercial sponsors want to broadcast, and not want the general public might want to watch or listen to. In other words, the local media is not very entertaining anymore. CIO

<888> 11/27/14 Thursday 1:05 A.M. On the IBM ThinkCentre in the bedroom, the Microphone sound is not very loud. It is possibly the inexpensive Logitech headset that I have on it. I am tired, and I have been awake 25 hours, so I will now shut down the primary work computer, and I will go to bed. I will eat 8 ounces of Dannon yogurt first. I will finish configuring the IBM ThinkCentre in the bedroom at a later date. CIO

<888> 11/27/14 Thursday 12:25 A.M. I have the Windows Updates installed on the IBM ThinkCentre in the bedroom. I had problems setting up the CMOS with the wireless keyboard, so I used a PS/2 keyboard for the one time procedure. I installed the C-Media Audio drivers for the Rosewill 5.1 audio card. The sound is just fine. I could not get the USB LAN device to work with Windows 7, so I will use the motherboard LAN connection. I can always get a more up to date USB LAN device, but the only reason I use them is not to worry about losing the motherboard LAN device. I looked at the inside of the case, and it appears a full length PCIe X1 video or graphics card would be lying on top of the CPU heat sink, which I do not think is advisable. For now I will stick with the motherboard 128 meg. Intel Graphic video which seems fast and clear enough. I am defragmenting the C: drive, before I configure it. CIO

<888> 11/26/14 Wednesday 5:10 P.M. I threw out the Microsoft 5000 wireless keyboard and mouse box. It is still raining outside at the moment, but it is suppose to change to snow and freeze tonight. I picked up the mail. I got my Greenwich Department of Social Services Voucher for $20 for the Stop and Shop, but I am not going out in this weather. The Stop and Shop is supposed to be opened until 5 P.M. on Thanksgiving Day. I put the IBM ThinkCentre shipping box which does not weigh very much on the top bedroom closet shelf. If it is a PCIe X1 slot, it is the lower of the two slots which does not have as much room above it with the PCI slot above it. CIO

<888> 11/26/14 Wednesday 4:35 P.M. This is all I can find on it <http://support.lenovo.com/us/en/documents/pd006096> . This video card might work with it <http://www.ebay.com/itm/like/111513683591?lpid=82> but the fan might make it too thick to install, and it might be better with a heat sink, if it is PCIe x1 on the second slot . CIO

<888> 11/26/14 Wednesday 3:50 P.M. I have to wait for it to install a 170 Windows Updates, before I start configuring it. It seems to be a half inch to an inch of snow or slush on the roof across the way. CIO

<888> 11/26/14 Wednesday 3:30 P.M. The IBM ThinkCentre works just fine. I installed it on the bedroom desk with the 19 inch Acer LCD monitor, the generic Logitech speakers, the generic Logitech web cam, and the RCA plugs headset. I also put a new Microsoft Wireless Comfort 5000 keyboard and mouse set on it. It has 2 GB of memory, a 80 GB SATA hard drive, Windows 7 Home Premium, a DVD/RW drive. It will not take either of my spare video cards, but it has 128 MB of onboard video memory. It has one PCI slot that I put in the new Rosewill PCI 7.1 audio card that I bought earlier this year for $11.99. It seems to have some other PCI Express slot, but I am not sure what type it is. It is the one with the three or four half inch slots. When I started it up, I changed some of the CMOS settings. I have it plugged into the onboard LAN, but I have a USB LAN device that I will install later. It installed Windows 7 Home Premium Edition. It has its Windows 7 Home Premium sticker on the right rear side with the product activation code. I wrote it down too, but I had a bit of problem telling the differences between "B" and "8", which took a while to figure out. The new install is 14 GB on three different partitions. I did a Complete PC backup of it to both the Vantec and the Bytecc external USB hard drives. I am now installing the Windows Updates which will take a while. It is IBM ThinkCentre "MT-M 9210-KUA". It is suppose to have a hidden system restore partition, that on booting up and pressing F6, one can access; but I am not sure if it exists or not. I set to the CMOS setting for it for "Secure", so if it exists, it can not be altered. CIO

<888> 11/26/14 Wednesday 12:25 P.M. The order with tracking of UPS Tracking on the order for IBM Computer 2GB Memory 40GB Hard Drive CD-ROM Windows 7 Home Premium for $39 and $5 shipping for $44 total arrived. I will now install the additional parts in it, and configure it. CIO

<888> 11/26/14 Wednesday 12:05 P.M. The family from Temple Sholom left a second Thanksgiving meal outside my door. I will be eating well for the next two days. I went downstairs, and I checked out the local environment. It is raining a pretty heavy outside, and it might turn to sleet in the areas further north of here. I can hear a lot of traffic on I-95 <http://www.ct.gov/dot/cwp/view.asp?a=2354&q=415220> . Instead of napping, I will try to stay up through this afternoon, and possibly get a on a daytime schedule tomorrow. CIO

I wonder what the that six foot wide and six foot tall white man out on Long Island is eating for his Thanksgiving Meal. Maybe he should play Santa Claus in the www.macys.com Thanksgiving Day parade, but he might scare the children. I once read that the Macy family like a lot of well known families were from www.nantucket.net . Of course the descendants of the Mayflower Pilgrims are suppose to number 20 million people. Bill Cary when he was alive besides being Fred Von Mierers' lawyer, also used to run the Mayflower Society in Manhattan <https://www.themayflowersociety.org/> . I visited Plymouth Rock a couple of times, when I was a Polaroid photographer, and Polaroid paid me 9 cents a mile travel money. I think the last time I visited Plymouth Rock was in the spring of 1977 while hitch hiking, when I was drifting around the Boston area waiting to settle into Nantucket for the summer. The time before that was in the summer of 1971 with my elder sister and her boy friend. That evening we had dinner at Trader Vics <http://tradervics.com/> at the Sheraton Hotel in Boston, and after a few Samoan Fog Cutters, I almost got into trouble with the Secret Service for bad mouthing George Wallace who was making a campaign appearance there at the time. Alabama republicans at the time were well known for speaking out against the democrat establishment. Richard Nixon used to also like eating at Trader Vics. While at www.lfc.edu I went to Trader Vics in Chicago a few times, and the last time, I was there in the summer of 1972, I crashed a www.dupont.com paint pigments suppliers party. I had a friend in Lake Forest whose mother was a member of that French American family. CIO

<888> 11/26/14 Wednesday 8:40 A.M. I have not gotten my Thanksgiving Voucher from the Greenwich Department of Social Services yet. However, I do not need to use it, when it arrives today. I took a 10 ounce rib eye steak out of the freezer that I bought last year with my voucher at either Christmas Time or Thanksgiving, and I am letting it defrost in the refrigerator. I have stove top stuffing, chicken rice-a-roni, sweet potato, and baby carrots to go with it. Alas I have no pumpkin pie, but since I weigh about 226 pounds, I guess I can forego desert tomorrow morning, when I might be cooking it, if I get up again at midnight. The Cola Wars were out in full force today. When I went out, the www.pepsi.com truck was at CVS on West Putnam Avenue, and the www.coke.com truck was at the Oyster Restaurant on Elm Street just west of Greenwich Avenue. Also the usual sanitation trucks were out and about a dozen people around www.starbucks.com . CIO

!!!!!! <888> 11/26/14 Wednesday 4:15 A.M. Minor comment on real history: Even though the American media dwells on the violence within the African American community, the reality is that in the last 200 years since the evolution of modern warfare, white people have killed at least 50 to 100 million or more of their own kind of white people in various conflicts of war. Thus white people are not necessarily peaceful, unlike the media pretends. CIO

<888> 11/20/14 Thursday 2:30 P.M. I installed a 60.75 inch vertical stud on the center front of the bedroom closet shelf with clothes hanger. I used four 3 inch screws to attach the top of the stud to the front center of the wire shelf where there was a double layer of hardwood slats that I had installed earlier. I used four 2 inch screws drilled into the floor at angles into the wood to secure the stud at the bottom to the floor. One can not drill very far into the floor like it might be cement, so the angle method holds the stud in place. I used five wall anchors with 2 inch screws on either side of the closet with 30 inch by 1 inch by 3 inch pieces of wood to hold the speakers in place against the back wall to keep them from rocking or moving. I also put in two 11 inch by 1 inch by 3 inch wood pieces on either side at the top of the wire rack over the speakers with four two inch screws each in addition to the hard wood pieces I had already installed to attach the wire shelf to the heavy wood speakers. Thus the bedroom closet hanging clothes shelf is very secure, and it should never come down again. The vertical stud blocks me from putting the Hoover vacuum cleaner on the floor of the closet, so I put it on the left side of the bed underneath the CVS laptop computer table that holds a lot of old paper work. The order with tracking number of

<888> 11/19/14 Wednesday 11:35 A.M. I chatted with a relative. When I have the time some morning, I could drive over to <http://www.interstatelumber.com/> in Byram on the Byram River, and get a 2" X 4" X 60.75" inch piece of wood that I could use to support the front center of my bedroom closet shelf to take some of the stress off the wire shelf. I could attach it to the floor with Stanley angle irons and a small flat piece of wood at the top. I would lose about 3.5 inches of closet hanging space. I could also get two 1" X 4" X 24" strips of wood to use to hold the speakers in place instead of the strip and the wedge that I am using at the moment. But when I have the time. The wire hanging shelf is secure enough for now. It has been a long time, possibly even a year, since I crossed the border into New York State, and frequently people see me so rarely over there in that neck of the woods that has gotten very expensive anymore, they treat me like a foreign visitor in their new metropolis. I used to shop over there all of the time. Thus if I got to Interstate Lumber, I would be on this side of the Byram River. CIO

I had just bought my $150 1971 yellow www.subaru.com that I put in a new clutch myself, and I later that month left Nantucket with a friend to head out to California, and elsewhere, but I never caught anything with the fishing gear elsewhere in California or Florida. I left the fishing gear at the www.shell.com gasoline station on the Pacific Coast Highway in Santa Barbara, California in exchange for $10 in gasoline the night Ronald Reagan got elected President, so I could drive down to the victory party with a bunch of old California types in Laguna Beach, California. At the time on that last trip, I was driving a two door 1971 Burgundy Volvo sedan made in Belgium that I had bought in August 1980 at John Delia Subaru here in Greenwich for $1,750, where I gave them my old yellow Subaru. After the victory party, I sold the burgundy Volvo sedan for $1,250 a cash for your car place next to the entrance of Disney Land that I never visited to afford to fly back with my friend to the very cold winters of Manhattan. Down South in Decatur, Alabama, my father's group of friends mostly hunted Canadian Geese and Doves. They did used to have turkey shoots at Thanksgiving. While at Lookout Mountain Camp age 7 and 8 years old, I was pretty good at shooting a 22 caliber rifle, and I still have the National Rifle Association badges to prove it. I guess people in Florida are still having to rough it out in the hot weather. Up North here in the Tundra of Connecticut, we are still getting ready for another long cold winter ahead. Down south, the Tropical Storm Season does not end until the end of November. Having spent a five winters down south, I know it can be more comfortable down there, but it is also hard for English speaking Yankees whom are well educated to make a living down south of the Mason Dixon line. I do better up north, where I am around a lot of the same people whom have the same educational background that I happen to have. Unfortunately that education does not always transfer to other parts of the country or the World in general, as I have found out, when I have traveled. There is some dispute in the family whether my branch is related to the Winfield Scott branch of the family. From my research, it could be possible. When Winfield Scott's father arrived in this country in New Jersey around 1724 from Scotland, he was looking for a relative that he never found. It so happens that my Scott relative also arrived from Scotland at the same time, and unlike Winfield Scott's father whom married into the wealthy Winfield family of Virginia, my relative first settled in Western Pennsylvania, with a son who fought in the American Revolution and got 200 acres for it in North Carolina, and his descendants became the wealthy William Scott family of Kentucky that my relatives in central Illinois are descended from. Thus over time in America like elsewhere, people and families move around. I do know that my relatives in North Carolina might be related to the actor Randolph Scott who was also from the same part of North Carolina. However, since my father was an only child, my branch of the Scott family is not very large so to speak. CIO

<888> 11/17/14 Monday 2:20 A.M. I threw out the garbage on a rainy morning. I sat outside briefly. Traditionally the Scottish have a long history of "The Night Watch". I guess since the British were always invading at all odd hours in the morning. Also the Dutch have a long history of "The Night Watch" , since the Germans also were also invading at all hours of the early mornings. Since I am of Scottish, English, and Dutch descent; it seems over all of these decades, I have become accustomed to being awake at night and in the early morning hours. In nearby Manhattan, there are always a few people awake at night, but out here in the suburbs; there are not as many people awake in the wee hours of the mornings, since to afford to live here, one has to work mostly in the daytime. Also with the higher prices of fuel, one can not cruise around to see if there is any activity here or in neighboring communities. I will now open the apps on the Windows 10 Technical Preview partition on the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop computer. <888> 11/15/14 Saturday 9:15 P.M. It is getting a little bit cooler and damper in the apartment as winter approaches. I just changed from my walking shorts to one of my new pair of Hanes sweat pants to stay a bit warmer. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 9:05 P.M. I chatted with a relative. I turned up the living room thermostat from 72 degrees Fahrenheit to 76 degrees Fahrenheit, which should keep the living room at about 72 degrees Fahrenheit. I also keep a small tower fan going on the window shelf above the electric radiators to blow the heat away from the window wall out into the living room. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 7:55 P.M. A quick survey of the local French economy shows how things are getting more expensive in this area
<https://www.varmax.com/wines/Mouton-Cadet-Bordeaux-White-2011-w5624947lc> . It was not too long ago that this <https://www.varmax.com/wines/Rene-Junot-Vin-de-Table-Francais-White-w4745656pr> was only $4.99 a bottle, so prices have gone up about three times recently. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 7:40 P.M. I woke up at 5:30 P.M.. I picked up the mail. The order with tracking of <https://tools.usps.com/go/TrackConfirmAction?qtctLabels1=9405510200881385352566> on the order for $39.90 with free shipping Premier 100mm Light Cigarette Tubes - 10 Boxes and $2.53 tax for $43.43 total arrived. I made my bed. I moved the pair of speakers from the bedroom to on top of the hallway book shelves, and I connected them up. Thus my living room stereo system is back to normal. There now are no stereo speakers in the bedroom. I hardly listen to the stereo system anymore, since I do not want to disturb my neighbors. I also have a wireless headphone system on the stereo system. I find I concentrate better on the computer, if I do not listen to music. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 12:35 P.M. I chatted with a friend who is out hunting deer. I ate a 19 ounce Marie Callender 3 meat and 4 cheese lasagna with grated parmesan and Romano cheese and two sliced tomatoes with celery salt, ground black pepper, Italians seasoning, grated parmesan and Romano cheese and extra virgin olive oil on the tomatoes, and a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale. I will now shut down the primary work computer, and I will go to bed. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 11:25 A.M. I put the clothes back on the bedroom closet shelf clothes hanging rack. With the six inch support space and the two speakers at either end, it is only about 5 feet or less of hanging clothes cramped in not 7 feet. It seems to be stable and secure. I put a small strip of wood on the right side of the top right speaker to keep it from shifting, and I wedged another piece of wood between the top left speaker and the wall with a piece of wood to keep it from pushing through the sheet rock. Thus the speakers can not rock or shift slightly forward. I did not put anything heavy on the closet shelf. Just a comforter, some tissue paper, a half dozen polo shirts, a box with my canvas back pack and two spare coffee machines and a spare Cusineart food processor. The heavier items are over the speakers. I put the items back on the floor including my spare towels and sheets along with my walking short piled up on the floor on the right side. I put my golf clubs behind the chair opposite the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop computer behind the primary work computer. I threw out a Sears upright vacuum cleaner with bags, a Regina carpet cleaner with extra brushes, a like new Olivetti toaster oven, a glass pipe tobacco jar, old coffee machines, a old coffee grinder, and a couple of boxes of old receipts. Thus it was about a six hour project, but the apartment is back to normal whatever that might be. I chatted with a relative earlier. When I have time, I can take the pair of speakers out of the bedroom and put them on the hallway bookcases to replace the larger pair I used for the closet setup. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 7:45 A.M. I finished installing the closet shelf hanging clothes rack as described in the previous note. It went faster because the Black and Decker drill has a flat head screw driver bit. The shelf seems sturdy enough. I will now put back in the clothes and other items, so hopefully it will support the weight. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 6:05 A.M. I have six, 8" X 1.25" X 3/8th" hard wood slats that came off pants hangers. I can use two of those sandwiched around the front center of the shelf to provide a connecting place for the front 45 degree angle support attachment. I then can use two of them on either side in the rear corners to secure the rear back of the wire shelf to speakers. I have a box of the right size woods screws, so I will get on it now. I have a new Black and Decker drill and a set of new Bosch drill bits and extension cord. Hopefully it will all work. I already have the other four 45 degree angle supports installed. With my setup having the shelf on top of the heavy wood speakers, all of the weight is on the floor and not on the sheet rock. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 5:40 A.M. I think I could probably fix the center front 45 degree angle support attachment with a 1.5 inch to 2 inch hose clamp, which I don't have. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 4:30 A.M. A simple cheap way to do it, might be to buy two, fours pack of 4 inch Stanley flat bars at the Greenwich Hardware store if they have them, and use two on the back side of either speaker to secure the shelf to heavy wood speakers, so it does not flip. However, the center 45 degree angle support has broken at its plastic mounting on the center front of the shelf, but one might repair that with a double layer of Behr paint sticks. Still there is a lot of weight on the shelf assembly, so it might be better for the building custodian to do a professional job when he has the time. CIO

<888> 11/15/14 Saturday 4:20 A.M. The building custodian did not get around to checking out my attempted closet shelf hanging clothes rack installation yesterday.

To finish installing the bedroom closet shelf installation myself, I would need:

<888> 11/14/14 Friday 10:35 A.M. I drove over to Neighbor to Neighbor, and I dropped off the clothes that I had outgrown. I then went by CVS, and I picked up two prescriptions. I then sat out further downtown. I went by Zen Stationary, and I played an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, and I won $2 for a dollar profit. I then chatted with another local walker. I then returned home, and I chatted with a neighbor. The building custodian told me he might have time to look at my bedroom closet setup this afternoon. I have a 1:30 P.M. appointment this afternoon. CIO

<888> 11/14/14 Friday 8:00 A.M. I ate a 16 ounce Marie Callender chicken pot pie with a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes soda. I will now change into warmer clothes and head over to Neighbor to Neighbor. CIO

<888> 11/14/14 Friday 7:10 A.M. After the last note, I took down all of the flags in front of the hallway bookcases, and I put them in the Rubbermaid laundry hamper underneath the Sony Television in the bedroom. I then took down the two large wooden Technicsl speaker from on top of the hallway bookcases, and I put one each on either side of the floor in the bedroom closet. I then took two other large heavy wooden speakers from on top of the file cabinet in the bedroom and the right side of the bed, and I put them on top of the other two speakers creating about 12 inch by 11 inch by 55 inch high platform on either end of the inside of the bedroom closet. I then put the 7 foot long wire shelf with clothes hanging rack on top of the speakers. I used five 45 degree support bars between the lower back closet wall and the underneath of the shelf, with the closet wall ends held in place by Behr paint sticks to prevent push threw the sheet rock. It seemed like a secure setup, but just as I was finishing putting in all the clothes back inthe closet, the back of the shelf flipped up and slid off the speakers dropping the clothes to the floor. The center 45 degree support rod had its white plastic mount to the shelf break causing the shelf system to become unstable. I think the setup might work if I put a double thick layer of 2" X 4" underneath and along the top of the back of the shelf and below if in back, and smaller double layers of 2" X 4" pieces in front of the sides of the shelf to keep it from shifting forward, and possibly using some sort of fastener to secure the shelf to the rear 2" X 4" setup, so it would not shift. Also possibly putting a vertical 2" X 4" stud in the center front of the shelf with smaller "T" 2" X 4" inch pieces screwed into to either end of the center front of the stud, and securing it to the shelf and the floor with some sort of fastener strip and screws. I will have to think about it. In the process of putting the clothes on the shelf, I sorted out about a third of the clothes that are too small for me. I moved the good clothes back to the Ethan Allen recliner in the living room an on the floor in front of it. I took the plastic hangers off the clothes that are too small for me, and I saved them on the closet shelf to use later. I sorted those clean clothes into two plastic bags and two large piles, and I used my little folding cart to wheel them out to the Volvo station wagon in three trips. I will take them over to <http://ntngreenwich.org/> a little before 8:30 A.M. this morning, when they open. The only problem with the shelf setup as I have described, if it works, one loses about two feet of the seven feet of hanging space, but one would not probably want to put any more weight on the setup any way. The shelf before it collapsed was sagging about 3/4th of an inch in the middle. I will have to think about is some more. I also threw out an old Epson inkjet printer, and the air conditioning recharge system, I had for my 1993 Buick wagon many moons ago. CIO

<888> 11/13/14 Thursday 9:55 P.M. When I was taking down the right bedroom closet door to clear out the closet last Friday, when the shelf broke, I also broke the string on the water color of the Cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris, France that is part of a set of two with a water color of the City Hall in Paris. I remembered I thought that I had bought a spool of string some time ago at CVS, but I could not find it after looking everywhere for about an hour. I finally was about to look in my little plastic yellow tool box in the hallway closet, and I noticed a long piece of old telephone wire. I used part of that to rehang the water color of the Cathedral of Notre Dame. On my last trip to Paris, France during the Albertville, France Winter Olympics, I noticed the Cathedral of Notre Dame, and although I am not Roman Catholic, I went inside and said a prayer for Paris, since they seemed to be overwhelmed with security forces for the Winter Olympics. Since the French could not afford to have electricity in the place, it was sort of hard to see what it looked like inside, but it is quite a large place near the Louvre on the Seine River, possibly on the Isle de Paris in the middle of the Seine. I can not remember. Thus I have been inside that church too. In fact it was the last church I have been inside in the Eastern Hemisphere after all of the religious places I toured on an earlier trip the winter and spring of 1972 to Southern Europe. I do recall on the winter of 1983 trip to Oslo, Norway having visited the two main churches in Oslo, Norway. Since I have never been in the United Kingdom, I probably have not visited any of their old churches, but I have seen a few United Kingdom residents in my days. When I use to drink alcohol up until about 24 years ago, and I might have one beer on a Saturday night, I would frequently run into people from the United Kingdom in some of our local and Manhattan pubs, so I guess they enjoy having a pint or two and can afford it. I think in the United States of America, in the New York City Area, an alcoholic drink now costs about $8 to $10 at most places. CIO

<888> 11/13/14 Thursday 5:15 A.M. I cleared the various items from in front of the Epox computer monitor, and I moved them all to different locations. I put the ash tray, Zippo lighters, and Eifel tower souvenir on the center shelf of the right hallway bookcase. I moved the internet weather station by the left mouse pad on the Asus netbook setup. I moved the two emergency lanterns on the floor underneath the Epox computer. I moved the Panasonic CF-29 Toughbook laptop setup from the CVS laptop table in front of the left living room closet to in front of the Epox computer monitor on the oak dining table. One can still move the Panasonic setup slightly forward to pull out the Epox keyboard, if one needs to use it. I moved the CVS laptop table to the left rear of the bed in the bedroom with the various odd paper work on top of it. To do that I had to temporarily move on to the bed the various spare coffee machines and other kitchen items I had taken out of the bedroom closet, and they are now on the left side of the bed on the floor again. I moved the folding oak TV table from that location folded up on the right side of the legal chair in the living room. Thus one can now access the left living room closet without having to move any items. I keep my formal clothes there along with my many polar fleece pullovers and backup hard drives and spare shoes. BBC News - Microsoft fixes '19-year-old' bug with emergency patch CIO

<888> 11/13/14 Thursday 3:25 A.M. Thus one would need to repair the bedroom closet shelf hanging clothes shelf:

15, <http://www.homedepot.com/p/Crown-Bolt-10-in-x-12-in-White-Shelf-Bracket-15254/202034279> at $1.67 each for $25.05

5, <http://www.homedepot.com/p/Unbranded-1-4-in-x-3-in-Zinc-Plated-Toggle-Bolt-with-Round-Head-Phillips-Drive-Screw-10-Pieces-10342/202187121> at $3.90 each package for $19.50.

I already have a pair of this <http://www.homedepot.com/p/ClosetMaid-Preloaded-Wall-Brackets-for-ClosetMaid-SuperSlide-Ventilated-Wire-Shelving-2-Pack-26620/100146343>

I already have five of these <http://www.homedepot.com/p/ClosetMaid-16-in-Wire-Shelving-Support-Bracket-26607/100189209> that I could reattach the same way as before with the Behr paint sticks as support against the sheet rock rear wall like I did before. I have removed them, but I could probably figure out how to reattached them again, since they have their sheet rock anchors already installed. Of I could install them with mollies which the same toggle bolts which would be another $3.90. However, the weight of the shelf on the sheet rock in the past has pushed the support brackets through the sheet rock, which is why I used the paint sticks to support them. It would be better to attach a 1 X 6 inch piece of wood along the back wall with mollies to support the support brackets.

That would be $3.90 for the toggle bolts to support the piece of wood.

1, 8 foot X 1 inch X 6 inch piece of wood <http://www.homedepot.com/p/Unbranded-1-in-x-6-in-x-8-ft-Common-Board-914770/202074483> for $8.75 and a cheap saw to cut it <http://www.homedepot.com/p/Husky-20-in-Wood-Handled-Aggressive-Tooth-Saw-122SS2012/204748780> for $12.97, but I have a Black and Decker Drill and Drill Bits that I could drill a number of holes with an break the piece to about seven foot length. Thus attaching the strip of wood to support the shelf bracket would be $12.65 to $25.62.

1, to drill the dry wall toggle bolt holes <http://www.homedepot.com/p/Milwaukee-1-2-in-Thunderbolt-Black-Oxide-Drill-Bit-48-89-2738/202256165> for $10.97

Two of these for the back shelf wall <http://www.homedepot.com/p/ClosetMaid-Preloaded-Back-Wall-Clips-for-ClosetMaid-Wire-Shelving-7-Pack-76610/100190984> for $2.48 each for $5.96 total.

1, <http://www.homedepot.com/p/Milwaukee-2-in-2-Phillips-Shockwave-Power-Bits-5-Pack-48-32-4602/202653574> for $5.97

The 7 foot Closet Maid shelf that I have was cut from a larger piece, so there are about five inch long double struts that stick out from either end that use to have plastic support pieces in between each strut that broke. The plastic support pieces are not available, but one could stick in three inch by 1.5 inch pieces of wood held by two hose clamps on either end. The piece of 1 X 6 would actually be about 3/4th of an inch thick, so one could cut two three inch by 3/4th inch pieces about two inches wide with the hand saw which might be tricky and support them in the strut ends with four <http://www.homedepot.com/p/Everbilt-4-in-Stainless-Steel-Clamp-6756595/202309381> for $1.45 each $5.80 total.

Thus the closet repair items would be: $85.90 or with the hand saw $98.87 and 7.5% tax of $6.45 or $7.41 for $92.75 without the hand saw and $106.55 with the hand saw that one probably would need to cut the small wooden end strut pieces and shelf support strip. I really do not have the funds at the minute for that expense anyway, so I will continue to wait for the building custodian to make the repairs his own expert way. CIO <888> 11/13/14 Thursday 1:40 A.M. I put away the clean laundry.

One of the cheaper ways to repair the bedroom closet shelf hanging clothes assembly might be to reinstall it with the plastic supports at the rear and plastic end supports that it was installed with before using mollies and a metal washer to hold the end supports into the sheet rock and reattaching the five angle shelf supports underneath that I had installed before. Then at the points behind the shelf assembly where there are aluminum two by four studs, one could drill holes into the aluminum studs and add <http://www.homedepot.com/p/Crown-Bolt-10-in-x-12-in-White-Shelf-Bracket-15254/202034279> underneath the shelf for more support attached to the aluminum studs with sheet metal screws. If one did not have the capability of drilling into aluminum studs, one could put three of the shelf supports on either end and nine along the back and install each shelf support with three toggle bolts into the sheet rock. Thus besides the plastic supports, one would need 15 shelf supports and 45 toggle bolts. However, the back of the bedroom closet is also near the hot water tank in the ceiling of the bathroom. If that hot water tank ever leaked which it did 18 years ago, it might get the sheet rock wet. If sheet rock gets wet, it becomes like mush and loses all of its support capabilities. It might hold the additional weight that I seem to have accumulated over 26 years at Chateau de Vinci. I assume the Greenwich Housing Authority custodian with the other closet assemblies that have collapses in this building over the years knows how to do a proper repair that will last indefinitely. <888> 11/12/14 Wednesday 9:10 P.M. I ate three ounces of mixed nuts before going to bed. I chatted with a relative at 5 P.M.. I finally woke up at 8 P.M.. I picked up the mail. The order with tracking of https://tools.usps.com/go/TrackConfirmAction?qt_c_tLabels1=9400111899561271500074 on the order for Sylvania 20673 Compact Fluorescent 4 Pin Double Tube 3500K, 26-watt for $4.48 with free shipping arrived. I sat outside briefly. I put the new bulb in the lamp in the southwest corner of the bedroom. I got a letter this week that the EBT cards will not work this Sunday morning, while they change their system. CIO

<888> 11/12/14 Wednesday 7:50 A.M. I sat outside for a while, and I said, "Good Morning" to a neighbor. I will now shut down the primary work computer. I will then go to bed. All quiet on the greater southwestern Connecticut front. CIO

<888> 11/12/14 Wednesday 6:45 A.M. I made up a batch of <http://scott-mike.com/mlsrice.htm> that I also put a little bit of celery salt and Frank's hot sauce with. I ate half of the rice with half of a 20 ounce can of Dinty Moore beef stew that I seasoned with ground black pepper, Italian seasoning, celery salt, garlic powder, soy sauce and Lea and Perrins Worcestershire sauce, and I put in a microwave proof pot with lid, and I heated it in the microwave oven for four minutes on 60% power. I put the beef stew on the rice in a large soup bowl, and I mixed it all together, and I ate it with a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale. I covered the beef stew can with a baby carrot package and rubber band, and I put the other half of the rice in a Rubbermaid container with rice, and I refrigerated both containers. CIO

<888> 11/11/14 Tuesday 11:05 P.M. I threw out the garbage. I sat outside briefly on a warmer night for this time of year. I turned off the lights in the community room and the laundry room. I noticed there are still people at the ice skating rink in the back yard. Having grown up down south until my family moved here in 1962, I was never attracted to ice skating, but I used to be a pretty good golfer with an 8 handicap on the shorter course at the Greenwich Country Club. However, besides the cost of playing golf, I also have arthritis, so I do not anticipate playing golf anytime in the near future. Still in nice weather I do enjoy walking around a bit. I will now make cigarettes. CIO

<888> 11/11/14 Tuesday 9:35 P.M. I chatted with two relatives. I will now shower and clean up. It is all quiet on the Southwestern Front of Connecticut, and we are not expecting the Polar Vortex to come our way, but we will have the normal cooler weather for this time of year. Alas there are not many people awake at night in the suburbs except for essential services unlike nearby Manhattan, where there are a lot more people awake at night. Still I will be awake again tonight with my many years of personal computer experience and night time experience for what it is worth. However, the general public when they are asleep are not aware that there are still a few people left awake out here in the tundra of Connecticut. CIO

<888> 11/11/14 Tuesday 7:55 P.M. I ate a blueberry muffin before going to bed. I woke up at 6:15 P.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I made my bed. CIO

<888> 11/11/14 Tuesday 10:20 A.M. On the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop, the Windows 10 Technical Preview now has audio, after I restored the backup from yesterday morning. However, there is no way to prevent the computer from doing automatic updates, which is a problem. I set the automatic updates on it to 11 A.M., when I am usually not beta testing. I shut it down for now. Now I know the Windows Complete PC backup restore process works. One finds the Windows Complete PC backup program in the Control Panel under File Backup, there is a small link in the lower left hand corner of the page to take one to the page to make the image. I went outside, and I chatted with neighbors. It is warmer this morning. I dusted off the CVS desktop computer table that holds the second Dell Latitude D410 laptop, and I cleared off some of its loose debris that had accumulated. It still has a lot of wires on it including the power strip that is major junction in that neck of the woods in my computer setup to the left of the primary work computer. I dusted off the cigarette table in the kitchen. I will now shut down the primary work computer. I will eat 8 ounces of Dannon vanilla yogurt. I will then go to bed.

<888> 11/11/14 Tuesday 8:05 A.M. On the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop computer, I took out the pink Post It notes half inch thick package that I used to level it, since it was not thick enough underneath the Docking Station, and I put in a package of Jell-O artificial sweetener Tropical Fruit mix which is just the right thickness to level it. I then had to put the Netgear Wireless USB plug and the Blue Tooth USB plug on the right side, since their frequencies were interfering with the Microsoft Wireless USB mouse and USB plug on the left side. The mouse track device works really fast on it, if one did not want to use a mouse. Then on the Windows 10 Technical Preview, I installed a minor update, but instead of installing that minor update, it automatically installed what looked like a complete new update of Windows 10 Technical Preview which took about two hours. While it was doing that I put a good Logitech laptop web cam on the Dell Laptop for a second web cam along with the laptop built in cam, and I placed it on top of the Brother laser printer, so it has a wider view. I also checked my Iview tablets to make sure they are fully charged. I put out my hats and gloves and scarves on the brass and glass table in front of the www.harvard.edu chair. When the lengthy update of Windows 10 Technical Preview was complete, I checked it out. There was no way to change the update settings to chose what it does. Also the audio sound would not work. I tried uninstalling and installing the audio drivers and rebooting and that did not fix the problem. The audio still worked in Windows 7. Since I have made a Windows Complete PC backup yesterday morning after configuring the Dell Laptop, I am now restoring that backup to get the Audio working again. I will look to see if in the original install if there was an option to deselect automatic Windows upgrades. The second install had the automatic option to install upgrades at 2 A.M. which one could not change. However, the second upgrade was quite a bit faster than the original install. Dell only has Vista Audio drivers which will not work on Windows 10 Technical Preview. CIO

<888> 11/11/14 Tuesday 2:50 A.M. All the Ebay pages says they are similar, I put the new generic power supply meant for the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop with it, and I put the Dell power supply that came with the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop back with it. CIO

<888> 11/11/14 Tuesday 1:00 A.M. I ate two 3 ounce Perdue chicken Italian cutlets, steamed baby carrots and a baked sweet potato with Smart Balance spread and extra virgin olive oil on the vegetables and two sliced tomatoes with celery salt, ground black pepper, Italians seasoning, grated parmesan and Romano cheese and extra virgin olive oil on the tomatoes, and a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale and a cup of green tea with Equal sweetener and Borden's lemon juice. <888> 11/10/14 Monday 11:25 P.M. I put a half inch thick package of pink Post It Notes underneath the Dell docking station to level it off for support. With the cooling fan underneath the front part of the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop, it was a bit unstable. I went downtown to the Stop and Shop. I bought a four pack of blueberry muffins for $2.99, a loaf of Pepperidge Farm 15 grain bread for $2.87, a quart of Dannon vanilla yogurt for $3.04, Stop and Shop deli sliced honey ham for $5.99 a pound for $4.43, Stop and Shop deli sliced white American cheese for $4.99 a pound for $2.45, a 64 ounce container of Ocean Spray cranraspberry juice for $2.50, a 64 ounce container of Welch's pure grape juice for $3.99, a 9.5 ounce bag of Lays sour cream and onion potato chips for $2.50, a quart jar of Mount Olive kosher dill pickle spears for $2, two packages of reduced produce tomatoes for $1.91 and $1.53, bananas for .49 a pound for $1.06, and a sweet potato for .99 a pound for .91 for $32.18 total. While shopping I chatted with a relative of a former neighbor. While out in the parking lot, I chatted with a www.cl-p.com employee driving a white electric company truck. He told me that one can not weigh for than 350 pounds and work for them. They had construction going on in front of the Greenwich Library, so I detoured around to CVS on Greenwich Avenue. I bought two 45 ounce X-tra scented liquid detergent for $2 each and .25 tax for $4.25 total. I then sat out for a while further downtown. I chatted with two Starbucks regular customers as the store was closing. I then returned home, and I put away my groceries. CIO

I setup the Dell docking station with the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop computer, and I plugged the audio and microphone and USB devices into the docking station. I have room to still have the fan cooler underneath the laptop. It is tricky attaching the laptop to the docking station. I also put the new Microsoft wireless mouse with the setup. I started up the Dell Laptop in both partitions to install the drivers. It all seems to run fine. Since the docking station sits four inches behind the laptop, the fan cooler projects over the control panel switches, so one has to know which switches to press on the control panel, since I have not labeled them. It all seems to work just fine. I put the new generic power supply with the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop. I am using the Dell power supply with Dell Latitude E6400 laptop. I hung the blue sweat pants on the left side of the hallway with the other pair and long underwear bottoms. CIO

<888> 11/10/14 Monday 6:50 A.M. I took four large eggs, expire December 15, 2014, and I broke them into a mixing bowl, and I added two tablespoons of milk, and seasoned the mixture with celery salt and Italian seasoning and ground black pepper and grated parmesan and Romano cheese and a tablespoon of extra virgin olive oil, and I whisked the mixture together. I then took my seasoned omelet pan, and I added two tablespoons of extra virgin olive oil and a tablespoon of Smart Balance spread, and I heated the pan over medium electric burner heat until the fat bubbled, and then I added the egg mixture. Once the eggs mixture was hardened enough on the bottom, I flipped it over with a spatula to let the top side of the egg mixture cook, and I put three deli slices of American cheese on one side of the top side, and I flipped the other side over it, and I slid it onto a dinner plate and some more grated parmesan and Romano cheese on it, and I added a toasted English muffin with Smart Balance spread on it, and I ate it all with a 12 ounce glass of Schweppes Ginger Ale.

<888> 11/09/14 Sunday 7:55 A.M. I moved the Panasonic Toughbook CF-29 laptop computer to on top of the CVS laptop stand. I will move it elsewhere later. Since I never use the Samsung color laser printer except for Christmas letters, I moved it on top of the FIC server hooked up to the primary work computer. From that location, I moved the Brother HL-2240 laser printer to where the Samsung color laser printer was on top of the white book shelf at the kitchen entrance above the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop computer. Once the backups are finished, I will connect it up the Dell laptop, so it will have printing capability from its USB port. CIO

<888> 11/09/14 Sunday 7:10 A.M. I finished configuring the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop computer. I moved the Panasonic CF-29 Toughbook computer to on top of the Samsung color laser printer on the bookcase at the kitchen entrance. I moved the bric a brac that was there elsewhere. I moved the Dell Latitude E6400 laptop computer to on top of the blue night stand at the apartment entrance beneath the Samsung color laser printer. I am doing a Aomei backup of it to the Seagate 2 TB external hard drive. I will then do a Windows 7 Complete PC Backup to the Seagate 2 TB external hard drive. It all seems to be running just fine. I move the CVS laptop table to entry way to the Ethan Allen recliner. I will store it back in the bedroom on the left side of the bed, once I get the bedroom closet fixed up. CIO

I set up the Dell laptop on the CVS laptop table in front of the left living room closet with the power supply and Microsoft wireless mouse from the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop. The Dell Latitude E6400 laptop works just fine. I shrank its hard drive by 40 GB, so I have room to install the Window 10 Technical Preview on a second partition. I am now backing up the original configuration to the Seagate GoFlex external hard drive. I will then make another backup to the Seagate 2 TB external hard drive. CIO

<888> 11/08/14 Saturday 4:55 A.M. Read note at 1 A.M. about my plan for repairing the shelf clothes hanger, if the building custodian does not come up with a better plan. <888> 11/08/14 Saturday 1:50 A.M. Since it might be a while before the building custodian repairs the bedroom closet shelf and hanger assembly, I made the apartment more livable. I put the hanging clothes from the bedroom closet on top of the Ethan Allen recliner and in front of it, so the area between the oak dining table the mahogany bureau is opened up freeing up the computers to be used at those locations. I also took the items off the bed in the bedroom, and I stacked them up on the floor of the closet, so the bed with access on the right side is now available for use. The floor on the left side of the bed is covered with various items from the floor of the closet. I don't have enough money to do the repair myself, and what little money I have I need to live off for the rest of the month. CIO

<888> 11/08/14 Saturday 1:00 A.M.

Basically my plan for the closet shelf repair is this.

Install 2 X4 along the back wall with 8 four inch mollies with washers at their heads.

One secured to the wall screw in another 2 X4 into with with three inch wood screws.

Do the same thing on both sides.

To fit the shelf, one has to cut the lower support iron on either end off a few inches.

Install 1 X 6 with 8 mollies across the back wall about two feet beneath the shelf to support the five older lateral support brackets.

Cut eight 2 X 4s to floor to bottom of shelf height less about 1.5 inches the width of two 1 X 6 boards used for support

Cut 16, 1 X 6 X 12 and screw them centered into either end of the eight two by fours.

Place support two by fours at the four corner of the shelf, and one front and rear a third of the distance from the side wall.

Secure shelf to back wall and side wall two by fours with 3 inch steel bars held in with one inch screws Secure eight two by four studs with 3 inch bars at the top and and screws into the floor.

That should be enough support for all of the extra heavy weight on the shelf clothes hanger.

I updated the list of the items that I would need to repair my bedroom closet shelf and hanger assembly.

The list of items that I was going to get at Home Depot, if I repaired the closet shelf with hanging slats for my clothes is:

<888> 11/07/14 Friday 7:30 P.M. I woke up at 3 P.M.. The building custodian was not at work today, so he was not able to repair the bedroom closet shelf and clothes hanging assembly. <888> 11/07/14 Friday 7:30 A.M. I chatted with a relative again. I decided to leave the items on the bed, and if need be I can sleep on the floor. I will call the Greenwich Housing Authority at 8:30 A.M. and place a work order. I assume they have had this problem a number of times in the building, so I assume they know how fix it properly without me going to a whole lot of hassle. CIO

<888> 11/07/14 Friday 7:05 A.M. I have the closet cleared out, and the old assembly disassembled, and a list made up. However, to support the closet shelf with wooden two by fours held in place with various hardware and the tools to do it is going to cost me close to $200 which I do not have at the moment. I will take the items that are on the bed, and put them back on the open closet floor, and I will thus have a place to sleep. I chatted with a friend. I will now clear off the bed. I guess I can call a relative to see if I can charge the cost at Home Depot to them, but because of the hacker problems at Home Depot, a relative might not want to let me use their credit card. I am extremely tired. I will now clear the bed. I chatted with another relative. CIO

<888> 11/07/14 Friday 5:05 A.M. I have the bedroom closet cleared out. I put the closet shelf items on the bed, and I put the hanging clothes on the floor in the living room between the oak dining table and the mahogany bureau. It is an excessive amount of weight. It looks like the right side plastic support broke giving way causing the hole assembly to give way. www.homedepot.com opens at 7 A.M. in Port Chester, New York. I need to get some repair items, and probably some wood strips to make the closet assembly stronger. I will now make up a list of items that I need. CIO

<888> 11/07/14 Friday 4:15 A.M. I have a major problem that I just discovered. My bedroom closet shelf with all of the clothes hanging underneath it has collapsed. Of course I also have Optimum WiFi, so there are probably a lot of other locations in this area that I could work at. For example, I would probably sit in the Greenwich Train station and pretend to be a commuter waiting for a train. I know they have Optimum WiFi at the top of Greenwich Avenue by the Pickwick Plaza, if I wanted to sit on a bench there and work on the internet. Other locations like the Greenwich Hospital

When one is basically a night time person, the daytime people tend to be a bit of a distraction. Still I manage to keep busy in my own simple ways. I guess because daytime people see a lot of people in metropolitan areas, they have a sense of self importance. Night time people in suburban areas with so few people awake are more like rural people waiting for the next odd thing to happen in a rather quiet tranquil atmosphere. <888> 11/04/14 Tuesday 11:20 A.M. Return home to Oslo, Norway for the winter for $151 <http://dealnews.com/Norwegian-Airlines-1-way-fares-to-Europe-from-149-/1184180.html> . Of course, when I went there in February 1983 for a few weeks, there was six feet of snow on the ground, but by the time I left around St. Patrick's Day, it had all melted. The Norwegians are very cheerful friendly people in their own country. However, it is an extremely expensive country. I did get to go to a concert in the Noble Peace Hall for free, and one sees a lot of Nordic people with the same look as other Nordic people in this hemisphere. I did learn that they are very strict about people drinking alcohol and driving, and I think for the first offence, it is 15 years in jail. However, if one is not use to seeing lots of guards with machine guns, and walking freely around them on the palace grounds, they also take security seriously. I did notice they all like having hanging plants in their window hung from macramé twine of some sort. There is a law in Norway that the help does not have to eat salmon more than three times a week. They think Kellogg's corn flakes are a gourmet treat. It really is not too cold in Oslo, because they get a bit of the Gulf Stream into the Fjord, but the rest of the country particularly to the north can be a lot colder. However, they did not let me move there, since two people that looked like Ronald Reagan and Casper Weinberger showed up in my Best Western Hotel lobby behind the palace to discuss the matter, but they never actually chatted with me, so they maybe thought I was Norwegian. One Norwegian told me I should visit Glen Eagles sometime in Scotland. However, since I had spent most of my money traveling after I built the garage apartment in Plandome Manor, Long Island, by the time I got to Oslo, I was too low on funds to do anything but walk around on an empty stomach eating a few Swedish Wasa Crisps a day. Thus if one goes to Norway, one needs money, unless one happens to be Norwegian and has access to the Norwegian Social Services System which tends to be very generous to its own people. I did notice that unlike Sweden, one does not see that many fair haired people. The Norwegians are also very stocky. The Town Hall in Oslo is the most expensive brick building in the world, so it must have some sort of special features that I did not notice. Royal Dutch Shell and IBM have big office buildings there. The American Embassy that I visited was an impressive structure. They were very confused why I wanted to move there, and when I showed up there, a large section of the population took off on a dozen cruise ships to points further south. Fred Olsen of Olsen Travel runs a large tourist business out of Oslo, Norway with worldwide travel. However, when I visited the library at the University of Oslo, I knew I would be lost right away, since I do not know how to speak, read or write Norwegian. There was a student pub in the basement of the oldest church in Oslo, and I visited there one Saturday night, and I guess nobody knew I was from somewhere else. The Norwegians have a ski jump on the north side of town, along with the Frogmore Park where the Russians have their Embassy that looks like a vintage French Chateau. They were advertising George Du Boeuf Wine when I was there. The downtown area of Oslo is enjoyable to stroll in, but like all European Cities and villages that I have visited, one is left wandering around without much purpose, until one returns home. I did see a lot of Scrimshaw for sale in Oslo. I guess the Norwegians did not realize that I was trying to find a peaceful remote area of the world to live in away from the turmoil of the Western Hemisphere. However, I was not attuned to their viewpoint of us, so if I chatted with anyone important or expressed any viewpoint, it was one of a tired traveler. Still despite the circumstances, I enjoyed the trip. When I returned to the JFK airport in Manhattan, since I did not have any money, I spent two weeks camped out at the SAS terminal there, until I called a friend where I built the garage apartment, and I took the train to his place on Long Island, and he gave me a hundred dollar bill that I used to fly back to www.nantucket.net , where I worked until I returned to Greenwich in December 1983 after brief side trips late that fall to Florida and Toronto and Manhattan. CIO

I then put my purchases in the Volvo wagon. I chatted with a local. I then went back into CVS, and I toured the store some more. I then bought three 160 count two ply boxes of Kleenex for $4 less a dollar off CVS card coupon and .19 tax for $3.19 total. I then bought buy one get one free of Gold Emblem Deluxe low salt 17.5 ounce mixed nuts for $13.79 both. I then chatted with another local walker about the price of tea in China. <888> 11/04/14 Tuesday 4:55 A.M. In terms of Saudi Arabia, my father once worked for King Wilkinson which was a Dutch engineering company in Saudi Arabia. I think they worked on building oil refineries. When I was in Key West, Florida during the winters of 1977 and 1978, I knew Izi who was from Saudi Arabia, and he used to sit on a prayer rug at Louie's patio just south of the Casa Marina Hotel. Louie's patio was where the windsurfers hung out along with Mel Fisher's children and a few friends of mine. When I flew down to Ronald Reagan's inaugural on a $40 Braniff airlines jet ticket from J.F.K. airport to National Airport in Washington D.C. on Inaugural Day in 1981, the only other passenger was the Saudi Arabian Oil minister who I did not bother. Since I returned to Greenwich, Connecticut in December 1983, I have met two people who told they were Saudi Arabian, Prince Bin Azis. Once at Tucson's bar, when I was first getting into personal computers about 24 years ago, I chatted with the son of the Saudi Arabian ambassador to the United Nations. I think his name was Auri or something like that. I chatted with him about Digital Computers of Lowell, Massachusetts. Since he was driving a $150,000 BMW and had a big blond male body guard from Virginia, I tended to believe him. A friend of mine had done landscaping at his new house on North Street, and told me they had 17 bathrooms. Another time, I met Asis who was from Saudi Arabia, and he lived on the same street in Cos Cob where Dorothy Bush's maid lived, and he worked at the perfume counter at Sac's Fifth Avenue in Stamford, and he also spoke French but very little English. I showed him my apartment setup and told him Daniel Construction had worked on building the Air Force base in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. That is about the limit of my Saudi connections. A British friend of the family also knew T.H. Lawrence of Lawrence of Arabia fame. I have never been in the middle east except western Turkey and also I have visited Lazarote

<http://www.bing.com/images/search?q=lanzarote&qpv=lanzarote&FORM=IARRSM> which is now a Saudi Arabian vacation spot of the coast of Morocco in the Canary Island. That was in the winter and spring of 1972, when I was a student in Europe. CIO

<888> 11/04/14 Tuesday 4:15 A.M. Good news, I unplugged Rowenta 4 slice toaster, and I slid out its two bottom panels to remove the crumbs, and then I shook it upside down over the garbage can to remove anymore crumbs. Now the right two slice side of the toaster now works again. I bought it about ten years ago as a 70% off discount item from the clearance shelf of the Greenwich Hardware store. I think it was normally about $80, and I paid about $30 for it; so it is a very good toaster. My Scottish, Saudi Arabian, Dutch, and U.S. Air Force flags also came from the same 70% off discount shelf. I got the large British flag for $15 at the Merry Go Round Mew Thrift Shop. I found the Swedish flag for $5 at the old Greenwich Hospital Thrift shop. The rest of the flags, like the U.S.A. and Bermuda flags, I bought off the internet. Most of the small flags came from the Greenwich Hardware store. The very small Norwegian flag on the small sterling silver stand was about $5 at the old Greenwich Hospital Thrift shop. My heavy duty steering wheel lock and my folding metal shopping cart also came from the 70% off shelf at the Greenwich Hardware store. Once they downsized to their smaller basement store, they eliminated the 70% off shelf. CIO

I then downloaded and burned to DVD, the latest version of www.ubuntu.com 32 bit version for Desktop. However, when one puts the DVD in the Panasonic CF-29 Toughbook, it give a processor error message. I used this method to boot it <http://zo0ok.com/techfindings/archives/1546> . I then chose to install it choosing the more tricky method to install it to the unused space creating a 5 GB swapper space and 20 GB of install space. <888> 11/01/14 Saturday 10:20 P.M. On Thursday May 25, 2000, I was shot at by a sniper at Tod's Point, and I made note of it in my notes at the time. I might have a hard copy of it somewhere in my files, but the note was deleted by a hacker or intruder over time. I recreated the note to the best of my ability about 11 years later. A copy of the recreated note follows:

On Thursday May 25, 2000, I had my usual medical appointment at 3 P.M.. Afterwards, since it was a nice cool day, I drove over to Old Greenwich to Todd's Point in my 1976 white Volvo 4 door sedan. I saw a teenage boy riding a bicycle with an orange wind breaker, and I also saw a women with Queen Elizabeth's look walking by the wind surfing beach area with a riding crop. I parked behind the bushes at the southwest parking area between 4 and 4:30 P.M.. I walked out to the picnic area, and I sat at a picnic bench watching water fowl on the waterfront. I did not notice any boats on the waterfront. I sat there for about 20 minutes. When I was walking out there, a large chunk of bark fell off a tree limb above the path in front of me. The tree limb was about 12 feet above my head. When I returned back down the pathway, I noticed at the base of that tree, there was a 1.5 inch by 1.5 inch square florescent orange target marker nailed into the base of the tree with a galvanized nail about eight inches off the ground. I suddenly thought that there could be a sniper on the waterfront shooting at me, and they had knocked the bark off the tree limb at that point. I told an undercover Greenwich Police office in the southwest parking area who was chatting with four teenage boys. As I departed the park, I told Reilly the gate attendant. I then stopped by the Riverside Post Office, and I told the postal clerk. I then drove back towards town, and when I was crossing the Indian Field Road Bridge going south bound over the turnpike, a man in a 1954 turquoise blue and dark blue Ford Station wagon with a surf board on the roof and South Carolina license plates waved at me. I had seen the car the previous summer around Greenwich. I told the police baseball team at Bruce Park including the largest police officer. I then drove down by the waterfront on Steamboat Road, and I told the desk at the Indian Harbor Yacht Club. I escorted one of their staff to their car at the bottom of Steamboat Road. I noticed a young blond teenage boy getting off the Indian Harbor Yacht Club launch with a set of golf clubs, which seemed unusual. Technically they could have contained a weapon. I then drove over to Grass Island, and I told several local fishermen at Grass Island. I was told later by one of the veterans with the new laser scopes, "There is No Such Thing as Kentucky Wind Anymore." Which I guess means the new equipment does not miss. I then went by the Greenwich Library, and I told the reference librarian. I noticed when driving back home to Byram on West Putnam Avenue that somebody that I know locally whom is suppose to be near blind was walking fast out of the Belle Haven area carrying two large duffle bags in front of the Pray Volkswagen dealership. I know the person is not as blind as he pretends, since I have seen him casually reading his watch dial many times, when people are not watching. I then returned home, and I called the Greenwich Police a few times to report facts as I could remember. At the time there were several rifle shot holes in the No Clamming signs at the southwest picnic area at Todd's Point, which is ample evidence that somebody or sniper was shooting at targets there. Later on that month, the signs were replaced with new signs. During that period John F. Kennedy junior was a frequent jogger at Todd's Point. Nobody ever interviewed me, or paid any attention to my reports. At the time Donald Trump www.trump.com had a house on the Waterfront in Indian Harbor, and I called him up at his office, and I told him what happened. That day was cooler, so as I recall, I was also thinner at about 175 pounds. I recalling wearing my New Zealand Brook Brothers brown leather bomber jacket with my olive green Australian canvas bush hat. I do not recall whether I was wearing blue jeans or not, but I usually dress up for my medical appointment. One local waterfront resident from South Africa told me that the local lobstermen shoot at each other all of the time trying to protect their lobster traps from poaching. Before my medical appointment that day, I had been down on the waterfront on Steamboat Road, and I had chatted with a new Greenwich resident from India named Dr. Palai? and he was wearing a black turban, and he was with a younger woman. I only saw him once more after that, and that was at the Japanese restaurant on Greenwich Avenue, when I passed by. Possibly the sniper attempt had something to do with Bhopal disaster - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia, since Warren Anderson the president of Union Carbide lived in Greenwich at the time. However, there are a lot of shady Mafiosi characters around the waterfront in Greenwich, Connecticut; so it could have been any of a number of other individuals. There was also a Ku Klux Klan rally in Hartford, Connecticut that weekend. That also would have been around the time there was graduation at the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York. Around that period, there was also an expert big game hunter around the waterfront on Steamboat Road, and as I recall he said he was from Harrison, New York.

<888> 12/31/14 Wednesday 9:00 A.M. I made up <http://scott-mike.com/potsalad.htm> . However, I modified the recipe. I used 3.5 pounds of potatoes which I cut into 1/3rd inch thick slices and boiled 30 minutes instead of 20 minutes. I also used two one pound Danish Dak hams that I cut into small slices. I also used eight Kosher dill spears that I cubed. I also used a 6 ounce can of Lindsay extra large black pitted olives that I cut in half. I also put in two tablespoons of Dijon mustard and eight dashes of Frank's hot sauce, and a couple of tablespoons of horseradish sauce. Since it has more potatoes, I used more seasoning and other additives in the recipe. I also used an extra large Bermuda red onion instead of a regular onion. I also used 1.5 ounces of Hormel bacon bits. I also used a half cup of Hellmann's extra virgin olive oil mayonnaise instead of Lite mayo. I put the mixture in two large Rubbermaid containers with covers in the refrigerator to chill. I will call it Cajun potato salad. CIO

<888> 12/31/14 Wednesday 5:50 A.M. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I will now shower and clean up. CIO

<888> 12/31/14 Wednesday 5:05 A.M. I put away the clean laundry. CIO

<888> 12/31/14 Wednesday 4:20 A.M. I paid my <http://optonline.net/> Digital Cable TV, Optimum Boost Plus, Optimum Voice, and my <http://www.cl-p.com/> electricity bill and my www.verizon.net bill. My current Optimum bill was about $198, which is about $65 for high speed Cable Modem, $35 for Optimum Voice long distance and about $98 for premium Cable TV. However that includes $25 in discounts for all three packages which covers the two cable boxes which are about $12 and taxes other fees. CIO

<888> 12/30/14 Tuesday 6:10 A.M. When I get the second Lenovo ThinkCentre desktop, I will get its Windows 7 Product Key. I will then make a Windows Complete PC backup of its Windows 7 installation to a USB external hard drive to have available for future restoring. I will then restore the dual boot two Windows 10 Technical Preview installation from the first Lenovo ThinkCentre to configure another beta computer quickly. Since it is 64 bit, I will not be able to use the TrendNet USB Print Server with it, but that is not a big deal, since I don't print out from beta computer usually. I may have to switch some wireless keyboards and mice around with it, since the Microsoft Wireless 3000 Keyboard and Mouse desktops had a problem on the last IBM ThinkCentre. It is all trail and error with systems configurations. CIO

<888> 12/30/14 Tuesday 5:00 A.M. I woke up at 2 A.M.. The Aeomi backup of the primary work computer was complete. I then did a Windows Complete PC backup of both partitions of the primary work computer to the Rosewill 1 TB USB external hard drive. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I made my bed. I will now shower and clean up. CIO

<888> 12/29/14 Monday 7:00 P.M. I uninstalled and reinstalled Internet Explorer 8 on the Windows 7 partition on the primary work computer. I then did a partial system refresh. One has to have the version of Windows 7 installed with the separate SP1 upgrade and not Windows 7 SP1. One first has to uninstall SP1 via this method <http://windows.microsoft.com/uninstallwindows7sp1> with the Command Prompt method since the SP1 upgrade did not show up in the Updates to be removed. It took about two hours to remove. I then downloaded SP1 from <http://www.microsoft.com/en-us/download/details.aspx?id=5842> and burned it to DVD. I then installed it which took about another two hours. I then installed about 130 recent Windows Updates which took another four hours. I then did a Windows Complete PC backup of both partitions from the first drive to the second backup hard drive. Thus I have the Windows 7 System refreshed and running a bit more smoothly on my older primary work computer.

While doing that I chatted with a relative. I chatted with a neighbor. The neighbor with the new Nokia Lumina 520 cell phone stopped by, and I installed it in his new case from England. I also lent him my instructions, so he could copy them, since he had lost his instructions. I ate four ounces of mixed nuts with cold filtered water. I took a two hour nap. I chatted with neighbors. All of this constant internet activity is exhausting. I will now take a nap. I am more comfortable inside than facing a cool morning walk. Of course it will be warmer today for late risers. CIO

<888> 12/27/14 Saturday 8:05 A.M. I ate a one fifth piece of pumpkin pie with Cool Whip topping and two clementines from Moroc. I was told by an employee at the A&P Fresh that the individual had recently visited <http://www.lanzarote.com/> but being closed to West Africa, one might get exposed to the Ebola virus there. I do know it is not too warm there in the winter, but with little vegetation there, it is good for people with allergies. Also since it out in the Eastern Atlantic Ocean, they also have very fresh air there. Also since it tends to be a desert climate with very little fresh water, at night when the skies are usually clear, one can see the millions of stars in the Heavens that one does not usually see in this part of the world. Alas I was only there for a few weeks in February 1972 a year after Raquel Welch made the movie there "A Million Years B.C.". It is mostly a lot black lava sand in its volcanic terrain. Back in February 1972, it cost about $8 a day to rent a Moped, but they are not very good on the black sandy roads, and they can break down. I once tried to camp out on the beach beneath a cliff on the Western Side of the Island where part of the old movie set still was, and the skies got black, where one could not see anything at night, and it was my perspective that some giant sea monster might have come out of the deep Atlantic Ocean. The locals grow onions in the black volcanic sand of the volcanic craters. At some points the crust is only eight inches thick above the lava. They do not have much free water there, so one only flushes after number 2. I paid $40 for a one hour flight on www.iberia.com from Malaga in southern Spain to get there. If one does not mind a week's voyage, it was about $100 for a deck passage on a ocean ferry, which might be uncomfortable. There were British Tourists there from the Isle of Wright and quite a few German tourists. They fry their fresh fish in olive oil. The Germans drink German beer there. Since fresh water is not too common, one does not get to take fresh water showers every day, but one can rinse off in the salty ocean. Playa Blanca on the southern side of the island was remote with a few Danish surfer hippies camping out on the beach. There was an old www.coke.com cooler with cold local beer there. A Norwegian resident Rhone Dietrin invited me to stay with his mother and her friend at their small bungalow at the end of the runway. His father was a pilot with <https://www.flysas.com/>. Alas he probably never left the remote island, so he is probably still guiding the many tourists around the island. They have more modern resorts there too on the eastern coast. I did not see all of the island. There used to be a hippie commune on the north eastern side of the island. I guess it has gotten so modern there, people have forgotten the simpler days of travel. I can imagine during the various World Wars, there were probably various coastal observers observing the various nautical traffic in the area. They might still have wild dogs on the island, because Canary from the Latin Word for Dog which is Canis, and when they were first discovered the Canary Islands had a lot of wild dogs. Also during the last European Ice Age fifty thousand years ago, there were blond hair blue eye people living in the Canary Islands, so some people managed to go south. Ernest Hemingway, when we supposedly was writing in Marbella, Spain would frequently be in Lanzarote , because it has some of the best marlin fishing in the world. Also www.nasa.gov used to have a ground monitoring station there in case the Space Shuttle had to abort in flight and land in Morocco. I have a theory there might be secret underwater volcanic caves where Jules Verne type submarines can hide out from prying eyes, but it is just a theory. Of course for older people, there are probably limited medical facilities there. I think it is a Spanish culture, so they do things the Spanish way. CIO <888> 12/27/14 Saturday 6:50 A.M. The way I figured it, a lot of people will still be away until the Monday after New Years returning for work on January 5, 2015, so they could be anywhere on their holiday breaks.

I noticed downtown yesterday, a young fellow showing off his Christmas www.timberland.com boots http://www.best-price.com/search/landing/query/timberland+outlet+boots/s/google/koid/8980497973/?query=timberland+outlet+boots&gclid=Cj0KEQIAzvmkBRcm3ZbV-4-hwrYBEiQAgLOW6_4WqdRP-IDf1KLoOTUIFWJSZ2rjzycYTE0t6wSWmAaApN38P8HAQ . They are very practical around here, whenever we get snow and slush. When one gets a new pair of leather boots, a friend used to treat the leather with http://www.walmart.com/search/search-ng.do?search_query=Mink%20Oil&adid=22222222224209898113&wmlspartner=wmtlabs&wl0=3530204213&wl1=e&wl2=mink%20oil&wl3=15087328592&veh=sem , but I am cheap, so I generally just use Saddle Soap <http://www.amazon.com/s?ie=UTF8&page=1&rh=i%3Aaps%2Ck%3ASaddle%20soap> . It is suppose go up to 55 degrees Fahrenheit today and be sunny. However, this time of year the sun does not come up until 7:18 A.M. <http://www.tides.info/?command=view&location=Cos+Cob+Harbor%2c+off+Goose+Island%2c+Connecticut+Current> . I suppose the usual group of www.starbucks.com deja vue people will be moving around. I have a 25% off regular price coupon at www.cvs.com , but there is nothing that I really need. Still it is nice to get out for a walk on a slow holiday weekend, when it is not too busy in our small metropolis. We might see some holiday visitors visiting their relatives here. CIO

I then went by the ATM machine at the www.chase.com bank at the top of Greenwich Avenue. I then went by CVS, and I picked up a prescription. The Hallmark Christmas cards are on sale for 50% off. I bought two boxes of 16 Hallmark Christmas cards <http://www.hallmark.com/> for $3.49 each box and .44 tax for $7.42 total. I then went further downtown. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I used the bathroom at Starbucks. I chatted with a regular visitor from Manhattan. I stopped by the Greenwich Cigar Store, and I played an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, but I lost. I toured CVS again. I chatted with a regular walker. I also chatted with a few other regulars. I returned home, and I chatted with neighbors. I have a 1 P.M. appointment this afternoon, that I have to leave for in a little while. I noticed somebody walking a unique dog downtown. It was an almost white Golden Retriever with only a slight hue of orange. CIO

<888> 12/26/14 Friday 7:45 A.M. I ate a one fifth piece of pumpkin pie with Cool Whip and a cup of coffee with Equal sweetener and milk. I will now dress up warmly and go downtown to do a few errands and Starbucks watch. CIO

<888> 12/26/14 Friday 6:45 A.M. I woke up at 6 A.M.. <888> 12/25/14 Thursday 1:45 A.M. For my Christmas Dinner, I put two tablespoons of extra virgin olive oil in a 10 inch frying pan, and I turned it on medium high electric burner heat, and after three minutes when the oil was hot, I added a 3/4th inch thick 12 ounce rib eye steak, and I seasoned it on both side with garlic powder, Hot and Spicy Montreal Steak Seasoning, and Italian spices, flipping it about every 30 seconds for 2 minutes a side over medium electric burner heat. I then added a few tablespoons Kikkoman soy sauce, and I continued to flip it every 30 seconds for a minute a side until most of the soy sauce had evaporated. I put it on a dinner plates with the burnt juices on top of it. I ate it with Bull's Eye barbecue sauce and Lea and Perrins Worcestershire sauce with a large baked sweet potato and steamed baby carrots with Smart Balance spread and extra virgin olive oil on the vegetables and a 12 ounce glass of Canada Dry Ginger Ale and a cup of green tea with Equal sweetener and Stop and Shop lemon juice. <888> 12/25/14 Thursday 12:25 A.M. I went out, and I went by the new www.chase.com bank on the west side of the Greenwich Library. I used their ATM machine. On the keypad in the upper right corner in the dark away from the light is the "Enter" button, which one can not see, since it is obscured by the keypad overhang. I next went downtown, and I sat out briefly by the Senior and the Arts Center enjoying the two large trees lighted up with Christmas Lights which looks very festive. I then drove down by the waterfront on Steamboat Road. There were two cars parked down there. CVS on West Putnam Avenue and the two gasoline stations on West Putnam Avenue are about the only businesses opened. I then returned home to Byram to Chateau De Vinci. CIO

<888> 12/21/14 Sunday 6:25 A.M. I ate two clementines. The USB speakers on the Dell Latitude 4600i tower computer in the bedroom were plugged into the wrong speaker jack on the Creative Labs 5.1 sound card. I plugged them into the next lower speaker jack, and they now work just fine. It also have a USB headset on it that works just fine. I used four strips of Scotch tape to secure the little two foot artificial Christmas tree to its teak base, so when one walks by it at the kitchen entrance, and one is wearing a heavy coat, one will not knock it over hopefully. I do not hear from many people anymore, so I guess they are all busy with their holiday activities, where ever they might be. My two friends who live in the upper east side of Manhattan have departed for their home down south, before they cruise the south Pacific after the New Years. Elderly people tend to enjoy cruise ships in their free time. Alas, the only ship I have been on besides the www.nantucket.net and Martha's Vineyard ferries is a medium size ocean ferry from Piraeus in Greece to Crete back in the spring of 1972. It was a rough voyage, so I have never ventured on the high seas again. They used to have cruise ships on the Great Lakes which were like ocean steamers, but nobody is interested in that part of the world anymore. With the warmer weather, I would imagine the St. Lawrence Seaway is probably still open and ice free. I guess after living like a hermit working in restaurants in Nantucket for those few years, I lost track of my pier group in Greenwich while working around young high school kids, but that was 31 years ago, so more than likely they are all middle age adults by now. I have been around a lot of younger people while walking downtown at night all of these years, but younger people do not network with older people, so I am not sure what they do or where they are from. I suppose some of their parents are from my pier group of individuals in town whom tend to be more private, if they are still in town and not retired elsewhere in warmer climates. CIO

<888> 12/19/14 Friday 11:40 P.M. I chatted with two relatives. I updated or refreshed the CMOS bios on the other five www.ibm.com ThinkCentre computers. I put links in <http://scott-mike.com/computer.htm> as to which of my six ThinkCentres use which BIOS. IBM and Lenovo have made so many different models over the years, one has to be careful to find the right bios, or risk turning your computer into a BRICK. Under Flashing Bios in this manual <http://support.lenovo.com/en/docs/um000380> on page 516, it tells how to repair a ThinkCentre Bios that has been flashed with the wrong bios or other bios problem, so if you make a mistake, you are not stuck with a brick. CIO

<888> 12/19/14 Friday 11:30 P.M. The TrendNet USB Ethernet Adapter driver installed on the Lenovo ThinkCentre with Windows 10 Technical Preview, but one has to reboot to get it to work. I now have both the motherboard LAN and Motherboard Audio and Motherboard Video Disabled. It seems to be working fine.

I updated its bios to Lenovo Model: 6258BY8, Serial Number: MJGMH97, Bios 5CKT77AUS, Bios Date: 05/07/12. I had to download the bios update for the CD Bios Update and make a CD from it and then boot it, and it took several minutes to update the Bios. The WinFlash Bios Update would not work with Windows 10 Technical Preview. CIO

<888> 12/19/14 Friday 4:20 P.M. I threw out the garbage. I went by the A&P Fresh, and I bought a five pound box of Moroc clementines for $4.99 and a four pack of light and fluffy blueberry muffins for $3.50 for $8.49 total. I then went by the new www.chase.com bank just west of the Greenwich Library. An easier way to get to it coming from West Putnam Avenue is turn right at the A&P Fresh and then turn left on Field Point Road and left back on to West Putnam Avenue and right into the new Chase Bank and then exit on Deerfield Drive. They have an ATM machine in the drive up and a ATM at low level at the front entrance that is slightly covered from the elements. Of course on a rainy night, one could always use the Chase ATM machine at the top of Greenwich Avenue which is enclosed. I then went downtown to Greenwich Avenue. I walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. The foundation is still being constructed at the bottom of Greenwich Avenue for the new building there as is the new fire station foundation, so there is just a hole in the ground in both places. I toured the train station. I toured the Apple store. I told a young blond fellow he should visit Scandinavia. I used the bathroom at the lower level of the senior and the arts center. The ground floor bathroom was closed. I stopped by CVS, and I bought two 17.5 ounce lightly salted Deluxe mixed nuts for $6.77 each less a $2 off CVS coupon machine coupon of mixed nuts over $8 for $11.54 total. I sat out for a while watching the local business community go to lunch. I saw a local politician showing around a group of Asian Businessmen. I chatted with someone from Lake Forest, Illinois. I sat out for a while after my walk. I then went to Zen Stationary, and I bought an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, and I won $4 for $3 profit. I then went by the very busy Stop and Shop on West Putnam Avenue. Their meat counter is fully stocked with Holiday feast items. I bought a chunk of Jarlsberg cheese for $4.99 a pound $9.03, Stop and Shop deli sliced honey ham for $5.99 a pound for $5.93, Stop and Shop deli sliced white American cheese for $4.99 a pound for $4.94, two prepared colorful bowtie pasta alfredo meals for $1.49 and $1.99 each, bananas for .49 a pound for $1.43, two sweet potatoes for .99 a pound for $2.29, a one pound bag of organic baby carrots $2.29 for $29.39 total. I chatted with a woman from Yorktown Heights, Virginia where there are supposed to be www.navy.mil people, and I told her about Williamsburg, Virginia, when I stayed there around 1964 for a month in the summer during July with a Harrison family member and we stayed with the secretary of the Colonial Williamsburg foundation President who also had an old Virginia family name in the restored Old Jail which was a house across the street from the State of Virginia mental hospital which was yellow brick. I then returned back to Chez Vinci, and I put away my groceries. I also chatted with a Greenwich Housing Authority official while I was walking downtown. CIO

<888> 12/16/14 Tuesday 8:00 P.M. The Lenovo ThinkCentre was not a tower model, but a desktop model. It uses the low rise PCI cards. I took the PCI Express video card Galaxy GeForce GT610 GC 1 GB DDR3 PCI Express 2.0 Graphics Card out of the IBM ThinkCentre on the oak dining table, and I put its lower rise plate on it, and I installed it in the PCI Express slot without the scotch tape. I moved the PCI Express 256 meg. video card with scotch tape to the IBM ThinkCentre on the oak dining table. I also took the AOC 23 inch model off the IBM ThinkCentre on the oak dining table, and I am using it on the Lenovo ThinkCentre. I put the 19 inch Acer LCD monitor for the right monitor on the IBM ThinkCentre on the oak dining table. The SIIG 5.1 PCI audio card would not fit into the one available PCI slot on the Lenovo ThinkCentre. I took the install off the Intel LAN card, and I put it in the PCI slot. Although it was recognized, it would not go on line, so I am using the motherboard LAN. I took off the face plate off the front of the Lenovo ThinkCentre, and I installed the SATA DVD/RW drive with a spare SATA cable that I had. The SATA connector is underneath the hard drive. I setup the Lenovo ThinkCentre with the 23 inch AOC LED monitor on the mahogany night stand to the right of the living room desk. I could not get Windows 10 X64 Technical Preview Enterprise edition to boot, but the regular Windows 10 X64 Technical Preview booted, and I installed it in a 60 gigabyte partition on the 160 gigabyte hard drive. It installed my save settings and Windows 10 apps, since it was online with the motherboard LAN which was recognized. I had to fiddle with it quite a while.

<888> 12/15/14 Monday 3:20 P.M. They are selling live Christmas trees and wreaths at the www.chase.com bank parking lot on West Putnam Avenue just south of Valley Road. Back in the old days, when I lived around Billy Baldwin's Billy Baldwin Decorates: A book of practical decorating ideas friends in Manhattan, the friendly people from Vermont used to sell live Christmas Trees at Beekman Place and Broadway and West 72nd Street. They would stand out all night long selling Christmas trees in the cold weather. I even used to go to a pub in Greenwich Village popular with Beatles and Beach Boys fans because of the music on their juke box which was owned by an individual from Vermont. Even in Key West, I stayed in a hotel <http://casamarinaresort.com/> built by the Spotswood family from Vermont. Out in www.nantucket.net, the <http://www.lalanguedoc.com/> where I worked was owned by people from <http://www.stowe.com/> and <http://www.trappfamily.com/>. When I built the garage apartment out at Plandome Manor, Long Island, the owner of the house had a picture of the Von Trapp family lodge in Austria in their upstairs hallway. Back in the winter of 1989, a local friend from Bedford, New York and Stowe, Vermont took me to Innsbruck, Austria <http://www.innsbruck.com/>, where I toured the small town for a week. The AAA www.aaa.com travel office on Long Ridge Road in Stamford, Connecticut back then was selling a vacation package for $799 with a round trip from JFK to Munich on <http://www.lufthansa.com/> and a week's stay at a hotel in Innsbruck with breakfast and dinner included. They were not very high tech in Innsbruck, and they did not even use cash registers, but change purses except in the small local mall. They even had a large warehouse for citrus products. I even toured the <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hofburg>, Innsbruck, and I gave one of the guards an Emperor Franz Joseph I http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Franz_Joseph_I_of_Austria metal that I found in my rental apartment on Steamboat Road. <888> 12/14/14 Sunday 11:15 P.M. I chatted with a friend after the last note. I threw out the garbage. I went by the central Greenwich Post Office, and I mailed my Christmas Cards. The letter slots at the post office were full. I then went by CVS on Greenwich Avenue. Sometime in the near future, they are supposed to be opened until midnight until December 23, but not tonight. I bought three 12 packs of Canada Dry Ginger Ale for $11 and $1.80 can deposit for $12.80 total. I then bought two 6 ounce cans of Blue Diamond Smokehouse almonds for two for $5 and $3 off with a bonus bucks coupon from the previous sale for $2 total. I then went further down Greenwich Avenue, and the town was pretty much empty on a cold winter's night. I sat out observing the two lighted big trees in front of the Senior and the Arts Center. The empty Starbucks was just about ready to close. I then went by the Putnam Shell at 401 West Putnam Avenue, and I bought $7.47 of self service V-Power premium gasoline for $3.649 a gallon for 2.047 gallons at odometer reading of 109922 miles for 20.6 miles driving since Wednesday December 3, 2014 for 10.064 miles per gallon in mostly local traffic. I then returned home, and I used my little folding cart from the rear of the Volvo wagon to bring up the Ginger Ale, and then I put it back in the rear of the Volvo wagon. CIO

<888> 12/13/14 Saturday 8:15 P.M. I also have a spare new Logitech Cordless Wave Desktop system that I will use on the Lenovo tower. Besides that for the primary work computer, I have a spare new Microsoft 7000 wireless desktop system and a spare new Microsoft 6000 wireless desktop system. With all of my typing, I do wear out keyboards and mice over time. CIO

<888> 12/13/14 Saturday 7:50 P.M. I finished installing the setup as described below. I did not use the Belkin control panel, but I used a power strip to turn in the Dell Latitude 4600i desktop on the far right side of the desk. The power strip in on the desk between the Dell and the IBM ThinkCentre. The lower control panel in the center of the desk underneath the IBM ThinkCentre turns on the Abit computer on the left side of the bedroom desk, and the upper control panel turns on the IBM ThinkCentre in the centre of the desk. I moved the printer stand from the far right of the desk to underneath the Minolta PagePro 1350W laser printer to the right of the primary work computer, so there is now room to place waste print out paper which does accumulate over time. On top of the primary Dell Latitude D410 laptop near where the Lenovo tower will be, I placed a new Intel LAN card, the SIIG audio card, a new Lenovo RCA plug headset, and a new Logitech C600 web cam. I have two new spare SATA DVD/RW drives for it, and until I get it, I do not know what video card, I might try to use in it, since I do not know how its motherboard and slots are configured. CIO have a smaller umbrella in the back seat of the Volvo wagon. I will now move the Abit computer to the left side of the bedroom desk with the Eizo monitor on top of it along with its Belkin control panel in the center on top of the other two control panels. I will put the Dell Latitude 4600i computer on the right of the bedroom desk with the Eizo monitor on top of it. I will take out the SIIG audio card from the Dell computer and put in the Creative Labs PCI 5.1 audio card. I will save the SIIG card for the Lenovo tower. I will use the third Eizo monitor for the IBM ThinkCentre in the center, and will use the 19 inch Acer monitor for the Lenovo tower. Depending on what type of video card the Lenovo tower takes, I have a number of options. The Abit computer has a TV card that I will also connect up to the coaxial cable at that location. CIO

<888> 12/10/14 Wednesday 2:30 A.M. I ate 11 triscuit reduced fat crackers with .5 inch by 3/16th inch by 1.5 inch pieces of Norwegian Jarlsberg cheese on them. I guess since I am 1/4th Scottish American and 1/4th British American, there is no rush to ever see me in the United Kingdom, since they have plenty of people over there like me to entertain the 18 million tourists a year that London gets. They probably don't like cigarette smokers over there anyway. A few times, when I got bored while living in Manhattan, I would take the train to the plane and walk around the British Airways terminal at night at J.F.K. airport to see if any British people noticed me in the Big City, but once I got back into the Big City, it was pretty much the same routine walking around endlessly in circles in various street patterns that I had learned from experience. I used to spend quite a bit of time walking around Third Avenue where the British Consulate offices are, and we used to call it "Queen's Boulevard". Alas the glamorous Fifth Avenue crowd never took much notice of myself or any of our friends whom would come and go. I was told that first generation British immigrants in this country frequently have financial problems, since they are not entitled to our benefits, so the wife of the British consulate in Manhattan volunteers in a soup kitchen that helps them out. I know Winston Churchill's granddaughter Sarah Churchill used to volunteer in a soup kitchen in Manhattan back in the early 1970s. I guess they used to think I was rich, because I lived in Greenwich, Connecticut and drove my mother's new Chevrolet Monte Carlo into Manhattan. However, back in the early 1973, when I lost my job at Boodles in Greenwich as a waiter, I was only making $50 to $100 a night on a good night. However, my Greenwich friends did not like my Manhattan friends from Long Island whom were more affluent, so they were frequently at conflict with each other. In fact I never mentioned any of my Greenwich friends names in Manhattan, just the names of a few people I knew around Lake Forest, Illinois, when I went to college there. I guess when www.mcdonalds.com started setting up shop in Manhattan, they were somewhat less than impressed, since the people in Manhattan back then liked eating Water Kress salads with Dijon vinaigrette dressing and a slice of French bread with a glass of white wine versus a 15 cent hamburger. One friend whom lived on Minetta Lane in Manhattan was upset, when they built a new McDonalds on West Fourth Street behind his carriage house, and all he could smell was hamburgers and French Fries. He worked at the Spring Street restaurant which featured crab stuffed Dover Sole for about $7.95. Of course just north of the Sign of the Dove restaurant at around 65th Street and Third Avenue, they used to have an Arthur Treacher's Fish and Chips, but it never expanded too far in America from what I can tell. There used to be another one, where Wendy's is in Greenwich. The second Avenue deli at around 50th street just south of the A&P used to sell a liverwurst sandwich for about $2. The Greek Restaurant at 50th street and First Avenue used to serve two fried eggs with three strips of bacon and toasted English muffin with coffee and milk and sugar for about $3. I think orange juice was extra. Alas for the rich people the Mayfair Restaurant is not longer there at 54th Street and First Avenue. They used to serve two broiled one inch thick pork chops with candied apple slice and broccoli and yello rice for $7.95. Back in my day in Manhattan, most restaurants served a bacon blue cheese burger with home fries and kosher dill pickle slice with a slice of tomato and a leaf of lettuce for $2.95. Also a roast beef sandwich on a Kaiser roll with mayonnaise was $2.95 at most delis. Cigarettes skyrocketed in price while I was in Manhattan from 50 cents a package to $1.29 a package, and lots of people from India were selling them from tobacco booths. FVM like eating fettuccini alfredo at the Isle of Capri at Third Avenue and 59th street for about $7. Of course there was an automat at 42nd street and second avenue opened 24 hours a day just north of the Daily News building. I never went to the Times Square area, because there were too many hucksters in that neighborhood. There was another $3 breakfast place at Madison Avenue and about 66th Street. Alas I have not lived in Manhattan, since February 1982; so it probably has changed a bit. I quit driving into Manhattan at night about July 1993, when I was mugged with a friend, when we tried to help out someone whom turned out to be a mugger. I figured I was getting old and slow, so I quit going there, except for two February visits after 911 one during the G8 conference and another on a minus 20 degrees Fahrenheit night, and I think the only other time was the February Microsoft conference about seven years ago. Thus although I see a lot of people from New York City out here, I do not feel inclined or can afford the expense. CIO

<888> 12/08/14 Monday 7:45 P.M. I threw out the garbage. I drove East on West Putnam Avenue and left on Valley Drive to a right on Glenville Road to a right at the Lake Avenue Circle to South on Deerfield Drive, and just before West Putnam Avenue across the street to the west of the Greenwich Library, I turned into the Deerfield Drive entrance of the new www.chase.com bank, where the old www.exxon.com service station used to be. They only have about eight parking places on their upper level outside parking, so I parked in the lower level underground parking which has more parking places. I walked around on the driveway to the front entrance instead of taking the elevator. They have a drive through ATM machine on the west side, but it might be a drive through teller, I could not tell. There is also an outside ATM machine at the front entrance. They should have an inside ATM machine, so somebody can write to endorse checks out of the elements. I made a small withdrawal. They gave me two Chase ball point pens. They have another ATM machine at the teller counter, but one can only make a maximum of $25 withdrawal there, which is not very much money by Greenwich, Connecticut standards. I then exited the new Chase Bank by the Deerfield Drive exit. It is hard to get into the far left of three lanes to make a left turn onto West Putnam Avenue, so I took the center lane to Field Point Road, and turned left on East Elm Street to make it to downtown Greenwich. I then walked the entire length of Greenwich Avenue and the train station area. I stopped by the www.apple.com computer store. They told me they do not sell their operating system separate, so one can use the Apple Emulator with a PC DOS Windows device to run the Apple operating system. They told me the military use their Apple laptops as is. I stopped by the Senior and the Arts Center, and I chatted with the person that told me about green tea pills. I used the bathroom there. I then stopped by the http://www.greenwichhardware.com/index.php, and I bought a Pass & Seymour 3-Way Turn Knob Socket Interior for $5.49 and .35 tax for $5.84. I then went by CVS, and I bought two 9.5 ounce Triscuit brown rice sea salt and pepper crackers for $2.50 each for $5 total. I then bought a Glade Automatic Scent machine 9 ounce linen scent refill for $5 with a $1.50 off from the CVS coupon machine and .22 tax for $3.72 total. I then went by the Chase Bank at the top of Greenwich Avenue, and I got some parking change. I then sat out for a while at the top of Greenwich Avenue. I then chatted with a local Norwegian American electronics engineer whom was cold. I gave him a quick briefing about what I have been doing. I finished my walk, and I sat out for a while. I then went by Zen Stationary, and I bought an Ace's High scratch card for a dollar, and I won $2 for a dollar profit. I then chatted with a local dog trainer and his client about dogs. I then sat out for a while more. I then returned home to Chateau Vinci in Byram. I picked up the mail. I then sat out for a while. I then returned home. I used my little folding cart to bring up the Ginger Ale. I put away my purchases. I cleaned the white ceramic lamp. Its socket switch was broken. I took the socket switch out of the small Bumble Bee lamp, and I put it in the white ceramic lamp. I then put the white ceramic lamp on top of the speaker on top of the rear of the Epox computer in the living room with a 75 watt CFL light bulb. I put the light green cardboard lamp shade that I bought from Restoration Hardware store a few years ago on it. I put another lamp shade on the lamp in the bedroom. I put the Bumble Bee lamp on the Abit computer, and I will get a socket switch for it, when I have time. I moved the Glade Scent machine from on top of the Abit computer to on top of the speaker on the lower left hand side of the Ocosmo LED TV. I installed more music files on it from the second partition. I am now letting the Windows Media Player update the Music information online. I picked up the mail. Zuck is on the cover of www.time.com and how he is planning to take over the world. Two issues of www.forbes.com magazine now owned by the Chinese also came. The order with tracking of <https://tools.usps.com/go/TrackConfirmAction?tqc tLabels1=9400110200881407970454> on the order for $9.99 with free shipping TRENDnet TU2-ET100 10/100 USB Ethernet Adapter * For Macbook Air and Windows PC arrived. I will next install Norton Internet Security on the second partition. I never use the IBM ThinkCentre along side the Ethan Allen recliner. It is probably my best computer setup. As a Microsoft OEM whom never made any money, I just keep it as my primary demo computer, as if nobody else has ever seen the Microsoft product. Alas after I sold my used www.apple.com IIE desktop computer about 24 years ago for $179 profit, I could never afford to buy another Apple product for better or worse. If one looks at <http://scott-mike.com/computer.htm> , it shows what I have managed to piece together in the PC DOS world over 24 years of trial and error and limited income. Basically my computer setups are good for web browsing and shopping, word processing and printing, email, communications, money management, desktop and internet publishing, and playing music, and that is about it. <888> 12/04/14 Thursday 2:50 A.M. I ate four ounces of Blue Diamond wabasi and soy almonds.

I was just thinking about how modern the Royal British Navy has become <http://www.bing.com/images/search?q=hms+hornet&go=Submit+Query&qs=bs&form=QBIR> . The last time I was in Virginia Beach, Virginia was when I took a private charter flight up from Cayo Hueso, and we puddle jumped from Cayo Hueso to Cape Canaveral to Virginia Beach and possibly with a stop somewhere in New Jersey and then to Stratford airport, where there was about six inches snow on the ground in April 1982. I then went to work building a garage apartment out in Plandome Manor, Long Island for someone who had a Florida house there with terricota tiles who used to tell me they like going to Tobago. Knowing how cold it can get up north, I put 12 inches of pink Owens Corning fiberglass in the attic, 12 inches of pink Owens corning fiberglass on the north wall that I built out and two inches styrofoam underneath the floor against the cement. By the time I left the completed project in February 1983, I had put in over 6500 or more hours into the project for which I was paid about $8,500 and no social security which works out to about $1.31 or less an hour for construction work. The individuals were friends who claimed to have major political connections, but they were in the democratic party, and since I was a republican in Mr. Grumman's neighborhood, it never lead to anything but back to dishwashing in Nantucket around more liberal democrats. I do much better around the Republicans working on computers which I have done for about 25 years of my recent life. After the garage apartment was finished, I moved the widow's daughter into the apartment, and bought her about a $100 of house warming gifts. I then spent a week in New Haven, Connecticut at the Colony Hotel, and then I spent a week in Georgetown, where I met Dr. Gillespie, Lyndon Johnson's heart surgeon. I then visited a relative in Bayonet Point, Florida for about two weeks. I then spent a week with a relative Norwalk, Connecticut. I then bought a $799 round trip package on Scandanavian Airlines at Kennedy airport for a week's stay in Stockholm, Sweden at the S.A.S. hotel with round trip included. However, the S.A.S. flight landed at a military airport in Oslo, Norway, where a bus took us to the S.A.S. hotel in Oslo next to the Palace. The person at the S.A.S. Hotel in Oslo told me my ticket was only good for a one way ticket to Stockholm with no hotel fare. I spent two nights at the Y.M.C.A. across the street before they threw me out for not paying my bill, since I was low on money. I walked around all night, and in the early morning hours, I walked into the West Hotel behind the palace, and I gave them my passport, and they gave me a room. I stayed there for about a week. I did not eat any food except Swedish Wasa Crisps that I bought a local deli. The United State Embassy contacted my father, and he paid my room fares and my return flight. They gave me a $100 traveling money. On the flight back, we changed planes in Copenhagen for a big new Boeing 747 S.A.S. jet, and while in Copenhagen, I bought two cartons of Prince Cigarettes for $20 each duty free. When we got back to J.F.K. airport in New York, I spent about two weeks living in the airport around the S.A.S. terminal part of which time was during the Easter Holiday period, when I saw a lot of traveling religious people. Finally I called my friend in Long Island, and I took the Long Island Railroad to his grandmother's house, and he gave me a $100 bill that I used to buy a ticket from J.F.K. to Nantucket where I spent the season working at Le Languedoc restaurant as the head dishwasher for $8.75 an hour. A little bit before Halloween, I flew to Boston and met a relative, and I spent some time in Kennebunkport before driving down with the relative to Vero Beach. I then got a rental car during a tropical storm and went to Fort Lauderdale, where there were about five thousand very tall white people in the beach area, I guess on vacation. After a week, I drove to Bayonet Point again to visit my father. I then drove back to Vero Beach, where I got some needed medical care. I then flew back to Nantucket, where I worked until the end of November, and on the anniversary of J.F.K.'s death, I had taken the ferry from Nantucket to Hyannis and sat up all night in the airport, and I saw Ted Kennedy in the airport at 6 A.M., and Jackie Onassis was on my flight to LeGuardia. I then caught a train from Grand Central Station to Toronto, Ontario, Canada. I stayed about two weeks on a couch at the Anglican Seminary walking around Toronto. I then took the Amtrak back to Manhattan. I spent about a week walking around Manhattan napping in the early morning hours at the East Side Airline terminal. I finally came out to Greenwich, where I was hospitalized for a few days for swollen ankles. I then ended up going back to Manhattan walking around the same way for another week staying up all night in the East Side Airline terminal. I finally took a bus to J.F.K. airport, and from there a bus to Greenwich, and this time when I checked into the Greenwich Hospital with swollen ankles, they gave me a $7,500 complete physical for a week, and the result of which was that they said I was disabled. My social worker found me a $250 a month apartment on Milbank Avenue, and I got $200 a month Welfare money. Thus I have been back in this area since the first week of December 1983 or 31 years as the crow flies. CIO

P.M. <http://us.hellomagazine.com/royalty/1201412021506/secrets-of-prince-william-and-kate-middleton-s-swanky-new-york-city-hotel> Manhattan is not my turf anymore, but I see a few individuals out here that seem to find their way from Manhattan. I saw http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Makarios_III at the Carlyle in 1975, and only about 200 people were observing. I have had drinks there a few times, but one does not see many young people in that neighborhood, so I use to explore other youth areas in Manhattan. I think Gloria Vanderbilt is the best known celebrity at the Carlyle, but she has other family members that live in the same neighborhood whom are more private. I once found a friend an apartment on East 70th Street just east of Madison Avenue for $350 a month back in 1974, but I think the rents might have gone up a bit in that neighborhood. As I recall, the apartment was two doors west of the Explorer's Club with the Duke of Windsor's favorite restaurant in between. It was on the original front half story up level. CIO

<888> 12/03/14 Wednesday 10:55 P.M. The new www.chase.com bank on the West Side of the Greenwich Library where the old www.exxon.com gasoline station used to be is scheduled to open Monday December 8, 2014. Since it is hard to make a left turn at that location coming from the west on West Putnam Avenue, when during the few times I have to go to the bank, I will drive up Valley Road to Glenville Road to the Lake Avenue Circle and come south on Deerfield Drive and turn right on West Putnam Avenue and turn right into the new Chase Bank parking area. I really only go to the bank about once a month to take out my rent money to take over to the Wells Fargo Bank on Havemayer Place to pay my rent. It is about the only time I carry large amounts of cash, so I guess it is safe to travel that far with cash which is about three quarters of a mile. The Wells Fargo Bank on Havemayer Place is next to the Greenwich Police Station, so it is a relatively safe location from my viewpoint.

<888> 12/02/14 Tuesday 9:55 P.M. When I would occasionally stay at Fred Von Mierers apartment back in October 1973 to February 1975, I would occasionally eat lunch at www.rockefeller.edu . However, on a limited income, all I could afford was an 8 ounce Dannon yogurt and a red Macintosh apple, and a cup of coffee with sugar and milk. However, I did also live out in Greenwich, Connecticut at that time. I once drove in randomly into Manhattan which back then was not too busy because of the Arab Oil Embargo, and I parked at Rockefeller University in my mother's 1972 tobacco colored Monte Carlo wearing my vintage Brooks Brother's three piece suit, and the event was Belgium Today, when the Queen Fabiola <http://www.monarchie.be/royal-family/queen-fabiola> of Belgium was touring Rockefeller University. <888> 12/02/14 Tuesday 1:30 P.M. I put the Phillips surge protector power squid on the 19 inch Sceptre LED television underneath the stereo system in the living room. I moved the Tripp-Lite control panel from there to the IBM ThinkCentre underneath the Ocosmo 32 inch LED television. I moved the Rosewill switchable power strip from there to the left side of the bedroom desk with the Netgear Switch and the Linksys wireless router connected to it. CIO

<888> 12/02/14 Tuesday 11:00 A.M. I chatted with a local walker. CIO

<888> 12/02/14 Tuesday 9:55 A.M. I ate a blueberry muffin before going to bed. I woke up at 8:30 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I made my bed. I will now shower and clean up. CIO

<888> 12/01/14 Monday 11:50 P.M. I ate a ham and American cheese sandwich on toasted 15 grain bread with Hellmann's olive oil mayonnaise and a dill pickle slice and a Wise low sodium potato chips, and a 12 ounce glass of www.coke.com . CIO

<888> 12/01/14 Monday 11:00 P.M. I moved the right Eizo 19 inch monitor off the FIC server, and I put it on top of the Dell Latitude D4600i desktop computer in the bedroom connected up to it with the power connected to the lower control panel. Thus it now has a monitor again. CIO

<888> 12/01/14 Monday 10:25 P.M. I took the DVI cable off the AOC monitor on the IBM ThinkCentre on the oak dining table. I replaced it with a DVI -VGA cable that I had. I hooked the DVI cable up to the IBM Graphics card in the IBM ThinkCentre in the bedroom connected to the Acer 19 inch LCD monitor, and I hooked up the Eizo monitor from the Dell Latitude D4600 desktop to the IBM Graphics video port on the IBM ThinkCentre. I changed the CMOS settings to PCI, Dual, and split memory for the video. The IBM ThinkCentre in the bedroom now boots both monitors, and it works just fine. CIO

<888> 12/01/14 Monday 9:25 P.M. I found the solution to the problem here <http://support.lenovo.com/us/en/documents/migr-68906> . In the Notes, it says that one can not use a DVI to VGA adapter, and thus one has to use a DVI cable. I do not have a spare DVI cable, but I might be able to take one off one of my other computers to try it. CIO

<888> 12/01/14 Monday 9:15 P.M. I installed the IBM ThinkCentre video card in the IBM ThinkCentre in the bedroom with the DVI to VGA adapter, and I tried it both as the primary and secondary monitor, but although it is recognized, when the system boots, once

Windows 7 boots, it goes blank. I tried the different video CMOS settings. All I can figure out is that I need a separate video driver for it, that I can not find. There is supposedly a driver "ibmlenovo39j9334add2rdviipcievideoconnection.zip" that I can not find to download. I left the card in the computer, and I removed the VGA-DVI adapter. I left the video setup to the motherboard Intel Graphics Connector. I did find this <http://support.lenovo.com/us/en/documents/ht005263?tabName=Solutions> . I chatted with a relative. CIO

<888> 12/01/14 Monday 4:25 P.M. I threw out the garbage. I chatted with a neighbor. I drove over on I-95 East to <http://www.vioc.com/> on East Main Street in Stamford, Connecticut. One now just sits in the car for about 15 minutes, which they do the service work. I got an oil filter and oil change and fluid check for $39.99 for a VO66 Valvoline oil filter and 6.1 quarts of Valvoline 5W30 oil and another $4.39 charge for extra oil and a 99 cent charge for replacing the drain plug gasket and $2.88 tax for $48.25 total. They had to remove the shield underneath the Volvo wagon to get at the oil filter. They were most professional and quick and courteous. The Volvo wagon had 109,866 miles on it at the oil change. I then returned on I-95 West to Riverside, and I stopped by www.staples.com , and I used the bathroom there, and I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone. I bought a 16 GB Sandisk USB pen drive for $6.99 and .44 tax for $7.43 total. I chatted with one of the sales associates about computers there. I then returned to lower downtown Greenwich Avenue. I chatted with a relative on my wireless telephone. I chatted with a couple driving an old Jaguar roadster. I chatted with somebody from Egypt that works at the Versailles restaurant. I toured the Greenwich Train Station. I chatted with a local outside the Senior and the Arts Center. I used the bathroom there. I chatted with another local who only gets nine miles per gallon in his 28 year old www.ford.com Taurus. I chatted with the other local. I chatted with <http://www.followthatcupcake.com/> who had a vintage Dutch bakery bicycle cart to sell his cupcakes from. I gave them some information about the Dutch in this area. I chatted with someone from Georgia. I returned home. I chatted with two neighbors. The order with tracking of https://tools.usps.com/go/TrackConfirmAction?qt_c_tLabels1=9400111899561076304112 on the order for <http://www.ebay.com/itm/IBM-Lenovo-39J9334-ADD2-R-DVI-I-PCI-E-ThinkCentre-Video-Connection-Adapter-PCI-e-/271007917279> for $13 with free shipping arrived. <888> 12/01/14 Monday 8:10 A.M. When I mailed the letter before going to bed, I said "Hello" to a neighbor. I ate 2 ounces of mixed nuts and 8 ounces of Dannon vanilla yogurt before going to bed. I woke up at 7 A.M.. I ate breakfast of oatmeal with honey and milk and sliced banana, a toasted English muffin with olive oil, a glass of 50% punch and 50% cold filtered water with vitamins and supplements, and a cup of coffee with equal sweetener and milk. I made my bed. I will now shower and clean up. I will then drive over to Oil Star in Stamford, Connecticut to get an oil change on my Volvo wagon. I probably will stop by Old Greenwich on the way back, and possibly visit the Rummage Room thrift shop and drive around the beach. CIO
